PERSHING WILL GO TO HOSPITAL

General Reaches Key West on Way Home

Gives Appearance of Being in Poor Health

Remains Silent on Issues of Plebiscite

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

KEY WEST (Fla.) Feb. 9.—Gen. Pershing departed early tonight for Washington, where he will enter the Walter Reed Hospital for rest and treatment. While his condition is not alarming, an imminent breakdown, due to his activities recently as neutral chairman of the Tacna-Arica plebiscitary commission has necessitated this action.

Gen. Pershing would neither confirm nor deny reports that his physical condition prompted his sudden resignation in that capacity. He said on his arrival here today on the cruiser Denver that he was in fair health, and believed the rest would do him good.

"I am not on the sick list, but I suppose my health for the past few months would entitle me to be, except for the fact that I have not been on active military duty," he said. "It is true that I have been under my physician's care. I intend to enter the Walter Reed Hospital in Washington on my return but can't say how long I'll stay there."

GIVEN SALUTE

The general was reported to have been in virtual seclusion during his journey from Arica, Chile, whence he sailed January 27, last.

The former A.E.F. chieftain was accorded fitting honors when the Denver moored at the naval station here. Military, naval and Marine Corps officials united in greeting the general on the ship after he had received a nineteen-gun salute.

Standing beneath the colors on the stern flagstaff, he made a brief farewell talk to officers and men of the ship, expressing appreciation for his treatment.

After pinning a victory medal with the destroyer clasp on the breast of Chief Water Tender W. G. Orr of Athens, Ga., a belated war decoration, Gen. Pershing and the reception party walked between the rows of sailors and marines down the gangplank. A rousing cheer went up from Capt. Wiman, commander of the Denver, and his men as Pershing waved a last greeting.

GUEST AT LUNCHEON

After a short automobile ride the general was honor guest at a private luncheon. He spent the remainder of the afternoon in resting.

Gen. Pershing declined to answer any and all questions bearing on the South American boundary controversy. He stated that he would report his findings to his superiors in Washington, and did not intend making any statement on this subject at any time.

The veteran commander was accompanied to Washington by his physician, Maj. Jones, U.S.N.; Maj. Quekemeyer, his aide, and Raymond D. Cox of the Department of State.

Mayor and Ten Others on Trial in Liquor Case

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 9.—Mayor Maddon of Sausalito, and ten other defendants went on trial here today before Federal Judge Partridge on charges of conspiracy to violate the prohibition law by bringing the rum-runner Principio, laden with 14,000 cases of liquor, from Vancouver to San Francisco in January and May, 1924.

Among the other defendants are John Balcom, captain of the Principio; Joseph J. Parente, a tailor, called the "King of the Bootleggers," Ralph Owen, a Los Angeles real estate dealer, and Armanda Bonacorsi, a cafe owner.

The defendants are accused of purchasing the Principio at San Pedro, taking the vessel to Vancouver, loading her with the cargo of liquor and then steaming opposite the Cordell Banks, off San Francisco, from where small launches were to take the liquor ashore.

STRIKE BRINGS OUT "SWEEPS"

Days of Forty Years Ago Revived by Use of Soft Coal

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 9. After an interval of forty years, chimney sweeps have again appeared on the streets of Philadelphia.

Cries of "Sweepo! sweepo!" from the throats of sooty individuals carrying bundles of sweep material, are bringing back to the memories of Philadelphians the days when wood and soft coal were the chief articles of fuel obtainable.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—President Coolidge does not agree with Congressman Davey of Ohio in the latter's estimate of the general inefficiency of the government's civil employees.

In estimating that efficiency would be increased through the discharge of 100,000 workers and that a consequent saving of $500,000,000 could be obtained, the President feels that the Ohio Congressman is stating the case in language somewhat too strongly at variance with the facts.

Mr. Davey has brought down a storm of protest and denunciation as a result of his assertion that aside from postoffice employees, the civilian employees of the government who shirk their tasks are in the majority.

At the White House today it was indicated that the President is not greatly exercised over the situation and that the nation's Chief Executive, who is in general touch with the activities of the government, feels that the business of the country is being handled with greater industry and ability than the Democratic Congressman from Ohio seems to believe.

State Gasoline Contract Given Union Company

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 9.—W. G. McMillin, State Purchasing Agent, announced today that he had awarded to the Union Oil Company of California, the 1926 contract to supply gasoline and oil for State-owned automobiles. The State uses about $50,000 worth of gasoline and lubricating oil annually. Five companies bid for the business.

The Union Oil Company will furnish gasoline at today's prices at the various stations in California and will protect the State in the event of an increase or a decrease in the price of the product.

Western oil will be delivered the State at 20 cents per quart; Motorize Eastern at 30 cents per quart and pure Pennsylvania at 35 cents a quart. The State also will be protected against a rise or fall in the price of oil.

THREE BOYS CONFESS BURNING OF SCHOOL

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

LAWRENCE (Kan.) Feb. 9.—Three Rose brothers, George 13 years of age; Thornton, 11, and James, 10, confessed to officers last night that they had set fire to the schoolhouse in their district. The building was destroyed. The boys said they were "tired of going to school."

"Good Morning Doctor!"

"That big sedan you're driving is a beautiful car—but don't you believe a light roadster or coupe would suit you better for making calls?

WON'T MEDDLE IN COAL STRIKE

Coolidge Not to Heed Senate Resolution

Sees No Good to Come by Calling Conference

With Copeland Plea Passed, Tax Action Speeds Up

LEADERS DIVIDED

When the roll was called, the amusing fact developed that all the administration Senators had not been apprised of the decision to approve the resolution, and thus get it out of the way, this situation finding such Republican stalwarts as Butler and Curtis on the affirmative side, voting with Brookhart, Norris, Frazier and Nye, and equally staunch administration adherents, as Jones of Washington and Smoot of Utah, voting in the negative.

There is one individual in the Senate—its presiding officer—who finds the situation even more amusing than the others; for in permitting Senator Copeland to make his empty gesture, the Senate majority has in effect surrendered to a minority and thus again borne out the contention of Vice-President Dawes that a minority can tie up the affairs of the Senate.

The net result of this political maneuvering is to place the tax bill in a more favorable position and, in the opinion of Senator Smoot, possibly enable the Senate to reach a vote on final passage Thursday or Friday.

The prodding of the administration to take steps to settle the coal strike was initiated by Democratic Senators and Representatives from Eastern States who have described their constituencies as snowbound with fuel lacking and people "freezing to death." Republican Representatives from the same States dispute these charges, asserting that there is no lack of soft coal and other substitutes for anthracite

SEEK TO ANNOY PRESIDENT

The clamor was immediately joined in, however, by most of the Democrats and antiadministration Republicans from other parts of the country for the purpose, the White House is convinced, of making political capital at the expense of the President.

From Pennsylvania there come reports also that the miners' union, facing defeat in the strike, is maneuvering to procure intervention by the President with a view to forcing concessions from the operators.

The situation as it shapes up now revolves around two great forces. On the one side are the unions seeking to profit from the power of the government and the politicians seeking to discredit the administration. On the other is the administration with its supporters, determined to put an end to the invocation of the power of the government to wring from capital the demands of labor unions which has become a common resort in the case of strikes and threatened strikes ever since the railway brotherhoods compelled President Wilson and Congress to enact the Adamson law increasing rail employees' pay under threat of paralyzing transportation on the eve of the 1916 election.

SEVERAL NEW COAL MOVES MADE IN HOUSE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Several new moves in the coal situation were made in the House today. Among these was the introduction of a bill similar to that offered in the Senate recently by Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic floor leader, calling for the appointment of a Federal board of adjustment in anthracite strikes.

The House measure is sponsored by the Democratic delegation from New York together with the two Democrats from New Jersey and Representative Douglass, Democrat, Massachusetts.

Representative Tilson of Connecticut, the Republican floor leader, presented to the Republican Steering Committee of the House a letter from five Republican members requesting action by the House Commerce Committee on coal legislation. The Steering Committee met twice without taking any action.

Before the House adjourned Representative LaGuardia, Socialist, New York, offered a bill proposing an appropriation of $75,000,000 to purchase coal abroad and sell it in this country at cost.

HOOVER DENIES DELAYING ANTHRACITE LEGISLATION

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Secretary Hoover today denied that the Commerce Department was in any way responsible for delays to legislation dealing with the anthracite situation.

The question of the attitude of Commerce Department officials was raised by Senator Copeland, Democrat, New York, who has taken the lead in obtaining Congressional action to end the anthracite tie-up. He declared a bill prepared by Chairman Oddie of the Senate Mines Committee on the subject was unduly held up by the Commerce Department when it was sent to the department with a request for advice.

PENNSYLVANIA HOUSE WOULD HEAR STRIKE PARTIES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

HARRISBURG (Pa.) Feb. 9.—The State House of Representatives today adopted a resolution calling for a joint session of the Senate and House Tuesday to hear representatives of anthracite miners and operators to ascertain what action may be taken to end the coal strike. The resolution was sent to the Senate for concurrence.

Paris to Make Peace at Once With Druses

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Special dispatches from Jerusalem report that the French government has declined to supply men and money for a further campaign against the Druse tribesmen, and has instructed High Commissioner De Jouvenel to make the best peace terms possible at the earliest date.

GENEVA TO GET LEAGUE MEET

Preparatory Commission to Convene on April 26

France Seeking at Moscow to Effect Agreement

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

GENEVA, Feb. 9.—The League of Nations announced today that the first meeting of the preparatory commission for its international economic conference will be held at Geneva, April 26, next.

This is the first definite news that the meeting will be held in Geneva, there having been uncertainty on this point since Russia announced that she would attend the League's gatherings only if they were held outside Switzerland. The announcement of this date and place is regarded here as expressing the conviction of League officials that the controversy between Russia and Switzerland will be adjusted, thus eliminating Moscow's objections to Geneva.

The Swiss Federal government at Berne tonight published a summary of what it calls its final proposal to the soviet government concerning the assassination of the soviet envoy Vorowsky at Lausanne, May 10, 1923. The Berne government, however, explained that, although this proposal is considered final, it does not necessarily close the interchange, since nothing has been heard in reply from Moscow.

Through the intermediary channel Switzerland has told Russia that she is prepared to declare that she regrets and condemns the assassination of Vorowsky, as she has at all times past, and is disposed to examine the question of financial assistance for Vorowsky's daughter on condition that this is discussed together with Swiss claims against Russia growing out of the Bolshevist revolution.

It is understood that the French government is using its good offices with Moscow in an attempt to obtain an agreement. The exertion of this influence is considered all the more necessary since the Berne government has been careful to point out that it has reached the limit of its concessions.

Coolidge Denies Plan for Return to Swampscott

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—President Coolidge was made no definite plans for the coming summer, but expects to remain in Washington the greater part of the time. He does not expect to establish a temporary White House at Swampscott, Mass., as was done last year.

This information was supplied at the White House today in denial of a report circulated yesterday to the effect that Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge would return to Swampscott in June, following adjournment of Congress. It is believed the President will break the monotony of a summer in Washington by occasional trips on the Presidential yacht, Mayflower, and by short trips to various portions of the country.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ATLANTA, Feb. 9. — Youthful future soldiers of the new South will attempt to catch inspiration from memorable soldiers of the old South when they visit the Stone Mountain memorial during the annual meeting of the Association of R.O.T.C. colleges of the Fourth Corps Area here, the 20th inst. A visit to the memorial is one of the features on the entertainment program. Eighteen college presidents will accompany other representatives of their institutions to the meeting, sessions of which are to take place at Georgia Tech.

ARIZONA GASOLINE TAX FOR YEAR IS $885,950

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Feb. 9.—The office of the Secretary of State has just made computation that during 1925 the State received from the gasoline tax of 3 cents a gallon and from motor vehicle registration fees the sum of $1,258,354. Of this sum, $855,950 was collected by the 3-cent tax on 28,531,686 gallons. In addition, nearly 6,000,000 gallons were exempted for resales for export and for gasoline not used in motor vehicles. The automobile registration was of 68,029 vehicles, paying license fees of $402,404.

STATE OF MEXICO TO TRY COTTON RAISING

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 9.—Experiments are to be conducted in the State of Mexico to ascertain whether or not cotton can be grown there to advantage, it is announced here at the Department of Agriculture. The experiments will take place in Chalma, on the road between Toluca and Mexico City, and at Malinalco. Both places are of a lower level than most of the State, and it is believed that they are suitable for cotton. The department will supervise the experiment.

SALUTE SPEAKS FOR D'ANNUNZIO

Post-Warrior Gives Praise to Mussolini for His "Manly Words"

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

ROME, Feb. 9.—Premier Mussolini has received characteristic felicitations on his Italo-German relations speech from Gabriel D'Annunzio, the soldier-poet, who telegraphed:

"Your silent guard (D'Annunzio) at Lake Garda congratulates you for your manly words, and from the prow of the Puglia comments upon them with a salvo of twenty-seven cannon shots."

The Puglia is an obsolete battleship presented to the poet by the government and now lying high and dry on the grounds of his estate. With its guns he salutes distinguished visitors to his villa.

FAMINE AND MURDER IN RED RUSSIA

Starving Peasants Slay Communist Officials and Plunder Grain Stores

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RIGA, Feb. 9.—Thirteen Communist officials were murdered in the Rasan district this week by peasants who have plundered the soviet grain stores, according to the Moscow Isvestia. The paper further reports 108 deaths from famine registered in the district in the past two weeks.

Since the beginning of November the peasants in this district have been feeding on grain substitutes, continues Isvestia in reporting the findings of the special famine commissions that left to investigate and also to remove the inmates of the children's homes to other points having better crops.

The soviet paper's reports for last October show complete crop failures in Tambov, Tula, Simirsk and Saratov governments. The issuing of famine rations by the soviet government has cut down the famine deaths in these districts, but the plight of the population is horrible, according to local correspondents of the Moscow.

While admitting the seriousness of their financial straits the Moscow papers hope that American recognition will bring an influx of American capital and also huge credits before the final economic crash.

DECLARES DARWIN WAS ONCE BACKWARD CHILD

SPECIALIST SAYS SCHOOL DUNCES SOMETIMES BECOME FAMOUS MEN

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Charles Darwin and Sir Isaac Newton were backward children, it is pointed out by Dr. A. F. Tredgold, a specialist, who contends that many school dunces of today will become great men.

"The dull boy who is made to wear the fool's cap in classes in the future will be able to beguile the tedium of his penance by reflecting that his stupidity may some day make him famous," declared the physician, addressing the women's sanitary inspectors at Bedford College.

The backwardness of Newton and Darwin, he said, was due to late development of their mental powers. His studies have convinced him that the boy who is a dunce and who has not much intellect or capacity for learning often has a large amount of common sense and intelligence tucked away under his scalp, and gets on in life better than the scholarship boy.

FOUR GUARD OFFICERS RECEIVE PROMOTION

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 9.—Promotion of a captain and three lieutenants in the California National Guard was announced today by Adj.-Gen. Mittelstedt.

Capt. Robert S. Dicey, Los Angeles, was raised to the rank of major and assigned to the One Hundred Sixteth Infantry. Second lieutenants William C. Jones, Errol D. Wilson and William G. Pedlar, of the Two Hundred and Fiftieth Coast Artillery, San Francisco, were promoted to first lieutenants and assigned to that regiment.

MOVEMENT BEGUN TO CHANGE NAME OF AJO

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TUCSON (Ariz.) Feb. 9. — A movement has been started by a newspaper to change the name of Ajo to Greenway, in honor of John C. Greenway, whose body recently was placed in a mausoleum on a hill overlooking the camp that he founded. It is known that the name Ajo never has been acceptable, as it is the Spanish word for garlic. It is appreciated that John C. Greenway was one of the most constructive citizens ever known in the Southwest, and it is deemed fitting that this added honor be given his memory.

Born in Ireland and reared in Dayton, O., O'Brien first gained national attention when he put a mile-long sign on a Mexican mountain. When a rival cafe owners started a similar sign O'Brien leased the whole mountain for twenty years. O'Brien once was manager of the San Francisco Union Club.

GERMAN LEADER DEFIES ITALIAN

Stresemann Refuses to be Alarmed by Threats

Foreign Minister Scoffs at Mussolini Action

Voices Wish That His Nation Were in League

evoked two almost opposite currents of opinion.

One section among those congregated by the thousands in the newspaper offices, cafes and other meeting places of politicians, maintained that the Stresemann address, by completely recognizing Italian sovereignty in the Upper Adige, had "closed the incident."

The other faction, which apparently was more numerous, sided with the Fascist views, characterizing the speech as "a direct further affront which Mussolini knows how to answer."

AGREE ON ONE POINT

While no official comment is forthcoming, it is known that exceptional pains were taken to communicate the address quickly to the Premier and the other members of the government.

The extremists are violently indignant over the suggestion of "Adige as a German cultural protectorate," maintaining that Germany must back down further on the issue of interfering with Italy's domestic sovereignty.

One point found both moderates and extremists in agreement — the reference to a possibility of appealing to the League of Nations regarding potential disturbance of the peace. The frequent mention of the word "oppression" is considered offensive, while the references to the constitutionally guaranteed liberty of the German press is held to be unjustified and a back-hand slap at Italy, since the opinion prevails here that liberty of the press does not mean permission for the press of one nation to insult and calumniate the government of another nation.

STRONG RESENTMENT

Strong resentment is generally expressed at what is characterized as Dr. Stresemann's open admission of Germany's meddling in a purely internal Italian affair. It is asked why, if Germany desired to sponsor the cause of culture, she did not do so long ago in Czecho-Slovakia and Poland, where a greater number of German-speaking people reside, and why the Germans take upon themselves the defense of territory which never was theirs.

The only reason for Italy's denial of school and language rights to the Germans in Upper Adige, it is asserted, is the avowed intention of the minority German population to use them as weapons against Adige's remaining a part of United Italy.

RABBI WISE CALLS MUSSOLINI DANGEROUS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 9. — Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of New York sees in Premier Mussolini a successor to Kaiser Wilhelm and the most menacing and war-like figure in the world.

In a lecture here he berated the United States for extending credit to Italy and ridiculed the manner in which the Italian war debt to the United States was settled.

"The world waited too long to check the Kaiser," Dr. Wise declared. "Will it wait too long to subdue Mussolini? The time to stop the madness that may plunge us into another World War is now.

"It seems rather hard for those of us who take the American tradition of liberty seriously to find American money in the form of loans bolstering up this opera bouffe Napoleon.

"In Italy today there is neither law nor freedom. Why cavil at Mexico and go arm in arm with Italy?"

Dr. Wise also denounced those who would modify the Volstead Act and declared that the prohibition law has not been given a fair trial.

MUCH AGITATION REPORTED IN TYROL

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Advices from Vienna indicate much agitation, particularly in Tyrol, over the situation. A demand has been made by a mass meeting at Innsbruck that the provisional Diet be called into session to take such steps at Geneva and Rome as will be calculated to banish the fears of the Tyrolese of an invasion by the Italians.

It is in Southern Tyrol where all the trouble lies. In that part of the region awarded by Austria to Italy under the St. Germain treaty the asserted ill treatment of the minority Germany population and the consequent charges and counter charges led Premier Mussolini to make his dramatic attack on Germany for asserted propagation of the anti-Italian feeling. Assertions in both Germany and Austria had been to the effect that the Germans in Southern Tyrol have been oppressed by the Italians, even to being forced to use the Italian language in their schools. There was much resentment around Christmastide when it was reported Italian officials in Southern Tyrol declined to permit the use of Christmas trees, declaring this is a German, not an Italian custom. The Italian commissioner rescinded the order, and the Germans were permitted to use the trees.

Both in Berlin and in Vienna a tourist boycott of Italy has been advocated in reprisal for the asserted wrongs committed against German Tyrolese. In the Italian newspapers and the Italian Chamber of Deputies the "insane propaganda" among the Germans in the upper Adige Valley, or South Tyrol, has been attacked bitterly. The extreme Fascist journal, La Impro, referred to Germany as "our instinctive racial enemy," and also gave Mussolini the idea he announced in his speech of Saturday that the Brennen Pass, on the new Italian-Austrian border and which is the shortest route from Central Germany into Italy, "is not the goal, but the starting point."

BELGIAN FASCISTS RIOT

"Hang Premier Poullet," Cry at Brussels Which Breaks Up Flag Ceremonies

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

BRUSSELS (Belgium) Feb. 9.—Nationalist and Fascist demonstrations against Premier Poullet, which broke up the ceremony of depositing the flags of disbanded regiments at the tomb today, were continuing during the afternoon.

Youths carrying flags ran through the streets of the capital shouting "Down with Poullet!" "Hang Him!"

The zone around the government buildings and royal palace were strongly guarded by police.

Indications were that the Fascist groups were seeking to excite the populace. The general public, however, seemed astonished rather than influenced by the demonstrations.

The excitement was confined to the capital, dispatches from Antwerp and Ghent saying there was no disorder at the flag ceremonies in those cities.

HUNT WILL FIGHT DEER PROPOSAL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Feb. 9.—Gov. Hunt today was served with papers in the Federal injunction suit designed to establish United States control over the deer of the Kaibab reserve in Northern Arizona. The Governor referred the matter to the Attorney-General, with instructions to fight to the finish.

He declared that "personal liberty is very largely dead in the United States, and now there is an effort to destroy State government. Sixty-seven per cent of the land in Arizona is absolutely controlled by the Federal government, when Federal control of irrigation districts is considered. Now comes this attempt to take over the wild game of the State, and the proposal of Secretary Work to eliminate the State from control of its water and power resources."

MEXICO AIDS IN ATTACKER HUNT

family's visit to San Diego. Coroner Kelly had been informed that the two daughters were drugged, kidnaped and kept in dens of the Mexican border town and that the father, Thomas M. Peteet, killed them, himself and his wife to wipe out the disgrace.

INQUIRY ORDERED

Honorable Secretary of State, Washington, D. C. Would respectfully request that you send representatives here to investigate the outrage of two American girls at Tia Juana, Mex., which has resulted in three deaths and possibly another. Identity of persons committing outrage known to United States Customs and Immigration officers. Please wire reply.

[Signed] S. G. KELLY, Coroner.

At the time Coroner Kelly wired the State Department one of the two daughters, Clyde Peteet, was still alive, but the tragedy was completed today with her death at a hospital.

The following reply was received by the Coroner today:

Your telegram received on seventh. Investigation has been ordered.

FUGITIVE HELD

It developed today that Luis Amador, arrested by Tia Juana police yesterday in connection with the outrage on the two Peteet girls, is a fugitive from American justice. He was arrested in Los Angeles three years ago on a drug charge, but jumped bail of of $3500 and fled to Mexico. A fugitive warrant for his arrest was issued, but has never been served, as Amador has remained across the line in Tia Juana.

The Peteet family came to Southern California from Missouri. They spent five days at Tia Juana where the girls were kidnaped and held prisoner for some time. The disgrace is believed to have prompted the father to wipe out his entire family and kill himself.

STORM MOVING IN FROM OCEAN

Showers Forecast Today in Bay Region

Dense Fog Causes Peril to Ferry Traffic

State Survey Shows Rain Still Below Normal

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 9.—Rapid moving in of a storm which has been brewing on the Coast, indicates unsettled weather tomorrow, with the probability of occasional showers, according to government forecasters. It is expected that the heavy tule fogs which have hung over the bay region this week will be dissipated by the strong southerly wind which accompanies the storm.

This morning fog was dense and caused delay to ferry and other marine traffic. There were several narrow escapes from steamboat collisions but no damage was reported.

The monthly survey of the meteorological situation in the State made by the Weather Bureau, shows, according to Forecaster Bowie, that "California has had enough rain for the present, but seasonal amounts are still below normal. Communities that have adequate storage facilities have stored considerable water from recent rains.

Previous to the recent storm, scarcely any snow lay on the ground in the mountains. Fairly good snows occurred in high elevations and at one time the snow at Summit reached a depth of five feet. This settled and melted rapidly under the influence of warm rains, so that this evening it has been reduced to forty-three inches.

The peak of the snow season will be reached in a month.

ROAD DECISION MISCONSTRUED

Webb's Ruling Has No Effect on State Program

Maintenance Ordered by Legistature

Legality of Such Highway Work Unquestioned

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 9.—A recent decision by Atty.-Gen. Webb in a Lake county case does not cast doubt upon the legality of maintenance by the State of county roads on State highway routes, Paul F. Fratessa, attorney for the State Highway Commission, announced today following a conference in San Francisco with Webb.

It was at first thought that the ruling of the Attorney-General would have a serious effect on the plan of the Highway Commission to take over for maintenance 1711 miles of traversable county roads on State highway routes. The roads are located in forty-three counties.

Fratessa said: "In a letter to Dist.-Atty. Jones of Lake county, the Attorney-General, in effect, said it would be illegal for the Highway Commission to expend maintenance money on a county road on a route that had not been declared a part of the State highway system, either by the Legislature or a vote of the people. With that we fully agree. The commission has not taken such action and has never attempted to do so.

"The last Legislature specifically directed the commission to maintain traversable county roads on State highway routes until such time as final construction can be undertaken. The Attorney-General's office informs me that it does not question the legality of such maintenance by the commission."

GARBUTT'S APPEAL FOR LIFE FAILS

High Court Denies Plea for New Trial in Slaying; Execution Set Saturday

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 9.—Harry Garbutt, Los Angeles murderer, lost his last appeal to escape the death penalty when the State Supreme Court today denied his petition for a writ of error. The court previously had denied Garbutt's application for a new trial and for a writ of habeas corpus.

Garbutt has been sentenced to hang Saturday at San Quentin for the murder of Mrs. Dorothy Lee Hunn during a robbery at Pasadena.

The trial judge, in fixing the date of execution, set it for Saturday, although Friday is the customary day for hangings. This is because Friday is a holiday, Lincoln's Birthday.

SEATTLE, Feb. 9.—Declaring that Harry Garbutt, sentenced to hang in San Quentin prison Saturday, is innocent, Fred C. Brown, attorney, sent telegrams to California today seeking a reprieve.

Brown said that he had startling information proving the man innocent. The former prosecutor has asked friends in the south to petition Gov. Richardson to grant the reprieve.

Garbutt was convicted of murdering Mrs. Dorothy Lee Hunn, in Pasadena, Brown said, largely through the testimony of her 11-year-old adopted daughter, Virginia. Brown asserted that when in Los Angeles in November he met a woman friend of the victim who declared that Virginia had told her that a man other than Garbutt had done the slaying.

Lady Irene Curzon

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—The Superior Court of Cook county will be the colorful setting of a battle "royal" between members of the English aristocracy and Joseph Leiter, well-known American capitalist, over the riches, amounting to approximately $50,000,000, left by the late Levi Z. Leiter, pioneer Chicago merchant. Lady Margaret Hyde, Duchess of Suffolk and Berks, is the chief accuser of her brother, Joseph Leiter, in the asserted mismanagement of the estate of their father.

A score of other titled notables have rallied to her side, including Lady Cynthia Mosely, Lady Diana Curzon and other recipients of the vast estate upon the death of the direct heirs, in the fight to have him removed as trustee.

The trial takes place before Judge Sullivan, March 16, and the cast will be one of the most distinguished to assemble in any courtroom. An array of legal talent has already been engaged.

BRIDGE SCORING REVISED

Conference of Experts Meeting in New York Draws Up Simplified Rules for Players

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—A revision of the rules of auction bridge toward simplified scoring was announced today, following a conference of experts Saturday. Milton C. Works, chairman of the committee on rules of the Whist Club of New York, and representatives of the American Whist League, the Knickerbocker Whist Club and the New York Bridge Whist Club, attended the conference.

The scoring of honors was changed to give all honors, regardless of suits, an equal value. No change was made in honors at no trump. The following rule was adopted:

Honors are scored in the honor score of the side to which they are dealt; their value is not changed by doubling or redoubling. All honors held by each side are scored according to the following table:

1 in one hand, 2 in the other, count 30 points.
1 in one hand, 3 in the other, count 40 points.

Minor changes with relation to revoke penalties were made.

STATE COAL RULE ASKED FOR BRITAIN

Commission Recommends Government Purchase and Operate All Royalties

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Feb. 9.—The purchase and operation by the government of all the mining royalties in Great Britain is the most important recommendation made by the coal commission, whose findings are now complete, according to an exclusive article in today's Daily Express.

The commission points out that State ownership would be to the advantage of the community and mining industry alike, and also recommends a new pit grouping for better organization and the building up of the by-product industry alike. On the other hand, the commission does not believe in the reduction of wages nor in an extension of working hours underground.

The commission further recommends shutting down all mines that are not paying and the re-employment of the workers in profitable pits. They do not offer a plan for after May 1, when the subsidy expires, but suggest a modified subsidy of some kind until the government's acquisition and the reorganization of the entire industry takes place.

Army Eulogized by Californian Representative

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—The Army needs a press agent, Representative Henry E. Barber, California, said today in an address in the House.

"Many think that its functions are entirely destructive," he said.

"The chemical warfare service has been maligned but is rendering many benefits, among them the development of chlorine gas now used extensively for respiratory diseases."

The Representative also cited the work of the Army in eradicating the boll weevil. The Signal Corps, he said, maintains the important Alaska cable and has made improvements in radio.

He said that the Army had the largest medical library in the world, and praised the Air Service, referring to numerous records held by American officers.

DYSINGER TRIAL JURY SELECTED

Action Taken at Opening of Lutheran Synod

Accused Resists Effort to Force Resignation

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 9.—A bitter factional war within the ranks of the Lutheran church of California came to a head at the opening of the thirty-fifth annual State Synod here today with the appointment of a special jury of seven pastors to try the case of Rev. W. S. Dysinger, whom one faction in the church is trying to oust from his pulpit in the First Lutheran Church of Los Angeles.

The controversy began three years ago. Certain persons in the congregation objected to the management of church affairs of Rev. Dysinger, who is a former president of the Church Federation of Los Angeles and pastor of one of the wealthiest and most influential churches in the southern city.

The church was split into two factions and the debate grew so bitter that the State Synod appointed a committee of mediation. This committee investigated all angles of the case and then reported back with two alternatives. They recommended that the church divide its extensive properties and form two churches, or else that Rev. Dysinger retire from the pulpit.

REFUSES TO RESIGN

The question was put to a vote of the congregation and they voted to accept Dysinger's resignation. Dysinger, however, refused to resign. Not only this, but his friends rallied to his support and piled up a sufficient majority to rescind the action calling for his resignation.

This much was explained today by Rev. John R. Broyer, Ph.D., pastor of the First Lutheran Church, Geary and Octavia streets, which is acting as host to the convention. Later the controversy passed out of the hands of the local congregation in Los Angeles and was taken up by the State synod.

It was intimated today that the synod attempted to force the resignation of Dysinger, in spite of the majority vote of his own congregation to retain him. Dysinger bitterly resisted this attempt, it was hinted, and members of the synod indicated that he is now being tried for insubordination. Officials of the church and of the synod were very secretive about the nature of the original charges brought against him, as well as the specific points of the present trial.

There was much wrangling this afternoon as to whether legal counsel should be allowed to appear on behalf of the prosecution and the accused. Clarence Runkle, Los Angeles attorney, employed as legal counsel by the executive committee of the synod, which is preferring the charges against Dysinger, was prohibited from appearing as legal counsel by vote of the synod. Wendell Dysinger, son of the accused pastor, is acting as his father's attorney.

COMMITTEE FOR TRIAL

Rev. C. F. Oehler, D.D., of Sacramento; Rev. G. B. Young, D.D., of San Diego; H. J. Mathias, San Bernardino; J. J. Chambers, Fresno; Herman Gehrcke, San Francisco; Rev. Rudolph Arps., San Francisco, and Rev. J. E. Holck, Los Angeles.

Two other pastors are also under fire and threatened with ejection from the synod, according to the report of the president, Rev. Daniel J. Snyder of Trinity Lutheran Church, Long Beach. Charges of a serious nature brought against Rev. Charles H. Day of Riverside several months ago caused the president, by executive action, to suspend him. No defense to the charges was offered by Rev. Day, and it is expected that the synod will recall his ordination papers as a matter of routine. The case of Rev. Felician Fritzler of Fresno, which has been hanging fire for five years, also will be brought before the synod. It is expected that the body will be in session until Friday.

Texas Contract for Text-Books Ratified in Row

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

AUSTIN (Tex.) Feb. 9.—Gov. Ferguson's State text-book commission today ratified a $500,000 book contract with the American Book Company, which Atty.-Gen. Moody has held is irregular.

Gov. Ferguson's husband, James E. Ferguson, acting as clerk of the commission, vigorously opposed S. M. N. Marrs, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, who has opposed the contract. Ferguson challenged him to show any irregularity in the contract and Marrs replied that the company "had handled the contract in a high-handed way and had altered certain sections of the contract form approved by the Attorney-General."

FINANCE MIX-UP GROWS IN PARIS

Vote of Left's Cartel Cut on New Proposition

Confusion Enhanced by Defeat of Government

Radicals Striving to Force Confidence Vote

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, Feb. 9.—The majority of fifty-four polled by the coalition of the Left in the first test vote of the financial restoration measures yesterday dwindled to twenty-four today on a government motion to suppress the article, which the Chamber had refused to disjoin from the general measures previously. This article related to the transformation of bearer bonds to nominative bonds.

The Radical Socialist success against the government, instead of clearing the atmosphere, increased the confusion and provoked the liveliest agitation on the floor of the Chamber. In the lobbies the cartel leaders continued their tactics of trying to force the government to put itself behind their projects and make it a question of confidence.

The purpose of the Radical Socialists is to place the government in such a position that it will have to bring up the question of confidence in the Senate also, where, without government support, the cartel bills stand little chance of serious consideration.

Premier Briand and Finance Minister Doumer stood their ground against offensives from both sides of the Chamber.

M. Briand decried the disposition of the different groups to unload their responsibilities on the government. He brought out into relief that all the maneuvering going on around the financial measures seems destined to throw the onus for voting more taxes upon his political adversaries. He made it clear that the Chamber must take its responsibility within a week; otherwise the delicate situation will become grave.

The efforts to bring about a compromise between the Finance Committee and the Finance Minister failed because M. Doumer would make only part of the concessions demanded.

Applause from the government bench for the cartel orators showed plainly today that the Cabinet is seriously divided on the financial question, which had been carefully avoided in recent Cabinet meetings. The explanation of this curious situation given in government circles was that the Ministers had decided to declare a truce on the subject at their meetings and let the Chamber decide.

The cartel appeared little reassured by today's vote, which was 276 to 253, and decided to ask that the article in question be sent back to the Finance Committee, this supposedly for the purpose of gaining time for further negotiations before the final vote.

Husband Asked to Provide for Dozen Children

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

STOCKTON, Feb. 9.—In the divorce case of J. C. Cardoza versus Mrs. Cardoza at Merced Mrs. Cardoza has asked the court to provide for Cardoza's support of twelve of her seventeen children by a former marriage. Cardoza signifies a willingness to support six of the children, but asserts that the other seven are of sufficient age to support themselves.

Mrs. Cardoza has retaliated by threatening to have her eldest children inflict corporal punishment on her husband, Cardoza asserts, in asking that the matrimonial bonds be severed.

MIGRATORY WILD FOWL SCARCE IN CALIFORNIA

BIOLOGICAL SURVEY RECALLS LARGE FLIGHT NORTH WARD LAST SPRING

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—A notable scarcity of such migratory wild fowl as ducks and geese occurred during the recent fall and winter flight in a number of the Western States, particularly in California. Sportsmen and others interested in the conservation of our wild life have expressed alarm at this scarcity, fearing that this indicates a permanent decrease in the numbers of these birds.

The Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture recalls, however, that there was a notably large northward flight of birds in the spring of 1923, and that the situation looks far more serious than it is. The warm winter on the coast of British Columbia and Southern Alaska is without parallel. No snow is reported below the 1000-foot level in the very region of Southeastern Alaska where a year ago deer were starving owing to the heavy snowfall which buried their food.

Telegraphic reports to the Biological Survey during the third week of January, 1926, showed an unprecedented number of ducks and geese remaining along the coast of Southern Alaska and Northern British Columbia. An abundance of ducks and geese has been noted as far north as the flats about the mouths of the Copper and Bering Rivers. From Wrangell, Alaska, come reports of many ducks and geese on the flats near there, and the Etikine River flats, in Northern British Columbia, are reported to be free of snow and ice. A wireless dated January 22, last, from the Alaska Game Commission advised the Biological Survey that large numbers of mallards and thousands of geese were on the Stikine flats, a remarkable occurrence for this time of the year.

PEEL PAINTINGS SOLD

Rare Pictures Taken From Attic After Thirty Years

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—One of three Paul Peel paintings, bought for $200 and stored for more than thirty years in an attic in Brooklyn, has been sold for several thousand dollars by George V. Burrell, the son of the original collector.

Burrell, announcing the sale, declined to make known the purchaser. He said he had refused an offer of $5000 for one of the three pictures. The pictures, it was estimated, now have an aggregate value of about $20,000.

They were bought from the artist's studio in London, Ont., in 1890 by the late George V. Burrell, Sr., his son said. He declared that not more than thirty genuine Peel paintings are in existence. Burrell withheld details of the sale until after negotiations for the other two.

Renewed Hostilities After New Year's Likely

Moslem Cavalry in Peking Alarms Christians

Mobilization Largest of Republican Regime

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PEKING, Feb. 9.—Disquieting news reaching legation offices here indicates there will be a renewal of hostilities on a large scale soon after the New Year holidays, beginning Saturday.

Sun Yueh, who was made Governor of Chihli Province by Gen. Feng Yu Hsiang after the capture of Tien-tsin late in December, is finding his position precarious, and has made appeals for reinforcements for his Third Army, causing the movement of 15,000 troops of the First Army, the flower of Gen. Feng's machine during the occupation of Tien-tsin.

Gen. Li Ching Lin's Christian troops, who now are occupying Peking, are being replaced by the savage cavalry of the Mohammedon general, Ma Fu Hsiang, 5000 of whose troops from Kansu Province have reached the Peking barracks. These troops are utterly unaccustomed to the city or its semiforeign customs, being Tibetan border rangers.

CHANG PREPARING

Authentic information indicates that Gen. Li Ching Lin, having ousted the Governor of Chihli, is moving not directly upon Tien-tsin, but in a northwesterly direction from the southwestern corner of the Province, where he hopes to isolate the Honan armies and then turn to Tien-tsin.

The Manchurian general, Chang Tso-Lin, apparently is preparing to strike simultaneously in the Jehol district, northward from Peking, although leaving ten divisions to hold the line along the Lan River Railway, east of Tien-tsin.

The Peking garrison is composed of five divisions and three mixed brigades and all the gates are stoutly held and closed at nightfall.

ENVOY PROTESTS

Confused news comes from Honan of fighting in which the Kuo Minchun are under attack from the southwest and east. The mobilization on all the fronts is said to be the greatest since the republic was declared.

The French Minister has visited the provisional executive, Tuan Chi-Jui, to present a formal protest against the anti-Christian movement, which is affecting the nationals. The other treaty powers have not protested.

Sensing the foreign apprehension over the Mohammedan cavalry and police in Peking, the Chinese announce the permanent force will be permitted to remain. The cavalry soon will be shifted to the Jehol front.

PIONEER MILLER DIES IN HEREFORD HOME

"UNCLE JOHN" ESTES ESTABLISHED FLOUR AND FEED PLANT AT ABILENE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OKLAHOMA CITY (Okla.) Feb. 9.—A human outpost of the new civilization that was introduced about forty years ago in the storied and romantic cattle country of West Texas passed to his reward the other day when John Estes of Hereford died. With a vision of the possibilities of the land of sage grass and longhorns, he established in the early eighties a flour and feed mill at Abilene and introduced the cultivation of wheat among the ranchmen. He was among the first men in that section of the country to sell seed wheat and ranchers drove fifty miles by wagon to haul home the beginnings of wheat crops.

"Uncle John" Estes, the miller, the poet, the philosopher, the rancher, the friend of humanity, they called him in his beloved West. He died at 78 years of age. He was a native of Texas. Half a dozen modern flour mills now are operating in the territory he pioneered and tens of thousands of acres of wheat are planted annually.

Kelly Field Training Halted Due to Defective Machines

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Feb. 9.—Unsafe condition of pursuit planes at Kelly Field has caused a temporary discontinuance of pursuit training in the Air Service advanced flying school. Inspectors were directed today to make a rigid inspection of all planes.

This follows the development of structural defects in a number of the M.B.-3 scout planes that have been used as training vessels in the pursuit section.

Two ships developed defects during flight, but in each case the pilot was able to land without crashing.

Approximately fifty planes in the hangars at Kelly Field await inspection.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OTTAWA, Feb. 9.—Paul Mercier, Liberal, of Montreal, today was elected chairman of the special committee of the House of Commons, which is to investigate alleged irregularities in the Canadian Customs Department.

Appointment of the committee was decided upon after a bitter attack by H. H. Stevens, opposition member and former Minister of Trade and Commerce.

Stevens charged that the Canadian Exchequer had been defrauded of $30,000,000 by wholesale smuggling across the American border with connivance of Canadian customs officials.

MURDERERS GOOD RISKS FOR PAROLE

Prison Camp Head Says That Slayers Are Usually Men of Their Word

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 9.—Murderers make the best parole risks, says Thomas Gannon, Sacramento member of the State Board of Prison Directors. Of all malefactors serving sentences for a crime, they are the gentlest and most teachable.

Killers paroled from California penitentiaries practically without exception make good; that is, they remain out of prison thenceforth. Burglars and other trespassers against property rights, states Gannon, give the prison board plenty of grief, particularly the passers of worthless checks.

"Passing worthless checks is too easy," he explains; "so easy that it becomes a habit which even a prison term frequently fails to break."

Gannon's description of the murderer as a model parole risk is supported by Ben K. Milliken, superintendent of State highway prison camps. "Of the 148 killers we have had in our prison camps so far," declares Milliken, "only three have given us any trouble. These three were gentle enough, but they did take advantage of an opportunity to get away. Whenever we have a job around the camp requiring a prisoner who can be trusted, we always pick a murderer. A murderer usually is a man of his word."

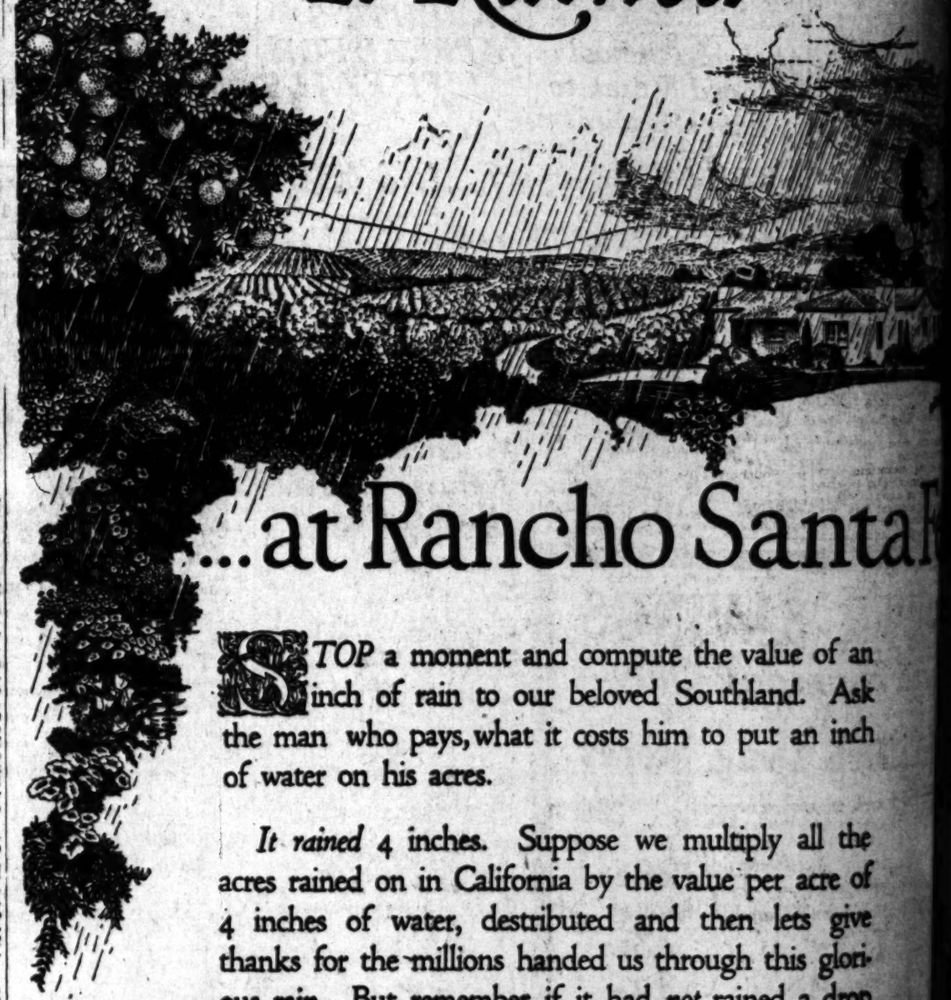
It Rained



...at Rancho Santa F

STOP a moment and compute the value of an inch of rain to our beloved Southland. Ask the man who pays, what it costs him to put an inch of water on his acres.

It rained 4 inches. Suppose we multiply all the acres rained on in California by the value per acre of 4 inches of water, destributed and then lets give thanks for the millions handed us through this glorious rain. But remember if it had not rained a drop dwellers on wonderful Rancho Santa Fe would have gone serenely about their business for Great Hodges Dam had impounded 12 billions of gallons of water for the use of the owners of Rancho Santa Fe acres .... Enough to remove water worry for all time, for Water is truly the liquid gold of California and where abundance of water is available in conjunction with right soil conditions along with an unsurpassed climate, there lurks opportunity.

Commercialism of Net Game Disgusts Player

Financial Showers Postpone Matches Abroad

[BY WIRE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

CANNES (France) Feb. 9.—The commercialism which has been encountered in Riviera tennis, as exemplified by the sale of the exclusive moving-picture rights to a private firm and heavy betting on her match with Mlle. Lenglen, nearly caused Miss Helen Wills, the American champion, to scratch today from the singles play in the Carlton Club tournament and has jeopardized the match between the French and American champions.

Disgusted was the California girl with the manner in which the organization has conducted the tournament that, contrary to the belief expressed by her friends, only the fact that her default would be interpreted throughout the world as fear to meet Lenglen in a singles match prevented her from withdrawing her entry before the meeting.

Financial rules, necessitating a settlement of today's events in cash, have conspired to make the Lenglen-Wills match another Sunday, the 14th inst., seem the most probable date for their meeting.

Miss Wills in the meantime is practicing, but unfortunately, in the opinion of lovers of amateur tennis, the gambling element has entered into the competition and odds are being offered in the Cannes and Monte Carlo and Nice casinos on the match is casting a spell of excitement over the coming event.

NET STARS HERE TOMORROW

Pasadena Tournament Attracts Class of Northern Tennis Players; Match Play Begins Friday

When the northern tennis stars headed by Little Bill Johnston, Eleanor Goss and Helen Jacobs arrive in Los Angeles tomorrow, one of the greatest gatherings of net luminaries to be seen in Southern California in some time will be here for the Hotel Huntington mid-winter tennis tournament. Interest in the Pasadena tourney has increased by leaps and bounds. A large gallery is expected on Friday afternoon, when the tourney opens.

Miss Jacobs, national junior champion, is the center of attraction, as this is the first time the young title holder has performed in Southern California. Local Juniors will be given their first opportunity to play against the champion. According to Bill Tilden, when he was here last, the Southern California juniors compare very favorably with those of the north.

Among the northern party will be Cranston Holman, National junior and national collegiate champion, Howard Kinsey and Gerald Stratford. Mrs. May Bundy and Walter Westbrook will lead the local stars.

American Loop Refuses Resin Ball at Confab

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—The resin bag was waived out of the American League today.

JUDGE LANDIS.

Contending a modification of the pitching rules, to permit the use of resin dust by pitchers, is a step backward and might influence the return of other freak deliveries, the magnates of the American League at the annual spring meeting today unanimously refused to sanction the resin rule recently adopted by the joint rules committee of the major leagues.

The rule, suggested and favored by the National League, and later passed by the joint rules committee by a 5-to-3 vote, permits a pitcher to dry his hands by the use of dust obtained from a resin bag under the supervision of the umpire.

President Ban Johnson, in explaining the action, said the magnates were within their rights in refusing to concur with the joint rules committee if the disapproval was unanimous.

Asked what effect the rule would have on world's series competition, since the National League has already sanctioned its use, President Johnson intimated that special rules will have to be adopted covering the series.

LANDIS NOT MENTIONED

In addition to refusing to agree on the use of resin, the magnates likewise refused to consider the National League's suggestion to extend the contract of Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis for a period of ten years at the expiration of his present seven-year term.

"Landis's name was not even mentioned," said President Johnson.

Blue and White Track and Field Squad to Meet Occidental Varsity on Saturday

With many former college track-and-field stars competing under their colors, the Los Angeles Athletic Club team makes its first appearance of the season next Saturday when it meets the Occidental College varsity squad on Patterson Field.

The majority of performers for the clubmen are familiar to Southern California track fans, many of them having starred for southern conference teams and high-school squads. Every event is well cared for and if the athletes are in condition they should give the Occidental men a mighty tough afternoon. The meet will be a try-out for both squads and should show the progress of the athletes in conditioning for the coming season.

Many former Occidental College athletes will be competing against their alma mater. Powers in the 440; Buckman, a sprinter; Carter, Oxy's star distance man, and Bradshaw in the high jump will change their Orange and black track suits for the

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Acceptance of an invitation by George Von Elm of Los Angeles to play next summer as a member of the American Walker Cup team at the St. Andrews links, Scotland, virtually assures this country representation by a full team of eight players for the international match, the United States Golf Association announced today.

Although formal acceptance by Bobby Jones of Atlanta is still awaited, the national champion has indicated he intends to make the trip abroad. Other members of the team are Watts Gunn of Atlanta, beaten in the finals last year by Jones; Roland Mackenzie of Washington, D. C.; Bob Gardner of Chicago, Jess Sweetser of New York, Jess Guilford and Francis Ouimet of Boston.

DRAKE INVITES TROJANS

Capt. Bud Houser, Leighton Dye, Lee Barnes May Enter Relays at Des Moines on April 23-24

If O. M. Solem, athletic director and football coach at Drake University, has his way, Capt. Bud Houser, premier weight man; Leighton Dye, I.C.4A. high-hurdle champion, and Lee Barnes, Olympic pole-vault winner, will compete in the Drake Relays at Des Moines on April 23 and 24.

Solem, who is on his way back to Des Moines after a tour of the Pacific Coast, stopped in at Southern California yesterday and invited the stellar Trojan track trio and their coach, Dean B. Cromwell, to take part in this year's Drake relays. Solem spent part of yesterday afternoon in confab with Dean Ford of the Southern California dental college trying to persuade him to give Houser, who is learning the art of extracting molars, permission to leave school for the three days which the trip would entail.

"BUD" HOUSER

Coach Cromwell is highly in favor of allowing his athletes to make the trip and believes the Southern California athletic board will permit the jaunt providing Dean Ford gives Houser the three-day leave.

Solem says that the presence of Houser, Dye and Barnes will be a big boost to the Drake relays and would consider his trip west a success if they accepted the invitation. The Drake athletic director says that the Oregon Aggies and Washington have agred to send representatives, while California and Stanford intimated that they may do so. Solem leaves for Des Moines today.

Whittier Idol's Comeback is Failure at Vernon

Bert Puts Up Terrific Fight During Stay in Ring

Joe Woods Bests Kirshner in Tame Semifinal Go

BY PAUL LOWRY

Bert Colima's comeback ended abruptly at Vernon last night, when Ted Moore knocked him out with a right to the face in the fourth round of a torrid fight. After the fray the Mexican claimed that Moore kneed him in the hip at the same time he lashed out with his right hand and so twisted his leg that he was unable to arise. He exhibited a bruise on his left hip.

Ted Moore

The finish came suddenly, at a time when Colima had Moore backed into his corner and was spearing away with lefts and rights to the head which were missing fire. Bobbing under these punches Moore swiftly uncoiled an overhand smack to the cheek which sent Colima sprawling along the ropes and onto the floor.

HOLDS HIS LEG

While the house shrieked and yelped Colima rolled around in evident pain and vainly endeavored to rise as Referee Benny Whitman tolled off the count. At ten Colima was still holding his leg and remained on the floor until Dutch Meyers, his manager, leaped to the rescue and helped him to his corner.

There is no doubt that Colima was caught off guard by Moore's tactics in the fourth round. The Briton feigned pain, and Colima tore in with the apparent belief that he had his foe in serious trouble. But Moore smartly rolled his head and when Colima left himself open the Briton crashed the right hand that brought home the bacon.

Up to the time of the knockout Moore had the better of the argu-

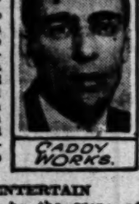
Whittier	5	0	1.000
Pomona	3	3	.500
Occidental	3	4	.333
Redlands	1	5	.166
Caltech	0	4	.000

As the Southern California Conference basketball season draws to a close, it becomes evident that the two games scheduled between the local University of California and Whittier College on the 19th and 20th insts. will decide the championship. Pomona and Occidental have cinched third and fourth places with Redlands and Caltech trailalong in the rear.



POETS ENTERTAIN

Whittier will be the scene of the first game on Friday evening. The Poets have recently completed a new structure and intend to pack it with fans. Basketball is one sport played at the Quaker institute all year around and has a big following. The big games always call forth an enthusiastic crowd of Poet rooters. Several hundred California fans plan to trek to Whittier, which will swell the total attending considerably.

The Poets have not had the hard season, the Branch has and they are in better condition. It is the general opinion that Whittier has not been forced to step at its best pace this season and may be able to furnish an upset. The team which cops the title will have apiece would mean ..... apiece would mean a tie.

BRANCH PICKED

As an all-around team the Branch has the advantage over the Poets, who depend on the work of two men for most of their scoring. Don Williams, lanky Poet center is the outstanding pivot man in the conference and the principle point-getter. He is closely followed by "Chiff" Eckles star forward. All of the Branch five are capable samba tossers. Horace Bresee and Jack Ketchum are the main cogs of the Grizzly Game. Tom Denny, Poet guard, is said to be as good as either Jimmy Armstrong or Bresee, the Branch guards.

Two conference games are scheduled for Saturday. Both are of minor importance, although Pomona could stir up considerable of a ripple by defeating Whittier. Occidental and Caltech will mix, with the Bengals favored to win.

Whittier defeated the Sagehens last week by a 27-to-17 score after a tough scrap. Wilson playing his first game of the season turned in a good game for Pomona. He will be expected to star with Williams in Saturday's game.

MERCURY TRACK STARS IN DEBUT

Blue and White of the club team.

MERCURIES STRONG

Owen Bird, former Occidental sprinter, and Boyd Comstock have signed a complete team and have been training indoors. The Oxy meet will be their first outdoor competition. The strength of the L.A.A.C. team can easily be seen by glancing over the men who will compete Saturday.

Hanford, former Manual Arts sprinter, Phil Buckman and Stoddard will enter the sprints for the clubmen. The 440 will find Johnny Powers and Wallace, a star on the University of Indiana squad last season, ready for business. Lee Hansen, former Manual Arts star, Lunnie and Keetch will compete in the half-mile. Keetch competed for the Oregon Aggies last season and is attending Caltech this year, but is ineligible for conference competition.

With Nick Carter, Handley and Begay competing in the mile, the Mercury team should clean up. Humphrey, another Indian runner, who starred in the recent long-distance runs held in Los Angeles, Forward and Handley run the two-mile event.

The hurdle events, with such stars as Maxwell, former Pomona athlete and holder of the Pacific Coast record in the 220-yard barrier race, will be a bright light for the Mercury team. Requa, another Manual Arts boy, and Graham are also signed as timbertoppers.

In the weight events Norman Anderson, Alma Richards and Roland Clark will perform. Johnny Boyle, former U.S.C. star, with Anderson, will hurl the discus. Frank Bradshaw, six-foot high jumper at Oxy last season, Graham and Fred Anderson of Stanford look good for the points in the high jump.

The pole vaulters look supreme. Any team would be satisfied with such men as Ralph and Harry Smith, McDermott and Clark performing. Frisbee of Pomona, Graham from Missouri and Patton of Riverside are the three L.A.A.C. broad jumpers. Eaton, along with Chuck Lewis, will find little competition in the spear-tossing event in Southern California.

Charles Paddock returns the first of March along with other athletes and will strengthen the club team for their important meets that come later in the season.

OBSERVATIONS

BY THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER

BILL HENRY

THIS week we get a chance to welcome to our city Mr. Nibs Price, newly chosen head coach at the University of California. He is bringing with him a basketball team that hasn't lost a game, which indicates that he knows something about that game as well as about football. As to his ability to accomplish as much as Andy Smith did, we don't know, but we do know that if he can produce a football team that plays as well as the one he had at San Diego about ten years ago, it will not be any disgrace to him or to California. The San Diego High team that Price got together and then took with him up to his alma mater at Berkeley was the best high school team we ever laid eyes on, not excepting the great Everett High team that beat Long Beach, and it was more than a bunch of fine football players, it was an excellently coached team in every sense of the word, and could probably have beaten the local college elevens. Nibs ought to get a great welcome on his arrival here at the head of a team.

Charles Hoff, from all accounts, is every bit a champion, not only as a pole vaulter but as an all-around man. His performances on the eastern tracks indicate that he is the phenomenon that was claimed. Apparently he has struck a smart idea in order to preserve his drawing power, and that is to break the pole-vault record a half-inch at a time. Nurmi, having ability to perform over flock of different distances, could break a record every time he ran, but Hoff, whose record-breaking ability seems to be confined to the pole vault, has to use care or else he'll set a record and then be unable to break it. So far he has been content to set the bar a half-inch higher than the world's record, and then clear it by four or five inches. At that rate he ought to be able to set a new shark at every show for fifteen or twenty performances.

We rise to predict a lot of good half-mile races this coming track season. Our leading candidate, of course, is Percy Niersbach of U.S.C., who was rather consistent at about 1.56 last year. However, quite a few good prospects are coming along to challenge him. Young Johnson of Pomona looks like a real prospect, having run well under two minutes as a freshman last year. Goodheart of Occidental, likewise a sophomore, has shown signs of better than two-minute ability. Gloege, a U.S.C. freshman, is consistent at better than two minutes, and if Nick Carter, the ex-Oxy star, who will compete for the L.A.A.C. this year, elects to amble the half rather than the mile, he likewise is dangerous. Meanwhile when the northern teams come down, there are Boyden of California and Richardson of Stanford, both of whom run 1.55 or better.

It looks as though Bud Houser, the great Trojan weight man, might run into some good competition from other college boys this year, with new shot putters breaking into the limelight every so often. The Wisconsin giant, Schwartze, who shoved the pill out about 49 ft. last year as a sophomore, will undoubtedly be shining again this year, while Keck, the big fellow who starred at the national high school meet a couple of years ago, has put the 16-lb. pill 49 ft. indoors this year. Hoffman of Stanford, who came along rapidly last year, looks like a good prospect to something startling, while Gerkin, the California giant who beat Hartranft last year in the big meet, ought to do even better this year.

KILDUFF AND GEARY SIGN UP WITH SEALS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 9.—Pete Kilduff, second baseman of the San Francisco Seals, signed a contract today for the 1926 season.

Bob Geary, who carries a club and star as a Cincinnati policeman during the winter months and throws a fast ball in the summer, also sent in his contract.

CALLAHAN IS CONFIDENT

Showing Against Schaeffer Must Be Impressive to Rate Bouts in Eastern Invasion

Mushy Callahan must win his fight with Frankie Schaeffer Friday night at the Hollywood American Legion Stadium if he is going to create much of a stir in New York. This statement was issued by his manager, Eddie Sears last night.

The match with Schaeffer was made after Sears and Callahan had seen Schaeffer in action against Ace Hudkins. They saw Ace come close to being beaten and still Sears asked Tom Gallery to try to arrange the Schaeffer fight for Mushy. That doesn't look very much as though Mushy and Eddie feared the boy who gave Hudkins a tough fight and only last week trimmed Jack Silver in San Francisco.

Callahan ruled favorite last night. The boxing experts like Mushy's speed and his ability to keep out of the way of punishment. Being on the short end hasn't made a bit of difference to Eddie Long or Frankie Schaeffer. The Chicago boy was considered something soft for Hudkins. That impression didn't last long when the boys got started. It looked as though Schaeffer was going to win the decision.

Clyde Hudkins has Ad Allegrini all set to take Sailor Liston this time. These middleweights fight the semi-wind-up. The winner will be offered a fight with Everett Strong, who stopped Kid Mexico last week.

AMERICAN LOOP REFUSES RESIN

magnates were quick to suppress any evidences of alarm over their refusal to take up the suggestion at this time.

"When the proper time comes we will consider this matter," said Harry Grabiner, secretary of the Chicago club. "The Chicago club is for Landis because we feel that he represents everything that is good in baseball," he added.

The 1926 schedule was adopted and the magnates started to consider a revision of the constitution, but this was abandoned later when it appeared like an impossible task at this time.

"No radical changes were considered," President Johnson said, "we merely want to change the phraseology of some of the rules to clarify them."

SPECIAL MEETING

Further discussion was left until a special meeting of the league to be held in Chicago some time before the opening of the season at the call of President Johnson.

Alfred S. Austrin and George Miller, Chicago attorneys, were appointed a committee to rewrite some of the rules and submit them to the league at the Chicago meeting.

The schedule, which brings the season to a close in every American League city, with the exception of Washington and Philadelphia, September 26, was approved with the proviso that the two clubs carrying over until the 29th can rearrange their dates and play doubleheaders earlier in the season to close on the 26th. Any changes made, however, must be submitted to President Johnson before the start of the season.

BEARS DUE TO ARRIVE ON FRIDAY

Bruin Quintet Will Play Two Games; Trojans Lose Jack Bruner

Nibs Price, recently selected as the successor to Andy Smith, as head coach of the University of California, will lead his jubilant basketeers into our fair and winsome village on the morning of Friday, for the express purpose of engaging in two court tilts. The visitors are jubilant for two reasons: viz and to wit: The fact that the popular Mons. Price has been selected to succeed the former California mentor, and secondly, that they, themselves personally, have yet to suffer defeat.

The Bruins are to meet the unhappy Trojan outfit Friday evening, and the Southern Branch Grizzlies on Saturday. Both games are to be played in the Olympic Auditorium.

The already badly battered Trojans recently lost the services of Jack Bruner, center, through blood poisoning, and now it becomes known that he will be missing for the rest of the season. This includes the two-game series with Arizona a week from Friday and Saturday. The Bears are top-heavy favorites to win, as they have already trounced the locals in two contests, each time by 20-point margins.

The Southern Branch Grizzlies, still wobbly under the shock of the defeat at the hands of the Cards—their first of the season—are ambitiously prepping for revenge under Coach Caddy Works. The Grizzlies have yet to score a victory over a California team.

ROUNDING THIRD

by Hugh A. Jennings

AN UNDERGROUND FIELDER

Chapter LXXIV

The most peculiar out I ever saw was made before I played professional baseball. It came in a game in the mining regions of Pennsylvania and I was catching. The batter hit a fly to center field and the fielder went back to the edge of a mine cave, jumped and caught the ball, holding it aloft as he disappeared.

Everybody rushed to the cave, but there was no trace of the center fielder. The earth had evidently swallowed him. While we were standing there we were startled by a loud shout of "I got it." We turned in the direction of the voice and there was the center fielder, emerging from another mine cave 100 feet away. He was holding up the ball to prove that he made the catch. The umpire, who had joined the group at the other mine cave, ruled the batter out.

OUT OF SIGHT

The center fielder had dropped into a tunnel. He saw a light ahead, followed it and soon reached the other opening. In the days of the Orioles the clubhouse on the Baltimore grounds was located just outside the right-field foul line and about twenty feet behind first base. Tommy Murphy, fresh from Ireland and speaking with a distinct brogue, was our groundkeeper and was just getting wise to the ways of baseball, but he knew enough, as the following incident will show.

During games Tommy used to sit on the steps in front of the clubhouse. In a game with Pittsburgh, Fred Ely, playing short for the Pirates, made a wild throw to first. The ball went high and made straight for the clubhouse. It took a bound just in front of the steps, passed by Murphy and into the building.

Murphy jumped to his feet, bounded through the doorway, slammed the door shut and locked it. He refused to open the door until two Orioles that were on the bases, and the batter, had all scored. Then he permitted the Pittsburgh first baseman to come inside and recover the ball.

SO EXPENSIVE

Frank Shugart, who played shortstop for Washington, made one of the record freak throws of baseball. It happened with bases filled and none out. The infield was pulled in to make a play at the plate and cut off the run. The batter hit a sharp grounder to Shugart. Seeing a chance for a double play, Shugart grabbed the ball and fired in the direction of the plate, but he was overanxious and hurried the throw too much. The result was a wild heave. The ball passed over the catcher's head and struck in the grand stand behind the plate. The ball passed through this hole. Before it could be recovered four runs crossed the plate.

It was Tommy McCarthy, a famous outfielder with the Bostons, who developed the art of trapping a short fly with runners on first and second or with bases filled, and making a double play, instead of catching the ball off the ground and retiring only one man. It is the same play that Ty Cobb and other outfielders have used in modern baseball.

George Van Haltern, playing center field for Baltimore, tried to imitate McCarthy. Van Haltern tried the play with bases filled and none out. The batter hit the ball to short center and Van Haltern, after faking a catch, got down to take the ball on the short bound, but instead of hopping into his cupped hands the ball shot over his shoulder and before it could be recovered and relayed back to the infield it had become a home run, four men scoring.

LOSES BALL AND JOB

Van Haltern had not taken into consideration the condition of the ground. It was almost as hard as brick due to a long drought. That attempt cost Van Haltern his job, for soon after Baltimore traded him to Pittsburgh for Joe Kelley, a grand swap for Baltimore, as Kelley later proved.

LONDOS HAS NEW OBJECTION AS OPPONENT MAKES WEIGHT

Jim Londos tried to throw another monkey wrench in Lou Daro's wrestling machinery yesterday afternoon but quieted down when the portly promoter threatened to call off his entire card.

When Londos and Kotsonaros were first matched, Jim demanded that Kotsonaros make 187 pounds, a demand that Kotsonaros promptly declined to do, so Londos finally receded from his position and agreed to sign articles for a match at catchweights. Then Kotsonaros proceeded to work off extra weight until yesterday he was just above the 190-pound mark, just to show Jim that he could have made the poundage without trouble.

Then Jimmy stepped up and stated that unless Kotsonaros scaled in at or above the 200-pound mark there would be no match. It was freely stated yesterday that Jim had no desire to meet George in the condition that the Montana cattleman was showing and made his demand in order to slow George up by the time the match was held. Kotsonaros called his hand immediately and said that the match was made at catchweights and he would weigh the poundage that suited him best.

Londos scaled 195 pounds yesterday while Kotsonaros tipped the beam at slightly more than 190. Jim says he will go on the mat at about 192 while George claims he will not be more than one-half pound heavier.

Promoter Daro also completed his card yesterday yesterday by putting Roy Anderson and Chris Michaels on for a thirty-minute one-fall match. Jack Roller and Reginald Siki will battle for a similar period, and Felix Lopez and Cowboy Ray are down for an hour. The main event is a two-hour, two-fall finish match.

THIRD IN TURF RACE FAVORITE

Firth of Tay Wins Main Tia Juana Dash; Runstar to Appear Soon

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TIA JUANA RACE-TRACK, Feb. 9.—Outrun in the first part but coming back strongly to take command in the stretch, Firth of Tay took the decision over Pathan by a length in the feature race at a mile and a quarter here today. Kingman, the favorite, finished third.

Firth of Tay broke slowly at the barrier and lagged behind the leaders for three quarters, but moved up on even terms and took command after a brilliant stretch run. Kingman, the pace setter, challenged first but tired, allowing the winners to draw out into a good lead. Pathan closed strongly on the outside and was fast overhauling the leader at the wire.

Baron Long's Runstar, Coffroth winner in 1924, was scheduled to return to the game after an absence of more than a year, tomorrow, but the race for which he is eligible failed to fill and was called off.

The big chestnut was taken out of training more than a year ago when his foot went bad in training. He was formerly owned by A. B. Spreckels but was bought for breeding purposes when the Spreckels turf holdings were doomed to pass into other hands. Results:

First race, three furlongs: Polanta (Schaefer), won; Mata Wall (O'Brien), second; Shasta La (Boos), third. Time, 0:36 3-5.

Second race, six furlongs: Mr. Pat (Pullen), won; Lucia Phil (Peterson), second; Collmore (Madden), third. Time, 1:13 3-5.

Third race, six furlongs: Rose R. (Kurtsinger), won; Dare (Wyllie), second; Lauralu (Neal), third. Time, 1:13 1-5.

Fourth race, mile and seventy yards: El Cid (Ross), won; Confidente (Cress), second; Olds Eight (Baker), third. Time, 1:53.

Fifth race, one mile: Ray (Cress), won; Sweet and Low (Obea), second; Saddle Doe (Munden), third. Time, 1:42 3-5.

Sixth race, six furlongs: Stump, Jr. (Munden), won; Lady Rose (Buck), second; Friend Joe (Neal), third. Time, 1:13 1-5.

Seventh race, mile and one-quarter: Firth of Tay (Sylvia), won; Pathan (Cress), second; Kingman (Pascoe), third. Time, 2:07 4-5.

Eighth race, six furlongs: Talisman (Neal), won; Subtle (Ross), second; Miss Nantura (Munden), third. Time 1:13 3-5.

Ninth race, one mile: Polly Atwell (Edwards), won; Rallin (Neal), second; Crystal Boor (Sylvia), third. Time, 1:42 1-5.

RESIN RULE THE BUNK, SAYS KRUG

footed, by which it is not meant to create the impression that he has fallen arches, against the new rule which permits a pitcher to carry a sack of rosin as well as a sack of Bull Durham in his hip pocket. The powers that be in the national pastime have decreed that a hurler should have the right to use resin on the ball in order that he might get a better grip as an aid in the campaign to cut down the splurge of base hits and large scores that have infested the sport since Babe Ruth took the throne as sultan of swat.

Mr. Krug believes that the powers that be in baseball are all wet and that the resin rule will not only slow up the game but will keep the umpires in hot water all season. If Mr. Krug's assumptions are correct, we wish to join on his side against the use of resin except on fiddle strings, because the games last year were plenty long enough. Also, if the resin rule will keep the umpires in hot water all season long, it can easily be seen that the result will be a flock of boiled arbiters. It might be all right for owls to be boiled, but boiled umpires—never! An umpire generally has a hard enough time seeing 'em without being boiled.

It is Mr. Krug's contention that in the past a pitcher could use resin on the ball if he wanted to despite the fact that there was a rule against it. Many of the hurlers, especially the curve-ball chuckers, found it easy to "get by" the resin ban by the simple expediment of pounding some of the banned substance into their uniforms or on the peaks of their caps. When a new ball was tossed in on which the hurler had difficulty getting a grip, all he had to do was to pass his hand over his uniform where the resin had been pounded, and nobody knew anything about it.

However, Marty is not kicking about the use of resin, which doesn't cause the ball to do any funny tricks, but he says that he gives the hurlers a loophole to get back to the use of emery, against which the batter hasn't a chance. Some of the chuckers will use something akin to emery on the ball and every time the horsehide sa'ls, the batter will immediately demand to look the ball over. Whereupon will take place the looking-over process which slows up the game and riles the fan. If the umpire decides that the pitcher is using a foreign substance other than resin on the ball, he will naturally toss it out of the game, but in doing so will get the hurler and the players on the hurler's team "on" him. If the ump rules in favor of the pitcher the batter and his mates will see to it that the arbiter has a tough day.

"And the worst of it is," says Mr. Krug, "that the pitchers will not resort to the trick deliveries until they get in a tight spot, which may decide the game. Then will likely follow squabbles like the one last season when the Seattle players raised such a rumpus with Ed Teck that he was forced to call the game and get everybody, including himself, in a jam."

So, if Mr. Krug's prophecies come true, the resin rule may help the hurlers all right, but in doing so the resin will rub raw spots on the umpires' peace of mind.

IDEAL TROUT WEATHER PREVAILS AT RAINBOW

Ideal weather for trout fishing is the unanimous opinion voiced by rod and reel enthusiasts returning from the Rainbow Angling Club. More anglers have joined the club during the last week, among them being Charles D. Merrals, H. E. Stock, George A. Tyree, Ralph Davi, A. B. Atwater, H. T. Wickes, F. S. Argood and Harry E. Leland.

QUARREL WITH FORAKER TOLD

Roosevelt Split With Senator Over Army Affair

Famous Clash at Gridiron Club Dinner Recalled

Friends Finally Made Up Their Differences

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—The long obscured question of whether the late President Roosevelt and the late Senator Foraker of Ohio ever composed their celebrated quarrel seems to be definitely settled in the affirmative through private circulation of a print of correspondence between them.

The quarrel, which was a sensational one, broke in 1909 as a direct outcome of Senator Foraker's championship of the cause of some of the negro regular troops who were summarily dismissed from the Army by President Roosevelt after the affair at Brownsville, Tex.

The Brownsville riot, as it was then called, involved negro troops of the Regular Army. It assumed the proportions of a nation-wide controversy when President Roosevelt dismissed a whole battalion. Senator Foraker, one of the stalwart Republican leaders of his day, and one of the circle of confidants which surrounded President McKinley, occupied a position apparently equally intimate with President Roosevelt until the two men differed over the merits of the President's dismissal action.

FIGHTS BACK

Senator Foraker assailed President Roosevelt's course openly in the Senate and the President had struck back in characteristic fashion. The smouldering volcano did not come into full eruption, however, until an occasion in January, 1909, when both men were guests at a Gridiron Club dinner in Washington.

The Gridiron Club is composed of Washington correspondents who, at their dinners, "grill" public men and affairs good-naturedly, always to the amusement and respect of the latter. Its first rule is that "reporters never are present." Everything said and done is "under the rose" and public men on those occasions, relieved of the prospect of public eyes and ears, throw off their restraints and speak their minds.

The Roosevelt-Foraker tilt supplied the second instance of which there is record in which what was said in confidence at a Gridiron Club dinner got into print.

President Roosevelt for thirty minutes delivered characteristic shafts at Senator Foraker, and although the President on such occasions is supposed to be the last speaker, the toastmaster of the evening immediately called on Senator Foraker to reply. The Senator did for twenty minutes, while 300 spectators held their breaths for what was described as a battle between gladiators.

Neither spared words or personalities and the report of the proceedings say that when President Roosevelt attempted to reply in rebuttal to Senator Foraker he was almost drowned out by the hum of conversation among the excited diners.

As a result of that occasion friendship between the two men was suspended. Their hostility became so much talked about in the news of the day that it furnished the material for cartoons, quips and even stage jokes.

So far as anyone knows, it remained thus until 1912, when, a few months before Col. Roosevelt's nomination at the Chicago Progressive convention, he wrote Senator Foraker complimenting him on his pamphlet on the authorship of the Sherman antitrust law and at its conclusion inviting Senator Foraker to call. The Senator, apparently wiping out old scores, wrote a friendly reply, but declined the colonel's invitation, because, he wrote: "I have some fear that knowledge of such a call, if it should get to the newspapers, might be exploited in such a way as to cause embarrassment to both of us. Some other time when circumstances are more propitious I shall drop in for a few minutes in memory of old times."

The printed record of their correspondence shows no more until 1916, when Senator Foraker sent Col. Roosevelt his two volumes of memoirs and the colonel acknowledged them in a letter in which he expressed what Senator Foraker's friends may regard as an amende.

ROOSEVELT'S LETTER

Col. Roosevelt in quite a lengthy letter, which contained other references, wrote:

"Not only do I admire your entire courage and straightforwardness (in the railway rate legislation I respected you a thousand times more than I did many of the men who voted for the bill,) but I also grew steadily more and more to realize your absolute Americanism and your capacity for generosity and disinterestedness."

Then at its conclusion Col. Roosevelt penned the following paragraph which will be of interest to both his friends and Senator Foraker's and of special interest to the latter. He wrote:

"There is no use raking up the past now, but there were some things told me against you, or in reference to you, which (when I consider what I know now about my informants) would have carried no weight with me at the time had I been as well informed as at present."

The letter was dated at Oyster Bay, June 28, 1916. Friendly and brief, acknowledgment followed from Senator Foraker. He wrote:

"Notwithstanding our differences of opinion on some subjects, there never has been a moment since the beginning of our acquaintance when I was not an ardent admirer of your great intellectual power, fervent patriotism and fearless courage."

Thus apparently a historic friendship, interrupted by a historic quarrel, was resumed while both men lived.

Oregon Coeds Face Charges of Shoplifting

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

EUGENE (Or.) Feb. 9.—Misses Eleanor D. Burtchaell and Laura Pauline Breske, University of Oregon students, are awaiting grand-jury action on a charge of shoplifting. Since the arrest of the two girls the case has attracted more attention than anything that has happened at the university recently. The mystery around the affair centers in the fact that both girls were well supplied with money and could buy almost anything they might desire.

Their plea is that their acts were only a college prank, the result of a bet. According to the police, however, $400 worth of stolen dresses and other finery was found in the girls' rooms.

Miss Burtchaell is the daughter of J. T. Burtchaell, assistant manager of the Bank of California in Portland, and Miss Breske is the daughter of S. Breske, a retired capitalist of Gearhart. Both of the young women are sophomores. Miss Burtchaell is 21 years of age and Miss Breske is 19. The latter's parents were cruising and in the Canal Zone when the arrests occurred.

The authorities have shown every intention of pressing the charge. Instead of letting the matter drop they bound the girls over under $2000 bail each.

Suits Filed for Annulment of Life Insurance

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Feb. 9.—In the United States Court the New York Life Insurance Company, the Mutual Life Insurance Company and the Equitable Life Assurance Society have filed suits for the annulment of life-insurance policies in the aggregate sum of $35,000 on the life of Miguel Bernal.

In one of the complaints it is asserted that Charles J. Blackburn, who had been found guilty of Bernal's murder, had hired the latter, a Mexican laborer, as a ranch hand at $2.50 a day and had "conceived the scheme of committing a life-insurance fraud by obtaining large amounts of insurance payable to him on the life of Bernal." Statement is made also that a total of $95,000 of life insurance had been issued with Blackburn as beneficiary.

Blackburn, now in the penitentiary at Florence, asserts that Bernal died in an automobile accident near Globe, but Indian witnesses testified that they saw Blackburn pounding Bernal on the head with a rock.

San Diego TALKING

Los Angeles, you were predestined to be the largest city in the world. Your call went around the world and was answered, great fortunes were made and the greatest of these were made in ACREAGE. The small investor bought lots and made money but if he knew then what he knows now he would have bought at least 10 acres instead of a lot. What is 10 acres in Hollywood worth? How about 10 acres or 20 in the Wilshire district, or 50 acres out toward Long Beach.

Well those that had the vision, have rooms in the U. S. Grant Hotel or San Diego Hotel and now are buying San Diego acreage. ANTICIPATING the greatest development SAN DIEGO has ever known.

STILLMAN CLAN PLANS COUNCIL

But Whether of Peace or War No One Knows

Relatives and Close Friends to Meet at Mentone

Principals Still Apparently Happy Aboard Ship

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—There is to be a family council of war—or of peace—at Mentone, France, at which all of the Stillman clan will be present.

Reports by cable and from society circles today showed that the session will include practically everybody related to the strange situation in which representations of complete reconciliation have been mingled with suggestions that James A. Stillman and his wife were really bound on a voyage of peaceable divorce.

There will be Mrs. Henry P. Davison, widow of the strong figure of the Morgan house; Mrs. Davison's son, Henry P. II., who married Miss Anne Stillman; Mrs. Davison, the younger; Mr. and Mrs. Stillman and practically everybody else close to the family.

It is interesting that the elder Mrs. Davison's temporary home abroad has been selected for the meeting. Mrs. Davison went with her daughter, Frances, after her marriage to Ward Cheney, on January 1, last, to France. She went at once to Mentone, where Mr. and Mrs. Anatole Le Braz reside. Mrs. Le Braz is a sister to the late Mr. Davison.

At the same time, Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Davison—the latter having been Anne Stillman—turned back from a tour to India to join the council in France.

Meanwhile wireless dispatches stated that the Stillmans, on board the Olympic, were ostensibly happy. They were reported as strolling about the deck after the lights had been shut off and of talking of a new life together long after the other passengers had gone to their staterooms.

The wireless said psycho-analysis was playing a stellar role on the ocean tryists, and that Mrs. Stillman was initiating James A. into the Freudian realm with speed and earnestness.

They dine together in the Ritz Restaurant, in a cozy corner. But it is impressed that they have breakfast in their respective suites.

FLO LEEDS REFUSES TO MAKE STATEMENT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WEST PALM BEACH, Feb. 9.—Flo Leeds, co-respondent in the divorce suit of Mrs. James A. Stillman, and mother of James A. Stillman's son, Jay Leeds, today declared "my business is my own and whether or not Mr. Stillman has legally adopted my boy is my own affair."

Mrs. Leeds said she would not affirm or deny any statement that Stillman may give to the press. She declared she had no statement to make and requested newspaper men to let her alone.

"I don't want to see them and I want them to stop bothering me," she said. "Just have them let me alone is all that I ask."

POSSE FOILS ATTEMPT TO RESCUE PAIR

One Fugitive Killed, Second Dying and Surrender of Trio Ends Chase

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CLINTON (Iowa) Feb. 9.—Three armed men today snatched two of their convicted pals from officers here, but were foiled after driving to Illinois by the shotguns of at Chadwick (Ill.) posse which killed one, wounded a second and captured the others.

Leaving the County Courthouse here Albert Fairfield and John Redman, sentenced for robbing a Chicago and Northwestern Railroad pay-roll clerk of $2500, guarded by two deputy sheriffs, were met by the trio who commanded the officers to free their prisoners.

Fairfield and Redman entered the automobile and the trio piled in after them, speeding toward Illinois.

On a country road posses from Chadwick, met the bandits' automobile. In the ensuing battle, one kidnaper was killed and a second fell wounded. The third would-be rescuer surrendered while Fairfield and Redman also gave up.

Motorship Off Northern Coast Meets Mishap

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PORTLAND (Or.) Ponzi Reported With Attorney in Jacksonville

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

JACKSONVILLE (Fla.) Feb. 9. Though authorities have extended their search to the entire State for Charles Ponzi, indicated yesterday for violation of a State law, in connection with his real estate operations, newspaper men said tonight Ponzi was in Jacksonville and that they had interviewed him.

They said they found Ponzi at the office of an attorney who has been retained by the land promoter.

"I do not want to make any statement at present as it is an embarrassing situation," Ponzi was quoted as having said.

Ponzi previously was reported to have made the trip from Tampa to Jacksonville by automobile today to surrender after he had retained counsel to defend him.

Mrs. Ponzi has not been arrested, although her brother said she was here.

Chicago Mayor Calls Catholic Training Asset

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 9.—Mayor Dever of Chicago, in an address to the Knights of Columbus here, urged them to bring home to St. Louis and America "that a Catholic training renders one well fitted to hold public office."

"It would seem to incite the anger of certain classes when a man who runs for a public office is a Roman Catholic," he said. "I have run into such intolerance. I have never heard of anyone voting for a man because he is a Catholic, but time and again I have heard of voting the other ticket for that reason."

Charges Boston Mayor Paid for Unloading Rum

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BOSTON, Feb. 9.—Percy Friedman, a convict, called as a witness in the trial of Mayor Quigley and others for conspiracy to violate the prohibition law, testified in Federal Court today that the Mayor paid him $300 for aiding in the unloading of a shipment of liquor. Police Inspector Quigley, brother of the Mayor, sent him to the latter's house to get his pay, Friedman said.

The witness said he had taken part in three movements of liquor for the "Chelsea ring." He said that when he called on Mayor Quigley in search of work he was sent to Police Inspector Quigley for instructions. He was told to go to Winthrop and aid in landing a large liquor cargo. He was aided by Patrolmen McGeevey and Forbes of Chelsea, he said. Later he assisted in unloading another liquor cargo in Chelsea.

RAIL GUNS WILL GUARD PANAMA

Two 14-Inch Rifles to be Added to Canal Defense

Pieces Will be Same as One Sent Los Angeles

Pacific Coast Ultimately to Have Four More

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Plans for supplementing the 16-inch coast-defense batteries of the Panama Canal Zone with two 14-inch rifles on railway mounts have been approved by the War Department, and they will be shipped south as soon as necessary railway trucks to fit the gauge of the Panama Canal Railroad have been made.

The railway guns will be similar in mounting to the rifle recently transported across the continent to Los Angeles on its own carriage. Four of these weapons and their railway mounts have been completed and in addition to the two assigned to the Panama defense the fourth probably also will go to the Pacific Coast, as will two more which will be provided for in later appropriation bills.

Maj.-Gen. Coe, former chief of Coast Artillery, has informed the House military subcommittee of appropriations of the plan to have a battery of four 14-inch guns ultimately on the Pacific Coast, and also to supplement the fixed batteries of the Canal Zone with two of these heaviest type of mobile guns. The shipment of the first gun to the west coast was made as a demonstration of the soundness of the plan to use this mobile artillery all along the Pacific Coast, he said.

Maj.-Gen. Williams, chief of army ordnance, told the committee the railway guns had a proved range of 28,800 yards, as compared with the 49,000 yards range of the 16-inch rifles. Four more 16-inch weapons are to be placed in the canal fixed defenses, to supplement the four already in process of installation as a part of the army program to place twenty-eight of these great guns at various points on the continent or overseas.

Explaining the decision to send the rail guns to Panama, Gen. Coe told the committee that their "strategic mobility" was great.

"They could be moved from one end of the canal to the other," he said, "and we felt that the probability of any attack coming from both ends at the same time was remote."

Untangling Addresses at Dead Letter Office

Miss Myrtle Soper, office expert, seeking clews as to intent of senders of carelessly addressed mail.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Uncle Sam has tons of improperly addressed and undelivered mail in his four dead-letter offices and thirteen parcel post dead-letter stations, and these will be disposed of, either by burning or by sale, very soon.

Here are some of the figures which tell a graphic story of the effect of carelessness in directing mail, packages and letters. Last year the dead-letter office of the Post Office Department handled some 21,000,000 letters and upward of 1,000,000 parcel-post packages. About 20 per cent of the letters and 45 per cent of the packages were finally delivered, after the intent of the senders had been deciphered by experts. The remainder of the letters were burned and the parcel-post packages were sold, netting the government $172,000.

RUINS OF MAYA CITY FOUND

Expedition to Yucatan Reports Discovery of Temples That May Date Back 2500 Years

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—A ruined Maya city containing a dozen buildings and six temples in fair condition has been discovered by the Mason-Spinden expedition to Yucatan, the New York Times says today in a copyright dispatch from Cosumel, Mex.

Gregory Mason, member of the expedition, reported that the city probably was called Muyil and was once an important post on the trade route between Mayan cities in North Yucatan and Central America. The city is twelve miles inland from Boca de Paila.

One of the temples, Mason reported, bore traces of incense baskets and gourd vessels in a subterannean structure used comparatively recently by Indians fleeing the hostile Mexicans. Wall paintings and inscriptions in the temples have been hopelessly damaged.

The first temple was found January 23 on the edge of a large lake not indicated on current maps, a narrow canal led to a second lake where the city was found at the edge of the forest in the Chicle country.

The expedition, Mason said, was guided by descendants of the Mayas, who, contrary to their general policy, were friendly on solicitation from the Mexican government.

Many rare birds were found by the explorers, fifteen new specimens being added to the collection of fauna.

Discovery of this city, The Times says, means that the expedition has succeeded in its main objective in verifying reports by natives that there are cities in Yucatan never seen by white men. Several expeditions to find the ancient places have failed.

Northern Dry Chief Defends Office Policy

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 9.—Col. Ned M. Green, Federal prohibition director for Northern California and Nevada, said today that many complaints were being made to Washington and to himself directly regarding his asserted failure to raid clubs and hotels where liquor selling is suspected.

"I came here with the understanding that it was not to be a petty police job," Col. Green said, "but that we were to engage in the important work of cutting off liquor at the source. I am following closely the orders of my chief, Gen. Andrews, in Washington. I am trying to make this enforcement business as little a burden on the community as possible.

"Furthermore, I am going to remain as long as Gen. Andrews wants me to. While I would like to return to my former work, and took the present position for a year only, I am not going to quit on the job."

PHOENIX BODY TO HAVE COMMITTEE ON MEXICO

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Feb. 9.—A committee on Mexican trade relations is to be appointed by President F. O. Smith of the Phoenix Chamber of Commerce. Co-operation will be asked of the railroads and of the Mexican representatives in the United States. Figures lately obtained tell that $15,000,000 worth of merchanrise passed through the port of Nogales last year, with only $15,000 worth furnished by Arizona. With the completion of the new Southern Pacific main line Phoenix will be in much better position to furnish products of the Salt River Valley to the Mexican West Coast.

COUNTESS BARRED OUT OF COUNTRY

Vague Reference Made by Officers to Craven Affair and Divorce in England

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Vera, Countess of Cathcart, whose divorce in 1921 set London society by the ears, was denied permission to land in this country when she arrived late today aboard the Carmania from Liverpool. Indignant, she remained aboard the ship tonight, and was told that if she still wants to enter tomorrow she probably will have to go to Ellis Island.

Immigration officials were somewhat vague regarding the technicalities which barred her entrance. The circumstances of her divorce were cited as the general cause, but no more specific explanation was forthcoming.

A big game hunt in Africa with the Earl of Craven preceded her divorce. The Count of Cathcart named the Earl as co-respondent. Subsequently the Earl of Craven returned to his wife.

Asked if her trip to this country had anything to do with the Earl's presence in Bermuda, the countess said she no longer communicated with him. A little later she said she is going to marry Ralph Neal, a British playwright, in London next month. She said one of her reasons for coming here is to arrange for the production of her play "Ashes."

Capt. H. C. Pierce, a British army officer who also came over on the Carmania was greatly incensed at the detention of the Countess. He summoned Lewis Bernais, British Consul, who said he can see no legal reason which would keep the countess from landing.

STATE TO ROUND UP UNCLAIMED MONEY

APPROXIMATELY $150,000 IN CHECKS UNCASHED SINCE 1919

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 9.—So many persons have failed to cash checks mailed them by the State that the Board of Control today took steps to round up the approximately $150,000 of unclaimed money involved and to put it in a bank where it will earn interest.

The checks were issued in behalf of various departments and for sums ranging from 3 cents to $56. Many of them no doubt were cast aside because of the trivial amount; others failed to reach the claimant through the mails. Some date back as far as 1919. Several of them were pay checks of convicts who escaped from the prison road camp without waiting to collect wages.

About $41,000 already has been gathered in, and the Board of Control expects to have the remainder of the $150,000 deposited to the credit of the unclaimed trust-monies fund by the end of the year.

BAKING INQUIRY DELAY ORDERED

Trade Commission Adjourns Hearing Two Weeks

Witness Then to Give Data on Interstate Trade

Barber Admits Ward Owned 1,000,000 Shares

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Figures covering the interstate trade of thirteen of the twenty-five bakery companies owned and controlled by the Continental Baking Corporation will be presented when the Federal Trade Commission resumes its hearing in the corporations affairs on the 23rd inst.

The hearing today was adjourned for two weeks to give George G. Barber, chairman of the Continental corporation, an opportunity to gather the data on interstate trade. Only thirteen of the companies controlled by the Continental corporation are engaged in interstate commerce, Mr. Barber testified.

BARBER EXPLAINS

Data on this trade were sought by the commission to determine whether the corporation's control of the companies resulted in a lessening of competition among the companies and created a monopolistic condition.

The adjournment followed questioning by A. R. Brindley, counsel for the commission, to learn from Mr. Barber his business relations with William B. Ward in the various baking concerns with which Mr. Barber has been associated in the last quarter century.

William H. Dutton, counsel for Mr. Barber, objected to this line of examination, questioning its relevancy. Mr. Brindley replied that the relevancy of his questions would be made clearer as the inquiry developed.

The Continental concerns named by Mr. Barber as doing an interstate business are the Corby Baking Company, Inc., Livingston Baking Company, Massachusetts Baking, New England Baking Company, Standard Bakeries Corporation, Campbell Baking Company, Memphis Baking Company, Shults Bread Company, Stroehmann Baking Company, Ward & Ward, Inc., Ward Brothers, Inc., of Pennsylvania; Washington Bakeries Corporation and the Log Cabin Baking Company.

BONUS SHARES

Asked whether William B. Ward had not owned up to a few months ago more than 1,000,000 shares of preferred stock of Continental Baking Corporation, Mr. Barber explained:

"Mr. Ward subscribed for about 1,500,000 shares. His holdings, however, have been reduced. At one time he actually owned about 1,000,000 shares."

Mr. Barber explained further that when the Continental was first organized on November 6, 1924, the preferred stock did not find a ready market at $100 a share and that two shares of Class "B" common were given as a bonus for every preferred share purchased. The Class "B" shares then were regarded as having no value, he said. Subsequently, he added, only one share and later a half share of Class "B" stock was given with each preferred share. No bonus stock has been issued during the last five or six months, he said.

CORN AND BEANS FOOD OF MOUND BUILDERS

CLEVELAND MAN'S RESEARCH INDICATES THAT ANCIENTS WERE OF INDIAN RACE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CLEVELAND, Feb. 9. — The modern scientific dietitian would have had a great opportunity to practice his vocation among the mound builders of prehistoric times. Beans and corn were the only thing about which they knew much.

Habits of the prehistoric peoples are described at length in a new history compiled by Harold L. Madison, curator of education of the Cleveland Museum of Natural History. Mr. Madison said there is little doubt but that the mound builders were a race of American Indians.

Corn and beans were the staple foods of the mound builders, which they planted and cultivated in their gardens. They knew nothing of wheat, milk and butter. The men cleared a piece of woodland by cutting down the trees with stone axes and burning the brush and debris, leaving the ashes to fertilize the soil. The women then planted corn and beans in rows among the tree stumps. The larder was augmented by fruits, nuts and acorns, and by game and fish.

Food was prepared by knives made of flint and jasper, flaked to a thin, sharp blade. Mortars made of sandstone were in common use. In them, with the aid of a pestle, corn and acorns were ground into meal. For forks they probably used awls made of bone, according to Madison.

Madison's research has covered the country.

Dutch Homes Frozen in During Floods

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

THE HAGUE (Holland) Feb. 9. Following in the wake of the most disastrous floods in years, a cold spell literally froze in many houses in the lowlands of Holland, making the suffering intense.

The water, at a height of from eight to ten feet, had not receded when the thermometer dropped, with the result that inhabitants were forced to leave their possessions and move to districts which had not been inundated.

Kansas Heavyweight Tells Judge How He Got Drunk Selling Silk Sox

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 9.—Wayne B. Parkinson, 360-pound scion of a proment Kansas family, who came to California to claim the place in Filmdom left vacant by Fatty Arbuckle, threw the Superior Court here into an uproar today when he "fired" the attorney appointed to defend him on a bad check charge and argued his own case.

The climax came when Parkinson told how he had attempted to sell silk hose in a bootlegging establishment. He said that to get the order he was obliged to patronize the bar and in so doing became so intoxicated he spent all his profits.

"So when I left I didn't know whether I was headed for Sacramento or Topeka, Kan.," he told Judge Busick.

"No doubt, Judge, if you have ever been in that condition you wouldn't know either," he concluded.

The court informed the defendant it had never been in that condition and a recess was ordered.

Means Before Jury Again in Metal Inquiry

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

Col. Thomas W. Miller, former Alien Property Custodian, was indicted last year on a charge of conspiring to defraud the government in the release of approximately $7,000,000 of sequestered assets of the American Metal Company to owners asserted to represen German interests.

Noticias de Washington

WASHINGTON, Febrero 9.—Discutióse en el senado la propuesta derogación del impuesto sobre herencias.

Pidió una comisión de la cámara que se asignaran sueldos más elevados a los jueces federales.

Recurrió el senado al Presidente Coolidge para que éste mediara en la cuestión de la antracita; pero reiteró la Casa Blanca que su política sería la de no intervención en este asunto.

SAN DIEGO, Febrero 9.—Como consecuencia de la tragedia en que toda la familia Peteet, compuesta de cuatro miembros, halló la muerte aquí, tras una visita de cinco días a Tijuana, la semana pasada, el ministerio de Estado de Washington hizo saber hoy que había ordenado se hiciera una averiguación de las circunstancias en que ocurrió la tragedia.

Este paso del ministerio de Estado es para acceder a una petición del señor Kelly, médico forense de San Diego, quien la formuló luego que se hubo enterado de los pormenores de la visita de la familia Peteet a San Diego. El forense Kelly tuvo informes de que las dos hijas habían sido narcotizadas y llevadas a antros de vicio de la población fronteriza mejicana, donde se las tuvo secuestradas, y de que el padre, Thomas M. Peteet, les había dado muerte, así como a su esposa, y luego se había suicidado, para borrar la afrenta.

Súpose hoy que Luis Amador, aprehendido ayer por la policía de Tijuana, en relación con el atentado cometido contra las dos señoritas Peteet, es un fugitivo de la justicia norteamericana. Fué arrestado hace tres años en Los Angeles, por comerciar en alcaloides; pero huyó hacia Méjico, dejando perder una fianza de $3500. Dictóse luego orden de aprehensión contra él, como fugitivo; pero no ha podido hacerse efectiva, pues Amador se ha quedado del otro lado de la frontera, en Tijuana.

La familia Peteet vino a Sudcalifornia, procedente de Missouri. Pasó cinco días en Tijuana, donde fueron plagiadas las muchachas y encerradas por algún tiempo. Esta mancha en su honra es, según se cree, lo que impulsó al papa a hacer desaparecer a toda su familia, y a darse luego un tiro.

Motín de los Fascistas Belgas

BRUSELAS (Belgica) Febrero 9.—Durante la tarde de hoy han continuado las manifestaciones de los nacionalistas y los fascistas en contra del primer ministro Poullet, y han interrumpido la solemne ceremonia de depositar las banderas de los regimientos licenciados en el Museo del Ejército.

Por las calles de la capital corrían jovenes con banderas gritando: "¡Muera Poullet!", "¡Cuélguenlo!"

La zona que encierra los edificios de gobierno y el palacio real se hallaba fuertemente guarnecida por la policía. Parece que los grupos fascistas trataban de excitar al populacho; pero el público en general parecía más bien asombrado de las manifestaciones que influído en favor de ellas.

El alboroto se limitó a la capital, pues los despachos de Amberes y Gante dicen que no hubo desórdenes en las ceremonias de la bandera celebradas en dichas poblaciones.

Marinero Chileno Herido en un Ojo

Hállase en el hospital S. Sisima, marinero chileno, y encarcelado, Jose Rioja, fogonero peruano, por haber intentado ayer, según informes de la policía de San Pedro, robar una tienda de ropa en la avenida del Pacífico, número 532.

Los dos individuos fueron sorprendidos por una escuadra de guardias en el momento en que entraban a saco el referido establecimiento de San Pedro. Les intimaron la rendición, y Rioja se entregó desde luego; pero Sisima, al decir de los guardias, se agazapó detras de un canapé, y les contestó que dispararía sobre quien se le acercase. El guardia de patrulla Jackson le soltó un tiro, y al rebotar la bala desde el muro, le dio al ladron en el ojo, incrustándosele allí. Es probable que pierda ese organo. Luego que se sintió herido, salió arrastrándose y se entregó.

LOGGERS' PARSON DIES

Picturesque Pastor of North Known as "Shepherd of Hills" Passes

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

STOCKTON, Feb. 9.—Rev. Hugh J. Furneaux, picturesque pastor of Tuolumne, known in the logging camps and mining communities as "The Shepherd of the Hills," died yesterday at his home in Columbia. Heart disease augmented by a severe cold caused his death.

Pastor of historic St. Andrews Presbyterian Church at Columbia for the past three years and before that at Sonora and Big Oak Flat, Furneaux was a beloved figure in all the out-of-the-way mining settlements. For more than twenty years he went about the camps carrying packages and magazines to men who would have received no other reading matter. Traveling with his burros, "pipe organ" and "bagpipe," he held services in remote camps. He was nicknamed "Bishop of Grubstake Parish."

A widow residing at Columbia; a son, John Furneaux of Vallejo, and a brother, Harvey Furneaux of Big Oak Flat, survive.

Teeth Made White

—glorious, gleaming!

Your gums like coral to contrast them—just remove that dingy film, see what happens

Please accept 10-day tube to try

HERE are beautiful teeth for the asking. Those dazzling clear teeth that add so immeasurably to one's personality and natural charm.

Millions have found them in this new way. Dental authorities urge it. In a few days you can work a transformation in your mouth. Dull teeth thus are made to glisten. Gums are firmed and given a healthy, coral color.

Now a test is being offered. Find out what can be done with your teeth, quickly, amazingly. Just mail the coupon.

Film—that's the trouble

Dental science now traces scores of tooth and gum troubles to a germ-laden film that forms on your teeth.

Run your tongue across your teeth and you will feel it — a slippery, viscous coating.

That film absorbs discolorations from food, smoking, etc. And that is why your teeth look "off color" and dingy.

It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It lays your gums open to bacterial attack and your teeth open to decay. Germs by the millions breed in it. And they, with tartar, cause pyorrhea.

Mere brushing won't do

Ordinary dentifrices and cleansing won't fight film successfully. Feel for it now with your tongue. Note how your present cleansing method is failing.

Now new methods are being used. A dentifrice called Pepsodent — different in formula, action and effect from any other.

Largely on dental advice the world has turned to this method.

Removes that film. Firms the Gums

It accomplishes two important things at once: Removes that film, then firms the gums to healthy coral tint.

A few days' use will prove its power beyond all doubt. Send the coupon. Clip it now before you forget.

SITUATION WOULD IMPROVE BY HALF CENT RISE FOR 1926 CROP

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HONOLULU (Hawaii) Feb. 9.—Higher prices for cane sugar during 1926 are hoped for by Hawaii's sugar men. With a record crop taken off in 1925, and another large crop expected from the 1926 harvest, a rise of even half a cent a pound would cause a distinct change in the situation. During most of 1925 the price was low.

One statistician here figures that sugar will be between 4.50 and 5 cents a pound this year, and bases the opinion on the strength of the normal increase in the world consumption of sugar and the estimates of world production increase in 1926 which the leading statistical firms of the world now place at a maximum of something like 780,000 tons.

MERGER BUYERS LOSERS

Public Absorbs Stock That Insiders Sell When Good News is Out; Character of Bankers Important

BY EARLE E. CROWE

In an era like this when the activity in the stock market is largely predicated on mergers and on the news of the sale of companies for immense sums of money, it sometimes is wise to look behind and recall what has happened in the past. This is particularly true with respect to those speculators who buy on merger rumors and expect to take down a handsome profit. If they take the time to look into stock market history, they will find that the securities of companies in this classification do not always immediately justify the sanguine hopes of the buyers.

As a rule, the unseasoned speculator buying on merger news is taking the stock that the insiders are unloading. In accordance with the precept that true speculation is the estimate of future values, the seasoned traders and the insiders bought at low prices and are quite willing to unload when the good news is out. The enthusiasm of the public, stimulated by the front-page news stories, conveniently furnishes the demand for the sellers.

FAIL TO SELD

In the recent rise in California Packing based on the reports of the merger with Postum Cereal, some of the advisory services instructed their clients to sell several days before the announcement was flashed that the deal was off. Those who followed instructions realized profits, but it is likely that the great majority hung on for a few more points, and lost. Since the terms of the deal were already known, good judgment called for profit-taking.

This well illustrates the axiom that "stocks are made to sell." The speculators familiar with the game are abiding by this rule when they sell on merger announcements or on any other good news, but the public usually has the idea that the new developments will be translated immediately into high earnings and high prices.

SEASONING REQUIRED

In the merger eras of the past, the market performance of the new securities clearly shows that this belief is a fallacy. It takes time for operations of consolidated companies to become adjusted to give full effect to the economies in view, and for the new securities to become seasoned marketwise. And then there is the matter of capitalization.

Industrial consolidations are usually capitalized partly on the expectations of future earnings. Sometimes business runs contrary to expectations, and these heavily capitalized industrials are compelled to cut dividends. Shortly after the consolidation that resulted in the United States Steel Corporation, the state of earnings forced a reduction in the dividend rate from 4 to 3½ per cent.

CHARACTER IS FACTOR

Lately a good many warnings have been issued against the securities of the new consolidations and of those offered by banking houses who purchased control from the "family companies." Predicated on similar financing in past merger eras, these warnings of excessive capitalization are justified, but only when promoters are behind the deals. The character of the interests behind the recent financing is the real point that the buyers of securities should study.

Most of the large deals of recent months are the work of reputable banking houses with established clienteles. It is hardly conceivable that these firms are endangering their future by offering their clients a security in a heavily capitalized company that will go sour as soon as business slows up. If this financing is really a repetition of the promoter's method of buying control and placing a fictitious value on assets, then the perpetrators deserve universal condemnation. Reputable banking houses, however, know that the penalty for this practice is the complete loss of confidence on the part of their clients, and very few of them are eager to pay the piper to this kind of a tune.

Nevertheless, the basis of an era of expansion is largely enthusiasm, and enthusiasm usually subordinates good judgment. In the long run, the public will make more money by disregarding the news of the hour and buying instead the seasoned securities that have demonstrated their investment merit.

London Daily Radio

BY ARTHUR W. KIDDY

BY WIRELESS—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

(Copyright, 1926, New York Evening Post, Inc.)

LONDON, Feb. 9. — In quiet markets today the strength of gilt-edged stocks provided the leading feature.

There is some puzzlement in the markets over the outlook for the stock and money markets in the United States, the general belief being that the American position is not really unwieldy at present. While some incline to the view that positions in the United States may be liquidated, others think a boom more probable with comparatively high money rates.

Moreover, an important unknown factor consists in the extent of the understanding between the central banks in a policy making for comfortable money rates.

Oils were inclined to improve.

Rubber shares were neglected.

Buoyancy continued in foreign stocks.

The financial supplement of the London Times has a striking article from its Melbourne correspondent stating that the tendency of Australian finance is regarded locally with even more concern than in London. The article adds that Australian business men are clamoring for economy.

The buoyancy of Brazils has clearly suggested preparations for a loan ere long, which, when it comes, it is believed, will affect both sides of the Atlantic.

The monthly clearing banks average figures for January show a decline of £10,000,000 in deposits for the month. January invariably shows a decrease, as a reaction from balance sheet operations of December 31, and as a result of the ingathering of taxes, but the decline a year ago was only £3,000,000.

COTTON AT OLD LEVEL AND QUIET

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—The cotton market was dull and lower today from the opening. With Liverpool spots and futures going off from their advance of yesterday and further liquidation in March contracts here of sufficient proportions to lower that month twenty points, incentive was lacking for any bullish activity.

The decline brought March down to near the 20-cent level. It caused a corresponding decline of 10 points in the other old-crop months of May and July, while the new-crop months went off only 5 points, only to advance later. Their strength was due to buying of October and December with those who were liquidating speculative holdings in March and May in transferring from the old-crop months to the new.

This action has been attracted by the wide difference prevailing between the old-crop months and October, December and January of the new-crop deliveries. May sold down to 19.50, July 18.92, October 18.15 and December 17.79. After this pressure against the near months subsided, there was a gradual rally on some profit-taking by shorts. This carried March back to 20.20, May 19.68, July 19, October 18.33 and December 17¾, after which there was not much change.

Foreign houses were again moderate sellers on balance. Outside business was light.

Southern spot markets were mostly unchanged with the movement of the crop continuing to show a steady decrease.

RAILROAD PLANS PROGRESS

Mergers Will Combine More Than 100 Lines Into Twelve or More Systems; Decision Awaited

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Recent adoption of plans to fuse the St. Louis-San Francisco and Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railways into a single system is another step toward discarding the tentative grouping proposals of the Interstate Commerce Commission's consolidation, which will remake the country's railroad map.

Negotiations are well advanced for combining more than 100 leading lines into a dozen or more great systems, most of which will have properties valued in excess of $1,000,000,000 and operate between 10,000 and 20,000 miles of track. Their completion awaits the formulation of a definite Congressional policy and the decision of the commission on the proposed $1,500,000,000 Nickel Plate unification.

CONTROL CHANGES

Plans have been quietly worked out which recognize financial and geographical relations and the normal flow of traffic. In some parts of the United States, such as the Southwest, the railroads have undergone a considerable shifting of control. In the Northwest little actual progress has been made toward linking the so-called granggers.

Developments indicate that seventeen large systems may eventually take their place in the general railroad scheme as compared with the nineteen originally suggested by the commission.

Five great railroads will span the eastern trunk line territory. Heading these systems will be the New York Central, Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Ohio and Nickel Plate railroads, which are now competing for the acquisition of the prosperous anthracite coal carriers.

SOUTHERN MAY DOMINATE

Little thought so far has been given to a grouping of the New England roads, but the present financial recovery of the New York, New Haven and Hartford, has indicated that it may eventually head a system embracing all the roads in that section of the country.

The creation of two great unified southern systems under the leadership of the Southern Railway and the Atlantic Coast Line will require merely a consolidation of the subsidiaries now controlled by the roads. Recent developments have indicated that plans are nearing completion for joining the Atlantic Coast Line and the Louisville and Nashville, known as the "Walters road," together with various tributaries. A third system probably will follow the suggestion of the Interstate Commerce Commission for a grouping of the Illinois Central, Seaboard Air Line, and Central of Georgia railways.

RIVALRY KEEN

The greatest upheaval in the railroad map of the country has taken place in the Southwest. In the regrouping of the roads, the Missouri Pacific took the initiative two years ago, building up a system of more than 12,000 miles through the acquisition of the Gulf Coast, International Great Northern and other lines.

Control of the Rock Island, only a few weeks ago was acquired by the St. Louis-San Francisco Railway, while the Cotton Belt previously was taken by L. F. Loree for amalgamation with the Kansas City Southern and Missouri, Kansas and Texas in what will probably be the smallest but most compact of the new roads as finally completed. The two great southwestern systems, which reach to the Pacific Coast—the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, and the Southern Pacific—apparently are content to expand more slowly, although the Southern Pacific more than a year ago annexed the El Paso and Southwestern to its lines.

A favorable consolidation law probably would bring about an early unification of several systems in the Northwest. One of these will be headed by the Union Pacific and most likely embrace the Chicago and Northwestern, its subsidiary the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha.

Another will include two and, perhaps, three of the Hill roads—the Northern Pacific, Great Northern and Burlington.

PART-PAY PLAN IS PROBLEM

Bankers Declared to Lean to Policy as to Investment, But Frown on Purchase of Luxuries

BY PAUL WILLARD GARRETT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1926, by N. Y. Evening Post, Inc.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Installment buying is not new in this country but not until the last year or two has it presented a somewhat ticklish problem to our bankers. Years ago our most thrifty citizens began to purchase homes, pianos, Victrolas, furniture, farm implements and washing machines on the deferred-payment plan but no questions were raised.

So rapidly has the practice been extended as an aid to the purchase of goods in the luxury or consumption class, however, that more than $2,000,000,000 annually now must be supplied by the captains of finance to swing the movement. No reasons occur for alarm at the moment. Ability to buy goods on the installment plan has helped the man in moderate circumstances to give his family comforts that formerly had been denied to them. Ability to sell goods in greater quantities, on the other hand, has stimulated prosperity in our industries. Over what has been done, bankers are not so much concerned. What does concern them is the extent to which the movement will grow and where it will lead us.

GOOD IF USED PROPERLY

Perhaps the best way to insure against an abuse of the credit instrument now so much under discussion, is through an understanding of what kinds of goods may and what may not safely be purchased or sold on an installment basis.

Goods that may be bought as investments perhaps may be safely bought on a sound deferred-payment plan, but those that fall in the category of pure luxury, perishable or consumption items, present a distinct problem. William Walker Orr, secretary of the New York Credit Men's Association, in the current issue of Acceptance Bulletin, thinks that almost any board of judges "would probably class clothes as an expense, repainting one's house as an expense, articles of personal adornment as an expense. They would certainly class a house as an investment, and if the house, then the more substantial items that make the house livable and a place of comfort and uplift. I think a piano, which is almost an essential in a house where the welfare and education of the children is the first thought would easily find a place in the investment list. I believe I could conscientiously argue for the inclusion of the automobile in the investment list, because the family car has to so large an extent rightly taken a worthy place in the life of the family."

On appeals for funds with which to purchase items of pure expense, bankers generally have turned their thumbs down so that the installment plan in its extended forms has not been allowed a free rein.

If, through campaigns of education, the people can be made to understand that the plan is good so long as they do not too heavily incumber their future income, the problem already will be half solved. Dealers likewise can protect themselves by adoption of conservative plans of payment. Apparently the banker must act somewhat in the role of a judge to indicate what is and what is not a proper use of the instrument.

The Chain Store System at its Best

THE Piggly Wiggly chain of cash grocery stores in Southern California has been, and is being, built upon the same principles and policies which have been instrumental in developing the various huge chains of grocery, drug, cigar and general merchandising stores, constituting the most remarkable of all merchandising successes.

Quantity buying, standard products, well-located stores, economy of floor space, attractive displays, quick service, savings to the consumer, strictly cash sales, and rapid turnovers of capital; all are factors in the growth and success of the Piggly Wiggly chain whose net sales last year totaled $7,164,741.80 from 47 stores with net profits of $338.79.

Add to the foregoing, ample capital, highly efficient management, and definite plans for opening 50 new stores this year (a number of which are already provided for), and you will recognize the very unusual possibilities of profit involved in the purchase of Class "A" Shares of this Company at the present price of $21.50 per share, subject to exceptionally liberal participating features in addition to an immediate yield of 7%.

DRY GOODS MEN HEAR ANGELENO

Mrs. Robert J. Burdette Gives Address Before Retailers' Parley

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—General prosperity throughout the country was reported today by delegates to the annual convention of the National Retail Drygoods Association.

G. H. Chaney, vice-president of the American Exchange Pacific National Bank, warned the convention, however, that installment selling and inflated credits are "threatening to convert the prosperity parade into a "joyride."

Asserting that installment selling had developed at an enormous rate, Mr. Chaney pointed out that more and more business is being based on the anticipation of future earning power instead of realized profits.

"How long can we keep up this idea of glorifying the American income? The truth is that many families are signing the dotted line and signing away their souls to the economic devil."

Mrs. Robert J. Burdette, California, honorary vice-president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, emphasized the importance of lessening the drudgering of housewives. Speaking on "building food will with the consumer," she said that merchants should provide utilities that decrease household work.

CAR LOADINGS FOR WEEK SHOW UPTURN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Loading of revenue freight for the week ended on January 30 totaled 925,263 cars, according to reports filed today by the carriers with the car service division of the American Railway Association. This was an increase of 27,895 cars over the corresponding week in 1925, but a decrease of 4360 cars under the corresponding week in 1924. The total for the week of January 30 was, however, an increase of 3529 cars over the preceding week, being reported in the total loading of all commodities except grain and grain products, coke, ore and miscellaneous freight, which showed slight decreases.

Gold pieces minted totaled $349,749,300; silver pieces aggregated $83,644,540, while the balance was in 1-cent copper pieces. Nearly 10,000,000 $20 gold pieces have been included in the total output.

Good News Again Factor in General Upturn on Market

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1926, by New York Evening Post, Inc.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—While patiently waiting the publication of the loan data gathered by the Federal Reserve Bank, which is expected some time toward the end of the week, the stock market today was more inclined to give consideration to the favorable developments in the news. Erratic fluctuations in the food shares and the fixing of the call money renewal rate at 5½ per cent, the highest since January 4, apparently were overshadowed by the unexpectedly good showing of American Can in its annual report and the belief that an early passage of the tax reduction measure is assured. Trading was largely professional, but constructive forces were again in command, despite the somewhat irregular appearance of the list. Led by American Can, industrial specialties were run up sharply, the coppers were responsive to the good news affecting that industry and the oils continued higher, influenced by the further spread of the advances in gasoline and other products. Rails showed a consistently strong undertone featured by a fresh spurt in Katy common to new high levels.

Can Features

Above 300 at last, American Can fulfilled the most sanguine hopes of those who have been identified with its movements market-wise for many months. The net advance of over 12 points, which carried the stock to record prices, was predicated on the annual report showing earnings at a record-breaking figure, with the balance for the common stock equivalent to $32.74 a share. Results were much better than most people had anticipated. Consensus of opinion had been that earnings would run between $29 and $30 a share. Stockholders approved the plan for readjustment of capitalization under which six new shares of $25 par will be given for each share of $100 par value now outstanding. It was not until the turn of the fourth hour that the stock crossed the 300 level, but the movement had been foreshadowed by the action of the new "when issued" share in the forenoon, when that issue touched 50, or the equivalent of 300 for the present stock. Shorts fought stubbornly to resist the forward movement during the greater part of the day, but subsequently were forced to cover hastily.

New Dodge Pool Reported

A new big 500,000 share pool was reported about ready to take hold of the Dodge issues for the direction of their destinies market-wise. Notwithstanding the strikingly satisfactory report made by the company for 1925 and the distinctly bright outlook for the current year, now that production facilities have been brought up to a point where demand can be satisfied, the stocks have been more or less neglected of late. Although they have been strongly supported, it is understood that organized effort has been lacking. A considerable amount of the A stock changed hands today within a comparatively narrow range and buying was reported for the account of the new pool which it is said, has the backing of banking interests identified with the company. The probable objective of the new group has not been mentioned and there is some question on whether its purpose is merely to support the issue or take it up aggressively.

Coppers Move Forward

Coppers in particular and the metal shares in general, were responsive to the announcement by the leaders in the red metal industry that a new association for the handling of copper for export was in the process of formation and nearing completion. It has long been recognized that a medium for the marketing of copper abroad was essential to the continued improvement of conditions in the industry. The prospect for an increase in foreign demand, generated through the new association, is considered bright and talk is current to the effect that the movement will do much to stabilize copper prices above the 15c level. Coppers as a group were among the strongest stocks of the day, with demand aggressive and several issues attaining new tops for the year. Anaconda and Kennecott were the leaders, both going through their previous high levels. American Metals, Butte and Superior and Chile Copper also closely approached their high levels.

Food Shares Erratic

Wide swings were the rule in the food stocks, several of which were hammered down to new low levels for the reaction, under pressure of further heavy selling. The movement converged primarily on Ward Baking B which, at its low level, showed a net loss of almost 9 points. Intermittent rallies occurred as speculators for the decline sought to cash on profits on the long side, but the main tendency was strongly downward. California Packing, after opening up more than a point up, was forced back sharply to new low levels for the move and Postum fluctuated erratically below the closing levels of the previous day. The general market, however, was inclined to ignore the continued weakness in that group, regarding it as a condition brought about by developments affecting only that class.

Specialities Advance

Operations for the advance were resumed in a vigorous way in a number of the specialities. Most impressive, however, was the buying in Allied Chemical and Dye which, together with Texas Gulf Sulphur, was in new high ground. Buying in Chemical was attributed to one of the strongest banking groups in the financial district. The bank was reported to have become interested in the possibilities of the company a little more than a year ago and in recent months has been adding extensively to its holdings.

Harvey System Buys Property in Grand Canyon

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Feb. 9.—The Harvey system of the Santa Fe Railroad made an important addition to its Grand Canyon holdings in the purchase here of the holding of William W. Bass, twenty-five miles west of El Tovar, the terminus of the Grand Canyon railway. The purchase includes ground and buildings on the canyon rim, the Bass Trail down into the gorge, several asbestos and copper mines and a cable ferry across the river leading to the Shinumo Trail, on which the North Rim may be reached.

The region is declared one of the most picturesque in the canyon, where the gorge narrows to seven miles and just under the Powell Plateau that towers to the northward fully 3000 feet above the southern rim. Halfway down is the Grand Scenic Divide, including a long tongue of land on which is Mystric Spring and from which the Colorado River may be seen for thirty miles. Expectation is expressed that the Santa Fe will make large improvements in the facilities afforded for tourists on the Bass Trail, the westernmost of those that start on the wooded plateau.

The Company's First Mortgage 7% Sinking Fund Gold Bonds due January 15, 1956 will be secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a first mortgage on all of the Company's hydro-electric plants including two new plants to be constructed and certain other additional properties. According to a recent appraisal, the sound value of the plants and equipment, which are to be security for this loan, will be in excess of $9,600,000, or over 2.4 times these $4,000,000 bonds.

In addition to the above security, fifteen counties of the Republic of Wuerttemberg, with a total population of 524,679 and an assessed valuation of $187,657,265, will be jointly and severally liable, in the opinion of counsel, for the payment of the principal and interest of this loan; the bonds will constitute a primary obligation of these counties, payable directly from taxation in the event that the revenues of the Company should ever be inadequate.

The Company agrees in the indenture securing these bonds that as long as any of the bonds are outstanding, it will not initiate or permit the establishment of rates which will be insufficient to produce annual net earnings equal to at least 1½ times the interest and sinking fund charges on its entire outstanding funded debt.

Reasons why California Street Improvement Bonds are the best investment—

No. 5

The Improvement Bond is greatly superior to the real estate mortgage.

The bond is for a much smaller fraction of the value of the property and automatically takes precedence over the mortgage even though the latter was a lien upon the property before the bond was issued. Your mortgage today becomes a second lien tomorrow by the issuing of the Street Improvement Bond.

The fact that the borrowing corporation controls more than 60 electric, gas, water, ice, street railway, and 40 oil producing, transporting, refining and marketing companies and that earnings are over 9 times interest charges, plus the fact that a strong sinking fund has been established, make this issue an outstanding value—with exceptional opportunity for appreciation.

BOND QUOTATIONS

Buying Selective

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Waning interest in railroad liens and a revival of activity in copper and oil issues were the contrasting features of today's irregular bond market. Firmer money rates resulting from the extensive calling of bank loans this week tended to restrict buying operations except where special developments were an influence.

The buying movement in local traction bonds, which has carried most of these issues to the highest levels in several years, seemed to have lost its force today. Buying orders continued to crop out here and there, accounting for a rise of more than 5 points in the long-neglected Twenty-third-street Railways 5s, the other bonds in this group were firm, but gains were limited.

Copper company obligations, after lagging behind the rest of the list, moved forward vigorously in response to the announcement that a new copper export association was being formed in an effort to stabilize foreign selling conditions. Chile Copper 6s advanced more than a point to a new top price for the year and a lively demand developed for Anacondas, American Smelting and Granby issues.

Additional price advances for crude and refined petroleum products, coupled with the favorable outlook for new mergers in the industry, kept interest alive in the oil bonds. Skelly convertible 6½s jumped 4 points and Sinclair 6s more than a point, with Pan American 6s and Superior Oil 7s also in demand.

Although several large bond issues are under negotiation for foreign and domestic corporations, only small offerings have been scheduled for tomorrow. These include $3,000,000 Tennessee Central twenty-one-year 6 per cent first mortgage bonds priced at 100 and interest, and $2,500,000 American Public Service Company sixteen-year 5s at 93.

Following are yesterday's high, low and closing prices of bonds on the New York Stock Exchange and the total of each bond.

NEW YORK CURB

Prices Recover

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—With the exception of the baking shares, which developed further weakness as a result of the Federal government's attempt to prevent the formation of huge combinations, stock prices made brisk recovery from recent heaviness in today's curb market. General Baking A broke 6 points to 64 and then rallied to 67½ and Continental Baking B showed a net loss of 1½ to 23 1-4.

Renewal of efforts to bring about resumption of anthracite mining stimulated the demand for the coal shares. Glen Alden advanced 4½ to 156. Lehigh Valley Coal moved up 1 3-8 to 41 7-8 and Lehigh Coal and Navigation showed a net gain of 2 3-4 at 115 3-4.

American Home Products Corporation stock was admitted to trading, selling between 26 3-4 and 27 1-4 as against the offering price of $26.50 a share. Other strong spots included Union Carbide, Foundation Company foreign, Sears Roebuck (new) and American Seating, the last named soaring 23 points to a new record high at 338.

Oils moved within rather narrow limits. Prairie Oil and Gas, Humble and Vacuum each sold at a point or so higher, but the other so-called Standard Oil shares showed little change. Chief interest in the low-priced issues centered in the establishment of a new 1926 high by Cardinal Petroleum. The Latin-American issues showed only minor changes.

Trading in the public utilities was rather quiet, with moderate gains in Buffalo, Niagara and Eastern and Electric Bond and Share as the only features.

Heavy Buying of American Can Leads to Rally

Renewal of Attack on Baking Issues Features

California Packing Drops as Sale Plan Fails

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Heavy buying of American Can, which soared 15 points to a new high record for all time at 304, rallied today's stock market after an early period of irregularity which was featured by the renewal of selling pressure against the so-called "food merger" stocks. Trading was again on a large scale, the day's sales running above 2,000,000 shares.

The recovery took place in the face of the highest call-money renewal rate since January 4. The stiffer call money rate was generally attributed to the apparent hesitancy of some country bankers in sending their surplus funds here for investment in the collateral loan market, because of the publication of brokerage loan figures showing that more than $3,500,000,000 had been employed here for that purpose at the end of January.

Strength of American Can reflected publication of the annual report, showing net income of $16,390,036, after charges and Federal taxes, equivalent after preferred dividends to $32.74 a share earned on the old common stock. This compares with $11,341,931, or $20.50 a share in 1924.

PACKING SLUMPS

California Packing opened at 155 and then broke to 148 1-2 in further reflection of the announcement that the Postum Cereal Company had withdrawn its bid of $185 a share for a majority interest in that company. Postum Cereal closed 2 points lower at 110 3-4 after selling as low as 108 1-2. Ward Baking B broke over 8 points to 60 7-8 and then rallied to 65. The A stock showed a net loss of 5 points at 180. New York Canners dropped 4 points to 74 1-4.

Formation of a new copper export association stimulated activity in the copper shares. American Smelting led the advance by climbing over 4 points to 142 1-2 and Anaconda, Calumet and Arizona, and Utah advanced a point or two.

Oils were under heavy accumulation with California Petroleum, Sinclair and Standard Oil of California in the forefront of the advance. Sulphur, sugar and leather stocks also gave good exhibitions of group strength.

Trading in the automotive issues was featured by a jump of over 5 points to a new high record at 50 5-8 by Motometer A, Hudson and Jordan each advancing a point.

SPECIALTIES UP

Strength of several specialties seemed to bear a close relation to values as disclosed by earnings statements for 1925. Revival of activity and strength in Loft, Inc., which advance of 2 5-8 points to 11, the highest price in years, follow publication of reports that 1925 sales exceed $8,000,000, a new high record. Other outstanding industrial strong spots included Allied Chemical, American Snuff, Electric Power, International Harvester, Eureka Vacuum, Morse, Jewel Tea, Market-street Railway prior preferred, Montana Power, National Lead, Remington Typewriter, Sloss Sheffield, Underwood Typewriter, United Cigar Stores, United States Cast Iron Pipe, United States Industrial Alcohol and United Fruit, all up 2 to nearly 6 points.

Heavy buying of "Katy" common, which crossed 47 to a new high record, and the strength of the anthracite carriers, were the only features of the rail list.

Commodity markets displayed a firmer tone. Cotton closed 4 points net lower to 6 points higher. Raw sugar advanced 1-32 cent a pound and coffee futures moved up 5 to 21 points.

Call money held steady at 5½ per cent, although outside loans were reported as low as 5. Banks are reported to have called about $25,000,000 additional in loans during the day. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchanges moved irregular to lower. Demand sterling eased slightly to around $4.86 and French francs sagged to a new low level for the year at 3.67 cents. The Canadian dollar went to a discount of 7-16 of 1 per cent, also a new 1926 low.

BUSINESS PHILOSOPHY

BY WILLIAM FEATHER

THE job is always interesting to the good workman.

Rich men never seem to be able to add up a column of figures correctly.

The trouble with committee work is that nobody does any work.

field with an initial production of 1000 barrels a day, the largest well to be completed in the Inglewood district since the close of the intense drilling campaign of last spring which ran the field's output up to 118,000 barrels a day in a few months.

Los Angeles No. 1-39 was drilled a little deeper than most wells in its immediate neighborhood, going to 2600 feet. It is on the north part of the lease, and is a second line well, being located about 400 feet from Los Angeles Investment No. 1-36 which is on the northeast line, and about half way between Los Angeles Investment No. 1-25 and Los Angeles Investment No. 1-40. Its unusually high rate of output is attributable partly to its depth, and partly to its location near the center of the field.

Pumpers Begin Flow

Much interest has been aroused among oil men in the Santa Maria district by the action of two wells on the property of the R. & G. Oil Syndicate, which have been pumping for several months, but in the past few days have developed a tendency to flow.

The R. & G. Syndicate, which is composed of the Riverside Portland Cement Company, and Earl Gilmore of the Gilmore Oil Company, has developed a good production on its Cat Canyon property, thirteen miles southeast of the town of Santa Maria, most of its wells being small pumpers. According to reports from the field the syndicate's No. 4 and No. 5 wells are producing about 300 barrels per day under their own pressure, from about 2700 feet. They are located about 300 feet apart.

Does 110 Barrels

The Union Oil Company's Trust well in the central part of the Rosecrans field which has been hanging fire for several months while the company has been trying to get an effective water shutoff, produced 110 barrels in eleven hours before sanding up, it was reported yesterday. The well seemed to be in a fair way to going on production regularly when the flow stopped. It will be cleaned out, and another production test made.

On Production Again

The Associated Oil Company, whose De Francis lease in the southeast end of the Rosecrans field was the scene of the largest wells in that field about a year ago, has brought its De Francis No. 4 back on production after working on it since last July. The well is now making 250 barrels a day from a depth of 4280 feet, having been redrilled from 3890 feet.

The Associated Oil Company reached a peak production on the De Francis lease of about 17,000 barrels a day, the highest per well per day output in the field. Production of this lease now is 1700 barrels per day.

Start Third Well

Breslin, Woodward & Sheedy, operating in the northwest extension of the Signal Hill field have started their third well in that area at Locust avenue and Thirty-sixth street. The well is being drilled by the Lloyd Adams Drilling Company.

Near Completion

The California Petroleum Corporation is drilling into the oil sand in its Marquis well in the northwest extension of the Signal Hill field. This well is located at Thirty-sixth street and Locust avenue. It set casing at 4300 feet.

Riz Third Well

Keck & McWhorter, Los Cerritos operators, whose No. 4 well at Locust avenue and Cameron Place blew in last Saturday, are rigging up their No. 3 well adjoining their No. 4, according to field reports. This syndicate has two other projects building derrick, one at Linden avenue and Thirty-sixth street, and one on Linden avenue near Thirty-seventh street.

U. C. Starts Course

The course in petroleum refining technology for oil engineers given at the University of California extension division starts tonight in Room 7, Woodbury Building and meets from 6 to 8.

METAL MARKETS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CLEVELAND, Feb. 9.—Daily Metal Trade today says: "Full finished sheets have been marked down 25 a ton to 4.40c for No. 22 gauge in the Mahoning Valley, following several weeks' effort on the part of large consumers in the automotive industry to buy at the level prevailing for the last quarter of 1925. Producers with little tonnage on books, in canvassing the Detroit district, made the new price, and business on the books of some makers at 4.50c is said to have been marked down to 4.40c. Other sheets prices are unchanged. Demand for pig iron is of moderate proportions and sales widely distributed. Semi-finished steel prices are firm and mill order books well filled. Western railroads are pressing rail mills for deliveries.

Wheat in Brisk Advance After Sharp Setback

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—Belated liquidation was on in the grain markets at the opening today, but the selling quickly ran its course, and with a better class of buying, grains rallied sharply. The close was about the top, with wheat 1¼@2¼c, corn 1@1⅝c, oats 1¼@1⅝c and rye ⅝@1¼c higher for the day. May wheat sold down to 1.68 at the start, or 10½c under the high of last week, only to rally to 1.71¾, and close at 1.70⅝@1.71¼, while July was 1.32@1.32¾. May corn dropped to 80¼ and was 81¼c at the close, with July 84⅝@84⅞. All deliveries of oats sold at a new low on the crop at the opening, with May at 40 and was 42@41⅞ at the close. July finished at 43⅞. May rye closed at 1.02⅝@1.03 and July at 1.04⅛.

Selling of wheat futures at the start was not of the impressive character of Monday, and while houses with foreign connections were active on that side, the offerings were readily absorbed by strong commission houses and by traders who were reinstating lines sold out on Monday, and by shorts. A big trade was on at 1.68 at the start, with the opening range 1.68⅞@1.68 on the May. The pit element were inclined to fight the rally until near the close, when a general short-covering movement got under way and made the upturn at the last.

Foreign wheat cables were mixed, with some indicating that the demand for cash wheat would improve considerably in the immediate future. There was talk of a liberal export business having been put through, but only 100,000 to 200,000 bushels were confirmed at the seaboard. The latter, however, is out of touch with the actual quantities being disposed of. Broomhall's international wheat review was construed as bearish, but had little effect, and in the main, the market continues to be dominated by speculative influences. Liverpool closed 2¼@2¾d lower, and is due 1¼@1½d higher tomorrow, based on the action of the Chicago market. Buenos Aires finished 3@2½c lower than Saturday.

There is a lack of subsoil moisture in the western third of Kansas, according to official reports, and the prospect of a crop scare getting under way before long, unless moisture is received, is having some influence, but it is still early in the season for the trade to talk damage. Flour sales by northwestern and southwestern mills were the best in some time, which was reflected in a better demand for cash wheat and firmer premiums.

Liquidation was on in corn and oats at the opening when the lowest prices of the day were made. All deliveries of oats sold at a new low on the crop, with buying of May and selling of July at 1c difference. Demand for cash oats here and in the West and Northwest were the best in a number of weeks, with shipping sales here of 200,000 bushels. Local short covering was a factor in making the late upturn in corn. Country offerings to arrive were limited. Shorts covered freely in rye, and there was no material pressure. May rye closed about 1½c under July, the widest difference of the season.

Liquidation by longs in lard, combined with lower prices for grains, forced prices down early. Good buying developed on the break, and with a rally in grains late in the day, values moved up. At the close, lard futures were at the best of the day, with net gains of 5@7½c. Short ribs closed 25c lower and bellies 5c lower. Cash trade generally was light.

REAL GOODNESS

If everybody always had Just what he wanted, who'd be bad?
'Twould be so easy to do right
There'd never be a Goop in sight!
It's when you're disappointed, mainly,
That shows how nice you are, most plainly!

BLAMES TROUBLE IN EAST ON CABLE TOLLS

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SHANGHAI, Feb. 9.—High Pacific cable tolls, which are preventing a news interchange between China and America and China and Britain, constitute the chief difficulty in the promotion of better relations, according to the opinion of Nicholas Roosevelt of the New York Times, in an address here today. Mr. Roosevelt declared that peace is largely dependent on better news facilities that will create a public understanding of Pacific problems and urged the various nations to immediately remedy the situation by settling the radio deadlock.

MINNIE FLYNN

by FRANCES MARION

THE CAST

MINNIE FLYNN, known to the screen as JUNE DAY, a petite, red-haired and pretty actress, struggling for fame in the movies, married to Billy MacNally, a butcher's boy.

MICHAEL FLYNN, her father, a nondescript plumber, who loves only his family and his work and knows neither.

"MA" FLYNN, Minnie's mother, the result of a correct-stricken marriage.

BILLY MacNALLY, Minnie's husband.

BEAUREGARD, a producer, to whom Art means Personality.

ELEANOR GRANT, ex-mistress of Beauregard, and traveling downward.

ALICIA ADAMS, extra girl with ambitions and few scruples.

GILBERT CARLTON, debonair clothes model who has reached to stardom, destined to be Minnie's leading man. Selfish, thoroughly commercial, and possessed of an absolute ego.

That evening Minnie would have gone home to sleep if there had been room for her. She and Nettie spent the night in a lower Broadway hotel.

This very hotel was responsible for another step in Minnie's upward climb. It was the most attractive bedroom Minnie had ever slept in. The wallpaper was blue and the coverlet on the brass bed was blue. The curtains were a blue figured cretonne, faded though still effective. A plain blue rug covered an inlaid polished floor.

Upon arising, Minnie opened the window and looked out over the roof tops. "Classy beds, aren't they," she remarked to Nettie when the latter turned over and rubbed her eyes. "I like blue in a bedroom, it sets off my hair. I was just thinking to myself that with all the money I make I ought to be living in a better place than Schultz's old rooming house."

"I should say you ought to."

"What I should have is an uptown place, an apartment. Somewhere I wouldn't be ashamed to ask the crowd at the studio. I wouldn't have them know the kind of a hole I am living in for anything in the world."

"I don't blame you, Min, with all of your money."

"I've just stayed in that place because of Billy, and he thinks it's nice because he doesn't know any better."

"Honest, Min, how you can stand for that stick-in-the-mud is more than I can see."

"Billy's not so bad, Nettie, he's just stubborn."

"Stubborn, rats! He's pig-headed. I wouldn't have him for a gift, and you, with all of your money, that could pick and choose—"

"The only thing I've got against Billy is that he just simply won't try to learn anything. You don't know how hard I've tried to teach Billy little things like saying 'I' instead of 'me,' and 'did' instead of 'done,' and not to eat with his knife, but switch his fork over from one hand to another. I've found it simple enough if only you put your mind to it."

Nettie grunted.

"I don't know why I ever took him away from that poor Madge Connors. She's still stuck on him."

"Let her have him then, Minnie—"

"Don't forget, Nettie, I ain't—I'm not the only one that's got money. Madge Connors's father can't live forever with that kidney trouble he's got. He's going to leave her a lot of money. I wouldn't be surprised if she invested it in Hesselman's. Billy mentioned the other night that she was in to see him about it. He says it's as safe as in a bank. Wanted me to put my money into it. Can you imagine, Net, doing a fool thing like that with my money?"

Nettie laughed scornfully. "Sounds crooked to me," she said. "What's his idea? He won't take little things from you, does he want to hog it all?"

Every one in her family except her father had urged her to leave Billy. But their attack resulted in fostering a protective feeling in her heart. She went back to Billy without protest after he had promised to move from their rooming house.

Minnie found an apartment on Ninety-seventh street between Broadway and Amsterdam avenue. She paid sixty-five dollars a month for it. It was a long, narrow, dark apartment, with small coffin-shaped rooms. The rear outlook was dingy yards webbed with clotheslines, but through the front room windows was a glimpse of more pretentious house fronts than Minnie had ever known. A negro, in faded spotted livery, stood in the entrance hall. He opened the door, operated the house telephone exchange and ran the elevator. To the Flynns, he was the very symbol of luxury.

When Minnie and Billy moved in, she asked Elsie and Pete to live with them. Minnie would have preferred Nettie, but the arrangements were made with Pete and Elsie because Elsie could cook and keep house, and Nettie had never learned to do either.

For the first two weeks, Elsie studied Minnie's appetites and tried to serve them. But when Pete kicked about the diet she forgot her obligations to Minnie and sought to please her husband.

Billy seemed no part of the household. He came home, sat silently through dinner, read the evening paper and went to bed, often long before Minnie.

"If Billy didn't look at me with eyes like a dog that's been hurt, I would clear right out and leave him flat," she confided to Elsie one night.

Elsie always thought that Pete would have a better hold on Minnie if Billy were out of the way. "That ain't a dog look," she retorted. "It's just rank stupidity. Billy hasn't got sense enough to get out of his own way. He sits around here all evening as unsociable as if you was nobody at all—hardly answering you when you talk to him. When I showed him your photo in the morning paper and the article about you bein' finished with your second picture, do you think that Billy MacNally read it? I should say not. He laid it over to one side and on my word of honor, he never picked it up again. Pete says he don't give a damn about you, that it's a lucky thing your own family loves you the way it does. Why, look at the way Billy acted tonight when Pete asked him to go down to shoot pool. Told him he could not afford to gamble with somebody else's money. Said it so insinuating as if he thought me and Pete didn't work like dogs for every cent we get."

Elsie had a terrible breath. When she got excited she always seemed to cough her words. Minnie drew away from her and went into her own room. She saw she had made a mistake having them there, but it was too late. Elsie served her purpose fairly well, and Pete was going to be of great use to her. Minnie was already looking at second-hand automobiles, and Pete, who had once driven a truck, was going to drive for her. She would buy him a uniform and a cap, and no one at the studio would know that he was her brother. The few who had been at her apartment had never seen Elsie and Pete, part of the arrangement was that they were to remain hidden in the background. Minnie gave them their board and Pete his spending money.

On the day that Minnie signed a year's contract with Beauregard for $250 a week she bought a large bright red second-hand Winton.

Minnie never forgot the thrill of driving to the studio in her own car, of her arrival before them all, or of the moment when Pete opened the door for her, stood aside, touched his fingers to his cap and said:

"Shall I wait, miss?"

PREMIER BRIAND GOES ON FRENCH 'DRY LIST'

PARIS, Feb. 9.—Another "dry" statesman in this land famous for its wines and liqueurs has been added to the already considerable list of prominent abstainers. Premier Briand, acting on his doctor's order, is no longer drinking wine or even coffee at his meals. Former Presidents Millerand and Poincare have long been "dry," as has "Old Father Victory," Georges Clemenceau, who came close to being an ex-President. Among the older politicians in France the cult of abstinence, at least from "hard liquor," has been gaining many adherents since the war.

HOLLYWOOD FOR UNION STATION

Commerce Chamber Rejects Railroads' Plan

Directors Are Unit Against Carriers' Plea

Iron Vote Suggestion is Up to Council

Fully rejecting the railroads' request for a resolution indorsing the carriers' plan for a chain of downtown elevated railways and for a union station, the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce, through unanimous action of its board of directors, received yesterday by the Railroad Commission, went on record as "strongly favoring a union passenger station."

The action of the Hollywood chamber is considered the severest of the many setbacks the railroads have received in their campaign to mold public opinion in favor of their plan. It was not opposed by those favoring the passenger depot, as ordered by the Railroad Commission and urged by the Interstate Commerce Commission. The testimony of carriers' witnesses before the Railroad Commission demonstrated that the railroads' plan would only long street-car rides, much transferring, and then two visits for Hollywood passengers desiring to reach the steamship trains.

THE "RUSH ACT"

The resolution of the board of directors of the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce set forth that the railroads and the Pacific Electric had "rushed the Hollywood organization" to the same kind of an indorsement as was given by the directors of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. Shannon Crandall, chairman of the Los Angeles chamber's transportation committee, testified on the stand at the Railroad Commission hearings that the indorsement was given after consideration by the directors of one hour and thirty minutes, during which time the directors and the railroad executives ate lunch together and then the resolution was adopted "because the railroads asked for it" and without hearing the other side.

REPORT ADOPTED

In the matter of request that the three steam railway lines and the Pacific Electric railway that the board adopt a resolution similar to that of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce with reference to a union passenger terminal, the committee respectfully recommends that the board take no action on the request except to adopt as the policy of the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce the following plan, which the committee believes will be the governing factor in any decision made by the Railroad Commission.

"1. That a union passenger station.

"2. That a decision on the union passenger station question should take into account as one of the most important factors the elimination of grade crossings in so far as great an extent and as economically as possible, and

"3. That any decision should be made after giving due consideration to its effect on the operation of trackage facilities of the railway systems with the terminal area of Los Angeles."

It was pointed out yesterday by officials of the union depot committee in recommending the indorsement of the engineers of the Railroad Commission considered one of the most important factors in determining this site is that it will permit of the future development of trackage facilities, as urged by the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce.

Railroads had made special efforts to obtain the support of the Hollywood section as a footstep from the City Council. Even the city's union delegates to the Railroad Commission hearings obtained from the railroads and the city-year franchises to the elevated railroads and the proposed as a substitute union passenger depot.

WHO THEY ARE

Some of the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce, which comprises a membership more than 1000 leading business men, committees and property owners of that section of the city, are H. Galloway, vice-president; A. Green, treasurer; Carl P.A. Hennessy, Gilbert H. Jones, Charles A. Rent, G. G.

WINS BOARD POST IN LIGHTNING SHIFT

CHAPPEL IS NEW BOARD SECRETARY

Civil Service Commission Makes Rapid Fire Change on Day of Examinations

An unusual, lightning-like shift in county offices took place yesterday when Sam J. Chappel became secretary of the County Civil Service Commission after taking a competitive examination for the post, receiving a grade as first on the list, winning the appointment and being recommended to the County Board of Supervisors for a rise in pay from the present salary of $300 a month to $400 for the post, all occurring within a few hours.

Mr. Chappel has been a member of the board for several years and was president until last Thursday, when he resigned. In that capacity the salary was $10 a meeting, with the meetings not to exceed five each month.

The selection of Mr. Chappel as secretary resulted in the removal of Mrs. Gussie Edwards as secretary, to which place she was appointed six months ago, lacking two days. During the first six months an appointee under civil service is on probation and can be removed without cause. This period would have expired on the 11th inst. in Mrs. Edwards's case.

In the change of secretaries, Mrs. Edwards was appointed chief clerk and assistant secretary to the commission. A. C. Malone of Long Beach succeeded Mr. Chappel as president of the commission.

Six entrants in the examination yesterday made passing grades. According to announcement, Mr. Chappel was first, Clifford W. Amsden, examiner of the commission, second; Mrs. Edwards third, Paul W. Brown fourth, W. A. Davis fifth and Charles S. Walbridge, secretary of the City Civil Service Commission, sixth.

The city limits of Terrance now extend to Redondo Beach.

DOWNS REVEALS SILENCE PRICE

Embezzlement Case Suspect Explains Charges

Acquitted in Baltimore on Similiar Counts

Mob Members Dog Steps to Demand Tribute

"It has been a nightmare seventeen years long and I am glad that it is all over now. They have killed the goose that laid the golden eggs and now I only hope that they are made to suffer with me."

This is what William F. Downs, former treasurer of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company of California, now in the hospital of the County Jail charged with having embezzled about $150,000 from the Goodyear Company, told Undersheriff Biscailuz yesterday when asked to explain charges made by him that blackmailers forced him to steal from the company that trusted him.

"When I was twenty-three years of age," continued Downs, "I held a minor office in the city government of Baltimore. I was very young and earning only $90 a month. A political upheaval came and the first thing that I knew I was under arrest on thirty counts of embezzlement. More than $66,000 was involved in the shortage in the city accounts and I was charged with it all.

ACQUITTED ON CHARGE

"For three months I lay in the Baltimore jail. The politicians made me the goat. I was tried five times. The first four trials resulted in hung juries. The last time I was acquitted. Then I went away and made up my mind to start all over again. I was still young and I wanted to make good.

"While in the Baltimore jail I was confined in a tank with a 'mob' of local bunko men and pickpockets. I came to know them pretty well during the long months that they held me there. When I got out I wanted to leave them all behind and I thought that I had. I had been found not guilty and believed that the world would give me a chance.

"With my father, I went into business in another eastern town. Before long members of the 'mob' that had been in jail with me looked me up. They demanded money, threatening that they would tell of my past to all of my new business friends. I paid.

"At last they drove me out of business and I left the city. In another eastern city I began all over again, but they found me again and it started all over. Again I paid and paid, but their demands became larger and larger and I was forced out once more.

"I went to Akron, O., and procured a position with the Goodyear company in 1916. The blackmailers did not know of my last move and were unable to find me. I thought that I had shaken them off. I never changed my name as a jury had branded the Baltimore charges as false, but I did not wish my past to trail me all over the county and to hang to me the rest of my life.

COMES TO LOS ANGELES

"In 1919 I came to Los Angeles. I gained promotion by virtue of hard work in the Goodyear Company and gave them the best that I had in me. I had the confidence of the gentlemen at the head of the organization and was looking forward to a bright future.

"On a street corner in Venice, where I was living with my wife, the blackmailers found me again. It was an accident. I had stopped at the corner to buy a paper when two men walked up to me and called my name. I denied my identity but they produced my picture and my record and the paying started all over again.

"As I went up in the Goodyear company the demands of the blackmailers grew. From $50 a month to $75. Then from $100 to $500 and as my salary increased their demands increased until it took $8000 a month to satisfy them. I couldn't pay and had to dip into the company funds. I thought that each demand would be the last and that I could make good to the company, but they never stopped asking for more.

"When I was appointed treasurer just three months ago the blackmailers increased their demands to $10,000 a month. I was unable to pay and they were just about to close in on me when the crash came. I was questioned by the company officials and knew the game was up. Then I was stricken and forced to bed by my illness. I am glad that it is all over and I only hope that the men involved are arrested with me. They forced me into what I have done when I was trying so hard to make good."

After hearing Downs's story Mr.

Among the features that most held the attention of the audience at the second evening session of the Los Angeles National Horse Show at the Ambassador Auditorium last night were the jumping event and the exhibitions of women riders and drivers.

The pace, both for exhibitions and interest, which was set on the opening night of the show Monday was maintained last night. There was a large attendance, and the events of the evening were rather more exciting than those of the opening night.

One spill, not serious, marked the jumping event, which opened the evening program. This event was watched with enthusiastic interest by the crowd, which was intensified when Royal Flyer and Cricket "jumped it off" for first place.

LEGAL FIGHT SPURS BORE TRACK WORK

Crews Rush Construction in Broadway Tunnel While Court Attack Grows

With legal attacks impending against the use of the Broadway tunnel by the Los Angeles Railway while work is being done on the new City Hall, workmen last night were laboring at top speed to complete the track. The trolley wires were strung, the steel laid and a large part of the trackage ballasted. Beyond the north end of the bore, for a distance of 100 feet to Sunset Boulevard, however, no work has been done.

Another gun in the court battle over the laying of the tracks was fired yesterday when Madeline F. Wills filed a suit in the Superior Court for a permanent injunction restraining the railway company from using the tunnel. Miss Wills also asked a permanent injunction restraining the City Council from granting a franchise to the traction company permitting tracks through the tunnel.

The suit was filed in intervention in a similar action started last week by John W. Arnold. The first court hearing of the case is scheduled for today in Judge Shaw's court.

Miss Wills reiterated charges made by Arnold that the City Council had granted a temporary permit with the understanding that later the franchise was to be granted.

Early in 1899, Miss Wills said, she and her mother, Charlotte L. Wills, and her brother, William Lemoyne Wills, executed a grant deed to the city providing for the construction of the tunnel. Miss Wills said the right to bore the tunnel was given the city with the

THE vigilantes were loose yesterday in Los Angeles.

However, as they confined their activities to the campus of the Southern Branch, University of California, no one suffered—except some 300 or 400 incoming freshmen at the Vermont-street institution of learning.

The vigilantes, it might be well to state, are known to the faculty as sophomores, but to the new peagreen freshmen yesterday they were strictly vigilantes, as they styled themselves. There were girl vigilantes and boy vigilantes, the boys dressing in overalls and the girls in knickers thereby to have more freedom of action to harass the newcomers.

It was no unusual sight, therefore, to see squads of freshies rolling peanuts on the concrete walks with their noses, or scrubbing the same. Another familiar method of torture was to make a freshman propose to the first girl he met on the campus, falling on his knees and doing the honors in most picturesque style. Ducklings in the fish pond were numerous.

Supreme discomfort was inflicted on several first-year youngsters by sophomore girls with bows and arrows. Imagine being placed in front of a target with an apple on your head while several girls that you had a right to suspect were only fair archers, to be literal, aimed in your general direction. Although their education is still incomplete, the freshmen knew that William Tell has been dead a long time. However, they lived through it and promised to be better boys on the morrow.

JUDGE FLIES IN FACE OF HOODOO

Crail, Thirteenth Child, Born on Thirteenth, Proposed on Thirteenth, Lived in California Thirteen Years, Picks Thirteenth Superior Court Department

The unlucky thirteen holds no terrors for Judge Crail of the Superior Court, he revealed yesterday when he selected Department Thirteen over which to preside this year.

"Thirteen has always been lucky to me," said the judge. I was the thirteenth child born into our family. On the thirteenth of the month I volunteered to serve as a soldier in the Spanish-American War, and I served exactly thirteen months.

"On the thirteenth of the month my sweetheart promised to marry me, and she did. We lived a happy married life in Iowa for thirteen years, and then we were lucky enough to come to California. That was in 1913. Since then we have lived another cycle of thirteen happy years of married life in Los Angeles. We are starting in on another happy cycle of thirteen years, and I hope there will me many more of them.

"I was notified of my appointment to the Superior Court on the 13th of December, and Department 13, which I now occupy, is one of the best of the civil departments, in my opinion. I know not what others may say, but as for me, give me thirteens—or give me nothing."

EDUCATION PAYS

Students Earn Large Sums in Christmas Vacation

During the Christmas vacation 3636 public-school students earned a total of $76,086, an average of $21 each, in various occupations, according to a report to the superintendent's office filed yesterday by Miss Monette O. Todd, supervisor of salesmanship for the Board of Education.

Some of the boys earned as high as $60 a week cutting and preparing poinsettias for market. Other boys formed partnerships, went into the hills and gathered materials for making wreaths, and then sold their product from house to house. Some of these boys made as high as $50 a week during the two weeks of the vacation.

Packing boxes of candy for an oil company was one of the unusual occupations that employed both boys and girls. One high-school girl made $20 as trumpeter for the floral fiesta at Pasadena. Some of the younger boys equipped boxes and embarked as professional shoe shiners; these reported higher earnings than would have been paid them as messengers.

Among the other activities were girls and boys who gave exhibitions of dancing at Christmas festivals; worked in the films; as manicure and marcel operators in beauty parlors; as elevadores and fishermen; checkers on piece work in factories. One senior high-school boy worked in a cosmetic laboratory, using his knowledge of chemistry. He has continued this work after school hours since vacation.

The report shows that 275 more students were employed in December of last year than in any previous year. The earnings were possible because the vacation period began ten days before Christmas when the demand for temporary help was at the peak.

Among the 782 organizations employing students were the department and other stores, postoffice, newspapers, offices, printing shops, Christmas-tree dealers and makers of holiday novelties.

The senior high schools contributed 2797 students whose earnings totaled $65,806, junior high schools, 837 students who earned $10,279, and 140 boys and girls from the seventh and eighth grades who were paid $1371.

MOVE BEGUN TO PUSH AIR TRADE

Group Plans State Survey of Possibilities

Passenger, Freight and Mail Expansion Sought

Development Association Sponsors Drive

Taking the initial step in a program for hastening commercial aviation in California, a group of air experts and business men, acting under the auspices of the California Development Association, yesterday decided on the immediate inauguration of a State-wide survey of the possibilities for such development at a meeting conducted at the Alexandria.

The meeting, which was presided over by William M. Garland of Los Angeles, first vice-president of the California Development Association, was the first State-wide meeting of this character ever conducted in California. It was called by the association at the request of the Western Aero League of Glendale.

ANOTHER MEETING PLANNED

Another meeting devoted to the same subject and to be called by Mr. Garland will take place within the next few weeks, when the survey decided on yesterday has progressed to a point where it is possible to formulate a more definite program. The subject of the promotion of commercial aviation in this State will also come up for extensive discussion at the next meeting of the board of directors of the California Development Association, to take place at Riverside on the 25th inst.

Yesterday's meeting was devoted entirely to a general discussion of plans for the establishment of an air service in California capable of handling all classes of transportation, including passenger, mail and freight. It was pointed out that aircraft by this time have been developed to a point where aerial transportation for all purposes is as practicable as is transportation by other types of carrier.

It was further brought out that, so far as California is concerned, one of the chief problems to solve in the establishment of an air service is the lack here of adequate landing fields. This is one of the principal matters to be considered during the survey.

FIELDS TOO DISTANT

It was stated that there seems to be a tendency in such California cities as have made any move in the direction of establishing landing fields to provide for these at so great a distance from the center of the city as to impair the advantages of air service. As an illustration, a certain city was mentioned whose landing field for the transcontinental air mail is so far out that it takes two hours for the mail to reach the city by land transportation after the mail plane has brought it from the Atlantic by air in only thirty-four hours. The plans to be adopted for the air service will stress the importance of locating landing fields as near the municipal center as possible.

Those in attendance at the meeting included Maj. C. C. GET UNIVERSITY SITE TITLE

California Regents Receive Papers for Southern Branch Location and Listen to Protests

Title to the new site for the University of California, Southern Branch, in the Beverly Hills-Westwood section, was transferred yesterday to the Board of Regents of the university at a meeting in San Francisco. The formal exercises of the transfer and acceptance will be conducted on the new Southern Branch site Tuesday afternoon.

The transfer of the title yesterday was made necessary by the legal technicalities, which require that the title must be recorded by March 1 if the university is to escape payment of $44,000 in taxes on the property.

A number of protests from Southern California organizations against the acceptance were read at the meeting of the regents. In these, it was stated that a promise had been made to obtain 200 acres of land adjacent to the university site proper for agricultural education purposes. There has been no progress in obtaining this agricultural land, the protests stated.

In explanation, the regents issued the following statement:

"At the time the Westwood site for the Southern Branch was selected, it was understood 200 acres of land for agricultural purposes were to be obtained. Negotiations for such an amount of land from the National Military Home at Sawtelle are under way, but in case this land is not obtained, the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors has adopted a resolution pledging itself to submit to the voters of that county a bond issue for the purchase of 200 acres adjoining the Westwood site for the purposes of agricultural instruction."

In the meantime, details of the founders' day celebration here rapidly are being completed. The ceremonies will revolve about Gov. Richardson, President Campbell of the University of California, and Dr. Moore, director of the Southern Branch. Gov. Richardson will accept the deed for the site in behalf of the regents. Actual building operations will begin within ten days after acceptance of the deed. Students at the branch also will participate in the ceremonies.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

IF YOU want to know who won the war, ask your barber.

Ask him from whom he buys his razors.

Or ask the men who keep the small novelty shops or the 5 and 10-cent stores.

Or ask the men who formerly made ship models why they are finding other jobs.

THE WINNER

At every industrial frontier the sentries challenge, "Who comes there?"

And the answer is "Germany."

EASY MONEY

The children of the children who are now being born in America are going to have a tough time.

These easy-money days are not going to last forever.

When a more strenuous period comes it will come to a people who are undisciplined; and who have been brought up to wasteful profligacy; to slipshod methods. . . .

And they are not going to enjoy very much what is going to happen to them.

DISCIPLINE

There is no magic or mystery in Germany's conquest of the world. . . .

No mystery why Germany is the only country in the world which has been able to force Hollywood picture producers to come to terms.

THE DYE MAKERS

I remember once having interviewed a great German dye magnate in Frankfort. His name was Baron Weinburg.

"No country permanently can take away from Germany the dominance in dyes," he said. No other country has the persistence."

He said that in his dye factory 500 chemists had been experimenting with coal-tar by-products for forty years.

"If five of those 500 chemists ever discover anything of importance, from the time they go to work as college graduates until they retire on old-age pensions, we are satisfied."

THE BUTTER SIDE

Some day America will pay bitterly for these hordes of hobos, of idlers, of criminals, of boys looking for the butter side of the bread.

Just now this country has all the money in the world. But a cultivated appetite for cream is disastrous in the long run.

WASTE!

The waste of American life is terrific.

The garbage cans of Los Angeles contain enough good food to support some of the small cities of Europe.

But it isn't the Hollywood regal complex, nor the silk stockings of the flappers that America will have to pay for in the end.

What is sure to bring about the day of sorrowful reckoning is the growing attitude of the flappers (of both sexes) toward work.

They have grown up with a settled determination not to do any kind of work; nor to live any kind of life that is personally unpleasant or disagreeable. It is the revolt against ordered, hard discipline that will be paid for.

WITNESS DENIES CONTRADICTION

Petticoat Will Testimony Attacked by Sterry

Different Incidents Cited, Mrs. Higgins Asserts

Insists Signature Made Was Two Single Crosses

Comparison was chosen yesterday by Attorney Norman Sterry as the weapon he would use in the legal tourney over the probate of the petticoat will of George W. Hazeltine died, witness to the execond week before a jury in Judge Willis's court.

His point of attack was the testimony of Mrs. Madaline Higgins, matron of the rest home where Nazeltine died, witness to the execution of the will, beneficiary therein to the extent of $10,000 and one of the principal witnesses.

Sterry compared the testimony offered by Mrs. Higgins yesterday with that given by her last October when she made a deposition in preliminary proceedings.

EXPLAINS STATEMENTS

"What did Mr. Hazeltine say to you about his attorneys between the time the will was written and the time he died?" Attorney Sterry asked.

"I asked him if he wanted to see them and he said no, that he did not want to talk," Mrs. Higgins replied.

Then Attorney Sterry called for the deposition and read a passage wherein Mrs. Higgins had made the following reply to the same question:

"A little while after we had written what he wanted, he asked me, 'Has my lawyer come yet?' And just to quiet him I said, 'He is on the way.'"

"And now which answer is correct?" Sterry demanded.

"Both were correct," Mrs. Hazeltine said. "We mentioned his attorneys in two different conversations," she explained.

DIDN'T KNOW OF WEALTH

Mrs. Higgins said she did not know he was wealthy and that she did not place much importance upon his will, regarding it more as the whim of a sick old man than as a document of importance.

"But didn't you suggest that he endow a new rest home or hospital?" Sterry asked.

"Yes," Mrs. Higgins admitted. "That is often done by persons who die in hospitals."

She was positive that Hazeltine had made only two marks to each of the two crosses that proponents of the petticoat will hold evidence his assent to its provisions. Handwriting experts have testified there are four marks to each cross, one pair superimposed upon another.

Attorney Sterry is counsel for Dell Schweitzer and Frank S. Hutton, attorneys for Hazeltine, who are the residuary legatees under a previous will.

VICTIM OF CUPID'S COUNT INFURIATED

Miss Louise Steele

GIRL HELD AS PEACE DISTURBER

Victim in Asserted Jilting Arrested on Complaint of Man in Case

Charged with disturbing the peace at the home of a man she says was formerly her sweetheart, Miss Louise Steele, 23 years of age, a member of a prominent and well-to-do Kentucky family, was at liberty on bail yesterday awaiting a hearing in the Municipal Court.

Miss Steele, who resides at 670 Shatto Place, and who is said to be a niece of J. Hall Woodford of Lexington, Ky., a wealthy landowner, politician and breeder of blooded horses, was arrested by Patrolmen Rush and Saurer of the Wilshire Division when she was found, according to the officers, garbed in scanty attire on the front porch of the home of W. B. Mullin, 4534 West Eighteenth street.

Crazed, she asserted, because Mullin jilted her after promise of marriage, she told the police, she went to his home "to get even with him." According to Mullin, Miss Steele, when refused admittance to his home, became infuriated, tried to break through the front door, tore screens from windows and created considerable disturbance in the neighborhood.

Miss Steele was taken to the City Jail after Mullin told the officers he would swear to a complaint against the young woman. She was later released when a friend deposited $100 bail for her. Both Miss Steele and her attorney, T. J. K. MacGowan, declined to discuss her arrest when seen yesterday. Mullin could not be reached for a statement.

The young woman came to Los Angeles from Lexington about two years ago and has worked here as a stenographer.

Biscailuz detailed Deputy Sheriffs Heller and Johnson to make a complete investigation and supplied them with all the information given him by Downs. The officials declined to state if the prisoner had named the men who blackmailed him for years but declared that they had several clews and proposed investigating the matter from every angle.

In the meantime new dispatches from Baltimore confirmed Downs's story of his arrest there. The history of his case shows that Downs, known to the bright lights of Baltimore as Willie, sported a number of automobiles, a race horse and lived on the fat of the land on $800 a year for some time. Then came the crash and his arrest. A number of other city officials were said to be involved, but Downs was the only one tried. He was acquitted after months in court and then left the city. All of the court records were stolen following the trials.

Investigations made of Downs's activities here, according to the officials, show that he lived in a huge home at 5115 West Boulevard, supported a large automobile and was much seen about the local cafes and bright spots both in this city and at beach resorts. He was known for the large tips which he always gave hangers-on and waiters. Officers following his trail say they have found where Downs was the host at numbers of gay parties and payed for the fun with stolen money.

Downs was taken into custody from his home Monday evening. He was removed from a sick bed and taken to the prison hospital. The complaint against him was sworn to by Goodyear officials who had made a long investigation and a complete check of his books before they took action.

Attorneys for the Goodyear company announced following the arrest that the company is protected against all loss by heavy bonds in three surety companies.

COUPLE ARRESTED ON BAD-CHECK CHARGE

A bunko scheme in which five keepers of boarding-houses lost varying sums in the neighborhood of $40 each was attributed yesterday to William L. Clark and his wife, Mrs. Emma Clark, who were held to answer forgery charges by Municipal Judge Ballard. The scheme of the pair, it was asserted, was to rent a room and tender a $50 check in payment, getting the change. In the five cases, it was asserted the check proved uncashable. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Heinecke was the prosecutor.

Detzer, E. F. Bogardus, former president of the Los Angeles Board of Public Utilities; Parker V. Foster, William S. Holman, Mrs. Burdette H. Norton, M. F. Palmer, Herbert Scholfield and Rodney S. Sprigg. The members of the chamber's transportation committee are E. F. Bogardus, chairman; Seward Cole, George Dunlop, George A. Green, J. F. Mead, Dr. E. O. Palmer, and C. E. Toberman.

Members of the board of directors and of the transportation committee said yesterday that the action of the board and the committee in not designating its preference for a location for the union passenger railroad station was based on the belief that the location is an engineering problem that should be left to the Railroad Commission and its engineers for a decision. The commission's engineers decided after five years' investigation that the Plaza area is the logical location for the depot, and this decision was indorsed by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

STRAW VOTE ON DEPOT SITE SUGGESTED

A proposal by Councilman Shaw that the people be given an opportunity to vote at the April 26 special election on the location of a union passenger terminal was introduced in the Council yesterday and referred to the committee of the whole for consideration.

The resolution proposed that the City Attorney draft the following to go on the ballot: "Shall the union passenger terminal be located north of First street?"

Councilman Hall seconded the resolution, and, after some discussion, the matter was referred to the committee of the whole. President Workman was unable to fix a date for the meeting of the committee, as business interferes with the hearing this week. This committee has before it several other matters in connection with the union terminal fight.

Councilman Barnes said he favors the submission of the matter to the people, but suggested that it be at a later date. Councilman Hall, in seconding the resolution, said he favors instructions to the City Attorney to abandon the fight before the State Railroad Commission for the Plaza terminal pending the expression of the city voters. President Workman, Councilman Barnes, Councilman Colden and others said they opposed that move and were against giving up a fight now which the city has pursued for ten years.

Councilman Moore suggested that the matter be submitted to the people next autumn, because by that time the commission would have reached some determination and the electorate would then have obtained more information on the matter. Mr. Jacobson said that an early vote would not be intelligently given.

ENGINEERS WILL HEAR DEPOT DEBATE TONIGHT

"The Union Terminal Plans for Los Angeles," is scheduled to be the subject of a technical discussion at the regular dinner meeting to be held tonight at the Elite Cafe, by the Los Angeles Section, American Society of Civil Engineers. Samuel Starrow, member of the society, will speak on "The Plaza Plan;" D. W. Pontius, vice-president and general manager of the Pacific Electric Railway, will speak on "The Central Station Plan," and H. L. Miller will discuss "The Daum Plan."

RAIL PLAN DENOUNCED BEFORE CITY PLANNERS

The effort of the railroads and the Pacific Electric Railway to jam through the City Council a makeshift rapid-transit plan so that the Council could then grant the carriers' applications for forty-year franchises for elevated structures and foot bridges proposed by them as a substitute for a union passenger depot was denounced by Samuel Storrow, consulting engineer, before the City Planning Association at its meeting last night at the City Club.

"Their plan rejected by the Railroad Commission and the Interstate Commerce Commission, the railroads," said Mr. Storrow, "are now starting their fight against a union depot all over again by asking the City Council for forty-year franchises. Discovering that the charter prohibits the Council from granting these franchises until a rapid-transit plan is adopted, the railroads are trying to rush through any kind of a plan so that they can get their franchises. You see the scheme?"

Evidently the members of the City Planning Association saw it, for a resolution recommending as the city's rapid-transit plan a bare outline of subways in the downtown district, recommended by Herbert J. Goudge, an officer of the railroads' "Business Men's Association," scheduled to be voted on last night was not even moved or seconded after Mr. Storrow's speech and no action was taken on it.

Secretary Anthony Pratt of the Municipal League also opposed hurried action on the city's rapid-transit plan, recommending that the City Council's original plan of working with an advisory committee of fifty citizens on preparing the city's plan be adhered to.

SETBACK TO ROADS

The campaign of the railroads and the Pacific Electric to secure resolutions of indorsement of their antiunion railroad passenger depot plan from communities outside of Los Angeles struck a snag yesterday when the Ontario Chamber of Commerce declined to adopt one of the railroad's prepared resolutions.

After listening to employees of the railroads tell of their plan for bringing the railroads and the Pacific Electric over trestles into separate stations in Los Angeles, the dirtcaors of the Ontario Chamber of Commerce yesterday went on record to the effect that "since the location of the proposed depot was a matter of interest chiefly to the city of Los Angeles, the directors would take no action on the matter." The directors said that they favored the elimination of grade crossings.

The couple were married last Thursday afternoon by Rev. Neal Dodd at the Church of St. Mary of the Angels and are sojourning at the Hollywood Plaza Hotel, where they will remain until June. The bride has just finished a long-term contract at the Fox studios. She plans to play in one or more pictures before summer, when she will retire from the screen and go east with her husband. to his left knee but insisted on remounting, amid the cheers of the crowd, and rode Cricket to take the second place award.

Miss Anna Beckley won the applause of the crowd by her appearance riding On Time in the jumping event. Miss Beckley rode side-saddle, and the occasion caused experts present to forecast that the side-saddle will return to favor.

GAITED HORSES

Two leading events of the evening program were the judging of the saddle horses, five-gaited, for a $500 stake, and of the saddle horses, three gaited, for the Globe Ice Cream Company stake of $500. The former event was won by Lovey Lou, entered by Mrs. W. P. Roth, and the latter by Nancy Highland, entered by Miss Maude Fawn Banks.

The single heavy harness horses event, with the trim rigs and a number of women drivers, was among the most colorful of the evening. In this, Mrs. W. P. Roth of San Francisco, Mrs. A. C. Thompson of Chicago, Miss Jean Browne Scott of Philadelphia and Mrs. Maurice DeMond of Los Angeles drove.

The exhibition of Easter Star, Elizabeth Greis and Nancy Highland, scheduled for last night, was postponed until Saturday evening.

GUESTS AT SUPPER

Following the show last night exhibitors and officials presiding at the show were guests of the officers and directors of the Los Angeles National Horse Show at a supper given in the Cocoanut Grove at the Ambassador. W. W. Mines, president of the show, officiated and had charge of the arrangements. About 150 persons were present. The supper is an annual custom and is given to promote a feeling of fellowship among those who participate in the show.

There will be both afternoon and evening sessions of the horse show today.

Company Plans to Erect $1,000,000 Structures on New Thirty-Acre Site

Plans for the construction of a new 1,000,000 plant are being completed by the Union Iron Works Company of Los Angeles, it was learned yesterday.

The plant will cover a thirty-acre tract in the Bandini industrial district and will more than double the capacity of the Union Iron Works in its present factory at 5125 Santa Fe avenue.

H. G. Miller, president of the Union Iron Works, admitted last night that negotiations have been completed with F. G. Grahams, president of the Laguna Maywood Land Company, for the purchase of a tract of land on the east side of Atlantic Boulevard.

The vicinity of the Union Iron Works tract is occupied by some of the largest industrial plants in Southern California. The Los Angeles Gas and Electric Company, the Central Manufacturing Company and the Union Pacific Railroad have plants there.

Chippendale, the brothers Adam, Sir Christopher Wren, and many others of that brilliant school whose impress is still felt upon the architecture and the art of our time were proud to be admitted by the plasterers of their day into this ancient and honourable guild.

GOOD plastering, through all the ages recognized as one of the most important of the building arts, is today more important than ever.

Modern good taste demands simplicity in the home, fewer pictures, less ornate hangings, and wide, restful sweeps of smooth, clean surfaces.

And it is in these walls that perfection is most essential; it is here that flaws, even the smallest, are most conspicuous.

Your plasterer appreciates the importance of his contribution to your home; he is anxious to do his work well, in order that through all the years to come your home may be a source of satisfaction to you.

He will gladly give you the benefit of his experience and his traditions, if you but coöperate with him, and reserve from your building budget the ten or twelve per cent which will permit him to give you the most priceless thing you can build into your home—Good Plastering.

["You Get What You Pay for in Plastering"]

When, after months of waiting, your home is finished and your furnishings are installed, and you finally "move in," let it be with the consciousness that your home is really complete—all that you can desire it to be.

Nothing will contribute more to this result that the everlasting beauty of good plastering. It is one of the first things you will notice; one of the first things visiting friends will admire, if it is perfect.

Good plastering lends perfection to 90 per cent of all your home that is visible. Good plastering insures lifetime service. Yet, of all the four major operations which go into the building of a home, good plastering costs the least.

This is one of a series of advertisements on the importance of Good Plastering, published by the Blue Diamond Company solely in the interest of the building public. The entire series of plastering—(not what materials you should buy—whom you should hire—but WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT PLASTERING)—has been published as interesting illustrated booklets which we will gladly be first to present. YESTERDAY MORNING

CONCERT GIVEN BY APARTMENT

Los Altos Homes Present Fourteen Artists

Salvation Army Band Plays Brief Program

All Handled by Requests for Bridge Games

BY PAUL SHEEDY

The Los Altos Apartment Homes, a recent structure at Wilshire boulevard and Bronson avenue, presented an excellent program from the tower studio last night from 8 until 10 o'clock, presenting a group of fourteen prominent radio artists in honor of the individually owned apartments, now being completed. The musical program was devoted to vocal and instrumental selections particularly appropriate to homes. The instrumental portion of the program was given by the talented Los Altos Sextet, directed by Leon Chiberg, violinist, with the Brown Four, male quartet, and Helen Killian, the studio's favorite contralto, giving a group of vocal numbers. Jennie Durham, strumming of the ukulele, and Mrs. Elsie Elston, piano-accordion player, rendered a list of excellent numbers.

MISS KILLIAN SINGS

A different feature was given to Tuesday evening's broadcast by the Salvation Army, under the direction of Ensign Reid from the local headquarters in a brief program, with Mrs. Ruthchen Muller, soprano soloist, and Hazel Roberts, violinist, as soloists. They preceded the Army hall on American history talk by Prof. Walter Sylvester Hertzog, radio historian.

Miss Killian also sang several selections on the children's bedtime program, where she is known as the "lullaby lady," appearing after little Charles Leslie Lyons, juvenile reader, known as "the boy," who again entertains the lads and lassies, after their almost due to a slight illness.

The shrill whistle marking the beginning of their weekly visit to the land of the Radio Fairies sounds. Uncle John the kindly old gentleman embarked on his airplane, which mortals call dragonfly, and quickly flew to the fairy spot in fairyland where the fairy queen had promised he should visit this week. She handed Uncle John what looked like a magnifying-glass, a gem of pearl. She told him to look and look through this and see what he should see.

THE MAGIC GLASS

It was a beautiful scene through the glass they walked, with many fairies of all kinds, and the Fairy Queen told Uncle John that it was called the Land of the Enchanted Glass. Through the glass, a tiny fairy seen by a haystack was known to be Little Boy Blue and the glass showed them Fernette, the juvenile reporter; Brownie, the Scotch lad; Little Richard, Sunny Jane, the Sandman Fairy and many other friends familiar to those who listen to KHJ.

Then a field of California poppies and three little figures and when the glass was used to see Mother Trevor, Cousin Lee and Uncle Remus. Then Uncle John decided that he must return to the studio. So Queen Titania told him to close his eyes and when they were back at the home of the Fairy Queen and Titania said good-night to Uncle John, the "Enchanted Hour" was over. Fairyland name for KHJ's regular period of broadcast, followed by the additional list of requests for reprints of the fairy-play accounts after the program. Even, the series of exciting bridge games broadcast every Tuesday afternoon from the studio is still gaining favor. Yesterday the visitors' gallery of the station was filled with fans listening to the fairies in addition to the great mass of listeners in their own homes.

PRESENTS DAUGHTER

Another feature was introduced when Charles Vical, linguist and instructor over KHJ in conversation French, when he came on the air for his semiweekly class at 3:30 yesterday afternoon as he presented his daughter, Mlle. Jeanne Vical, who has just arrived from St. Louis, where they were formerly located. His daughter joined in the instruction, especially in the presentation of the regular excerpt from the "Anthology of French Lyric Poetry." Next week they will give "La Nuit de Mai" over the air for advanced scholars, the entire course being run on similar lines to the system used in the local public schools.

During the matinee period Harriet Andrews, mezzo soprano, made an impromptu appearance with a group of delightful solos. She is to again be on the air during the latter part of the week.

The noon broadcast from the tower from 12 until 1 o'clock was given by LeRoy Parry and his Elite Orchestra, who appeared as a special courtesy when Jimmy Moran and his entertainers, regular entertainers on this day from the Friars Inn, were unable to appear because of the illness of Moran and several of his players.

MAN SEIZED IN DEATH OF POLICEMAN

Mexican Held After Finding of Bullet-Drilled Auto; Finger Prints Obtained

Refugio Rodriguez, a young Mexican, was arrested yesterday by deputy sheriffs as a suspect in the murder of Motorcycle Officer G. H. Griffin in a battle with rum-runners Sunday night.

The arrest of Rodriguez came shortly after the finding of the bullet-drilled motor car believed to have been used by the quartet of slayers in their gun duel with Griffin and Patrolman Robert Bence of San Gabriel, who also was wounded.

The car was located yesterday by Patrolman Alewind abandoned at Alliso and Alameda streets. It was registered to M. J. Rigney of 1025 South Hope street, but its theft last Sunday afternoon was reported by S. W. Reed of 1400 Albany street, who stated that it was taken from a spot near his home.

Finger prints which may prove a vital link in the capture of the slayers were obtained from the car by Finger-print Expert Barlow of the local police department.

An ugly flesh wound in Rodriguez's arm led to his arrest, deputy sheriffs said. In making their get-away after shooting down the two San Gabriel officers, the bandit car scraped a barbed-wire fence. Physicians stated that the wound in the suspect's arm was probably caused by a barb from such a fence. Rodriguez, however, stoutly maintains his innocence.

BOY SCOUT TO WIN TRIP IN CONTEST

Yosemite Outing Offered as First Prize in Essay Contest for Local Lads

An annual essay-writing contest for Los Angeles Scouts of first class or higher rank on "Boy Scouts and American Citizenship," with a first prize of an extended trip through Yosemite National Park, was announced last night by President McNaghten at a general anniversary week assembly of scouts and leaders at Polytechnic High School.

The park trip, with every expense paid, is the personal offering of Mr. McNaghten who passed over the details of the competition to the Boy Scout Press Association to handle manuscripts, name judges and fix the rules. The contest for this year will close June 1, so the winner may have his outing during the school holidays. The best three essays will be published by the press association in the Los Angeles Scout.

Scouts of the city and their adult leaders last night recommitted themselves to observance of the scout oath and law in a ceremonial led by Eagle Scout Warren Pressnall, Troop 121. Veteran badges for five or more years of scout service were presented by Eagle Scout Harper Olmstead, Troop 88, to President McNaghten, Vice-President Alfred Wright, Secretary I. Graham Pattinson Treasurer Charles H. Toll and Trustees W. K. Barnard, Dan B. Miner, Clinton Miller, Andrew Mullen, Stuart O'Melveny, Ralph Reynolds, S. M. Salisbury, Roy C. Seeley and Sylvester L. Weaver.

Rev. W. H. Fishburn, pastor of West Adams Presbyterian Church, gave an address on "Keeping Up With Father."

Griffith Park Playground to Open Saturday

Extening over approximately thirty-five acres and with much of this improved for various athletic fields, a Boys' Camp and Playground will be opened by the Los Angeles Playground Commission in Griffith Park Saturday afternoon to become one of the finest boys' recreation centers of the country.

About ten acres have been transformed into various athletic fields including tennis courts, baseball diamonds, football gridirons and similar grounds. The remainder has been left in its natural state as proper for hiking parties and other outdoor diversions.

A feature which is expected to make the park of particular appeal to the younger generation is an island swimming pool.

CURTIS HITS CONDITIONS IN FLORIDA

Publisher in Advertising Talk Says Trip Here Due to Chaos in South

"Chaotic conditions" in Florida, especially regarding congestion of highways and railways, are partly responsible for the fact that instead of going to Florida, Cyrus H. K. Curtis, president of the Curtis Publishing Company, is now a visitor in Southern California, according to a statement made by Mr. Curtis yesterday before the Los Angeles Advertising Club at a luncheon given in his honor at the Biltmore.

Another honored guest was George Horace Lorimer, editor of the Saturday Evening Post, who said that Mr. Curtis, reversing the custom of some business men who blame their subordinates for failures of the firm, gives due credit to his subordinates for the Curtis company's successes.

Acknowledging Mr. Lorimer's compliment, Mr. Curtis said that, in his opinion, Mr. Lorimer is the ablest editor in the world, unequalled in his ability to gauge public taste.

"Mr. Lorimer is also a splendid business man," said the speaker. "I find that he is always right, and I am sure he would rather be right than to be vice-president."

Speaking on "What Makes Them Read the Advertising?" Mr. Curtis said the reason is to be found in the fact that the advertising in the Post is so attractive that it compels attention.

The program was presided over by Irving Smith, president of the club, with Paul S. Armstrong as chairman. A musical entertainment was furnished by Glen Hood and Joe Chappelle.

CANADIAN BANK TO OPEN NEW BRANCH

WILL ESTABLISH SIXTH OFFICE IN REPUBLIC OF MEXICO ABOUT MARCH 1

The Bank of Montreal announces that on or about March 1 it will open a new branch at Tampico, Mex., thus completing a chain of branches embracing all of the important centers throughout the Republic of Mexico. Tampico is a seaport and has become the chief commercial center in Northeastern Mexico, largely through the development of oil fields.

The first branch of the Bank of Montreal in Mexico was opened at Mexico City in 1906, and the business has steadily grown until the bank occupies an important position in the Republic of Mexico. Branches have been established at Puebla, Vera Cruz, Guadalajara and Monterey.

As head of a large radio concern in Kansas City, Mo., Mrs. Nellie E. Trego joins the limited ranks of women in the country holding such positions.

TILE MEN RANK CITY AS SECOND

Los Angeles Placed Next to New York in Building by Convention Speaker

The leading contractors of America look upon Los Angeles as the "second most important city in the country," F. W. Walker of Beaver Falls, Pa., told more than 400 delegates to the twenty-third annual convention of the Tile and Mantel Contractors of America at the opening session yesterday in the Alexandria.

Walker declared that an investigation has shown that California uses more tile in building construction than any other State except New York, and, of the enormous amount of tile used, more than 70 per cent goes into homes and other buildings within the city of Los Angeles, Walker said.

As an indication of the prosperity of Southern California, Mr. Walker pointed out that there has been a 35 per cent increase in the use of tile during the past year.

Delegates to the convention were officially welcomed to Los Angeles at the opening session by Brook Hawkins, president of the Los Angeles Kiwanis Club and vice-president of the National Contractors' Association.

C. L. Gerstner, national president of the Tile Contractors' Association, delivered the opening address and announced that 1924 and 1925 had been the two most prosperous years in the history of the industry.

The convention opened with an invocation by Rt. Rev. W. Bertrand Stevens, Bishop Co-adjutor of the Diocese of Los Angeles.

In the afternoon the delegates attended a closed session in the ballroom of the Alexandria at which problems facing the industry were discussed.

Permit Given to Put Police Pay Rise on Ballot

Permission to place a special police and fire salary increase measure on a special ballot April 30, next, was granted to Chief of Police Heath and the Firemen's and Policemen's Salary Adjustment Committee by the Police Commission yesterday.

Petitions to place the measure on the ballot will be circulated by members of the two departments. The petitions call for an increase of $30 a month in base pay and corresponding increases for higher ranks. The present day pay is $140 a month.

In recommending the authorization of the bill, Chief Heath stated that the proposed schedule is below the figures paid police officers and firemen in San Francisco, Oakland, Berkeley and other cities. Both departments have avoided the expense of placing the measure on a special ballot until an election was called for other purposes, the Chief stated.

JUST A STEP

Lots of people would be better friends if they were only better acquainted.

WHO'S AFRAID?

Even against threats of kissing a woman will meet the situation face to face.

THE CATCH IN IT

A physical director says that any woman can easily decide for herself whether she shall be fat or not. The trouble is that he doesn't make it plain how the decision shall be rendered.

NOT REGISTERED

Heyward Hall McAllister, the man who coined the phrase "the 400," died recently at Mentone, France. The New York Herald-Tribune says the McAllister name is not on the "Social Register" now. He made a mistake in coining phrases; he should have coined money.

IMMORTAL

Experts of Johns Hopkins Medical School have produced in their embryology laboratory a method whereby animals may be kept free from the changes of age and made capable of living indefinitely. It is done by removing a gland in the brain. However, it has worked only on tadpoles.

Dick was the lieutenant-commander of the MacMillan flying expedition. Harry is now Governor of Virginia. Birds of a feather—mostly eagles.

FUSSY POLITICIANS

Most of the bad feeling in Washington is developing between the members of Congress themselves. Hardly a day goes by without some passionate statesman calling another some kind of a poltroon or else pulling the record on him. It may be necessary to start our disarmament at the Capitol. Also looks as if there were call for a competent bouncer.

ON DEPOSIT

Henry G. Granger, United States Consul to Colombia, South America, 1906-7, deposited $10 in a bank to remain 1000 years. At the end of that time the President and Chief Justice of the United States, along with the Minister to Colombia, are to function as trustees to administer the fund for the public good. It will amount to $5,374,523,952,234,339. Some Frenchman ought to make a deposit somewhere and stop all talk.

THE ENTERING WEDGE

American cities that have their adventures in double-decked transportation will heave a sigh of sorrow if the fair city of Los Angeles ever surrenders an opening to this system. The roar of the elevated wrecks the peace of many a home in the cities in which it is suffered and the gaunt skeletons of steel and timber supporting the rails sadly mar the value of any property along the way. Any concession to the system would mean an ultimate hardship to the community!

THE READY MONEY BOYS

Banks of Los Angeles county loaned $110,000,000 on real estate mortgages last year, which is over 30 per cent more than the like advances for the previous year. This would show that the banks have been doing their full part in keeping up the building program and meeting the housing problems of the community. As a result we are in a healthy condition. There has been employment for workers in all of the building trades and the city has grown proportionately.

ANOTHER LOS ANGELES RECORD

Mere evidence of the vigorous growth enjoyed by Los Angeles is seen in the contemplated opening on February 15 of the new palatial home provided for the Orpheum Theater. This makes the fourth time in twenty-five years that this theater has been obliged to seek new and more commodious quarters to meet the demands made on it by its increased patronage. As such it constitutes another record for Los Angeles, no Orpheum in any other city having moved more than once in the same length of time.

This great home for popular vaudeville in Los Angeles will speak the last word in Orpheum construction to a community where theatrical art has been brought to unusual perfection. As the seat of the world-wide motion-picture industry and a rendezvous of artists, actors and literateurs Los Angeles has developed critical theater-loving audiences whose judgment is accepted as especially sound in everything that pertains to the screen and the stage. That these audiences have required a fourth move by the Orpheum circuit here to larger premises is, therefore, a decided tribute to this branch of the theatrical profession.

THE SWORD OF JUSTICE

We of this country fail to realize, perhaps, the part that Washington plays in the contemporary history of Europe. Due to the activities of our government are the Limitation of Naval Armaments Treaty, the Dawes Pact and the Locarno Pact. Rare diplomacy has been displayed, for, while many government activities have added to the cause of peace, not one of them has occasioned international dissension. The only sword our government has unsheathed is the sword of justice.

But the influence of Washington extends still farther. Washington has become a neutral ground where the ambassador and representatives of the European governments meet and arrange for conferences to be held later on European soil. The atmosphere of Washington, according to the European representatives, tends to conciliation.

It now develops that while the delegates from the Balkan countries were in Washington last fall attending the annual session of the Interparliamentary Union a tentative arrangement was made for a Balkan conference which is to be held for the purpose of drafting treaties regulating economic relations and treaties for mutual protection.

The Balkan states have discovered that economic questions are of greater importance to the life of modern peoples than political questions, that the first duty of a state is to promote the well-being of its nationals. They have learned that increased production is more to be desired than increased armaments, that national wealth and national security are closely related.

The following extract from La Bulgarie, the leading daily newspaper of Bulgaria, shows how the spirit of conciliation is penetrating the Balkans and how far the torch of Locarno throws its beams:

> Peace and the security of the Balkans! Behold what all the Balkan peoples ardently desire today, the season of the signature of the Accords of Locarno. The Balkans, source of numerous international conflicts, must be tranquillised, once for all. We have had already enough of quarrels and of chicanery among the Balkan peoples, menacing at any moment to trouble the European peace which is not yet fully established.
> The satiety of war is complete in, all the countries. The peoples wish repose, wish to live in mutual friendship. The governments and the diplomatic chancelleries work equally for the consolidation of world peace. All that disposition favorable to peace had its repercussion in the Accords of Locarno.

The press and diplomats of all the countries of Eastern Europe—Czecho-Slovakia, Hungary, Austria, Greece, Rumania, Jugo-Slavia and Bulgaria—are in accord on the general idea that a mutual security pact should be negotiated giving to them the same security afforded the nations of Western Europe by the Pact of Locarno.

One of the objects of the Balkan pact will be mutual tariff agreements, the repeal of all import and export taxes among the Balkan states. This has come to be regarded as an economic necessity. Increased production and better transportation facilities are recognized as absolute essentials to mutual well-being.

It is probable that such a conference will be held during the coming summer, and it augurs well for the final pacification of the Balkans. This is a question of international importance. Ever since the rise of the Roman Empire the Balkan Peninsula has been a source of international conflict. In this territory have been kindled the flames of more than twenty wars. During the most of that time the Balkan states have been the pawns on the European chess board. Nearly every war has begun by one of the great powers advancing its Balkan pawn.

The Balkan peoples have been the victims of European strategy. They have been sacrificed like the pawns in a game of chess to bring the major pieces into action. The Accord of Locarno has done much to relieve the situation in the Balkans. In diplomatic realms where justice has supplanted military force the pawns are no longer necessary to major strategy. For the first time in more than 1000 years the Balkan peoples are left to their own devices; and it is encouraging to note that their first move has been in the direction of economic rapprochement.

The Balkan states, including Greece, are just beginning to recover from the effects of centuries of Ottoman vassalage. The present generations have no background of liberty, no traditions of freedom and self-representation. Their only heritage for hundreds of years is one of political slavery. Many now living still recall the time when they were vassal subjects of Turkey.

A union of free Balkan states, united under treaties for mutual security, may pass from a dream to a reality by the time the present year passes. And what a jewel that would be in the crown of 1926!

FOR BETTER, FOR WORSE

An old Illinois law has been invoked against Mme. Lula Mellius, prima donna of the Chicago Opera Company, by which she is held responsible for the debts of her divorced husband incurred ten years ago. One note alone totals over $17,000.

She married Elmer Ohrman of Chicago when she was a girl of 17—an age at which she could plead minority incapacity in any purely business transaction. But marriage is not a business contract in the eyes of the law, no matter what it purports to be when debts are in question. This ex-husband was evidently quite a reckless plunger and his wife certainly had no voice in his transactions. But the old law is sufficiently intrenched to have forced Mme. Mellius into bankruptcy—and to draw feminine attention to the fact that it is still active.

A Supreme Court ruling on our own California community property law defines the husband as being in full and exclusive control of the family fortunes and declares that all community property of every description is subject to the husband's debts. This was not the ungallant intent of the California law, but that is its Supreme Court interpretation.

In these days of "economically independent wives," when the wife's earnings often equal and frequently exceed those of the husband, such laws are going to bear hard upon Cupid and romance with the fair sex. They were more reasonable in the days when the husband was more truly the "protector," the provider and when wives were generally more truly dependent upon their husbands. But the modern business wife is not going to rest content under a condition that makes it possible for her husband to control and jeopardize all her earnings, without her judgment and consent.

It seems unthinkable that the Illinois law can be so drastically invoked against the prima donna—even after years of divorce. But the bankruptcy proceedings imply that it certainly can and is.

"For better, for worse" will come to have an alarmingly financial significance in the marriage vows, and the lords of creation must need be enticing charmers, indeed, for the eligible self-supporting women to take the risk.

"MISTER" MITCHELL

It is a tragic tumble from brigadier-general down to colonel. But when the bumping and thumping continue on down to private and then "mister" it is an avalanche.

It is pitiful to have a man take himself too seriously. When an individual in either state or church cherishes the impression that he is the only one who is right or righteous there is considerable pathos.

He may be partially right and there may be reason for his prophetic utterance; but there is only one way to land after being up in the air—gently. Cocksureness is an uncertain approach.

This old world will usually listen to an honest investigator with a kindly message; but bitterness prejudices the findings of justice. Too frequently there have been attempts to right personal grievances.

Criticism is autobiographical. So many iconoclasts in literature and religion will not stand inspection.

Condemnation is not necessarily martyrdom. Sentenced innocence alone becomes martyrdom. Self-inflicted martyrdom is either ridiculous or grewsome. Many a time it is but a publicity complex. Whether these things apply in this case may not be definitely stated.

The sorrow of it is that a man with courage and conviction should vent his vindictiveness upon the friends rather than upon the enemies of the republic. There are plenty of foes to fight without wasting patriotism upon allies.

Too many bitter-enders are just bitter. They furnish the gall themselves. It is possible for a man to kick so hard that he loses his balance. A resignation may be but additional sentence imposed upon himself.

The question is, will "Mister" Mitchell be as picturesque and compelling with his wings off? Well, in either case, we have had a good rain and "the government at Washington still lives!"

PSYCHOLOGY OF CLOTHES

At the foreign legations in many parts of the world they are said to be having rare sport over the edict sent forth from Moscow that the soviet representatives must spruce up, wear better clothes and take on a more gentlemanly air.

"What have Bolshevists to do with gentlemen?" is one of the questions that naturally arise. It is followed by the reflection that if they are going to become Beau Brummels they will not be Bolshevists. On the other hand, there are those who believe that, no matter how neatly their coats and trousers are pressed, it is going to be impossible to press out the soviet wrinkles.

There was more in Carlyle's "Sartor Resartus" than formerly was dreamed of in soviet philosophy, but perhaps the Chelsea sage's bulky volume setting forth the tremendous significance of clothes has lately been read by Tchitcherin or one of the other commissariats, and he has judged it to be pretty good psychology and its method of thought worthy of adoption.

One great difficulty remains, however, and that is the adaptation to Bolshevism of the Carlyleian idea of what a collection of highly esteemed functionaries, gathered together on a great state occasion, would lose of dignity, nobility, stateliness and respect if on a sudden, as by some magician's wand, the clothes should fly off the whole company. With no such rare attributes or, at least, pretending only to bare Bolshevism, the soviet representatives would lose nothing but their garments and the whole point of Carlyle's picturesque argument as to the psychology of clothes would be missed.

Aside from this weighty consideration, however, the soviet diplomat stands on safe ground when he discards his slouchy raiment and puts on a clean shirt and other things included in the garb of gentility. Whatever bright soviet genius inspired this new order doubtless thought he had done a big thing for Russia. Perhaps he thinks that if the author of "Sartor Resartus" were alive he would acclaim it as a great stride on the road leading to the general acceptance of its diplomats and the precious theories for which they and their countrymen stand, even though those men and theories fall below the standards of civilization and common sense. But sovietism will have to make many other and greater strides before it reaches that goal.

Emerson dilated upon what the red Indian assumed when he put on the white man's clothes. But to many the Indian still remained the Indian. So, too, the Bolshevist will remain the Bolshevist, no matter in what new garb he may appear.

ONLY CHANCE

The mistletoe is condemned as a parasite by all lovers of nature. It ought to be hung.

A MISTAKE SOMEWHERE

By James J. Montague.

Though we were very gently bred
We almost said: "My stars!"
When in the morning news we read
That through this country there are spread
Some twenty million cars.
Not cars on railroad tracks we mean,
But cars that run by gasoline,
In short our citizens and voters
Own twenty million separate motors.

"Great Scott!" quoth we, again profane
As in our chair we sat
Somewhat unsettled in the brain,
"The streets of this one town contain
As many cars as that!"
We've seen 'em parked by day and night
In lines that stretched clear out of sight,
And by the stars that shone above 'em
There must have been four million of 'em!

Upon a crowded city street
Oftimes we've stood aghast
With timid and reluctant feet,
And in ten minutes watched a fleet
Of forty million pass.
All sorts of cars, but mostly new,
And if that stream we'd ventured through
What happened would have been so exciting,
We'd not be present at this writing!

Who took this count, and how or why
Could such a thing be done?
He must have had an idling eye
And when a dozen cars went by
He counted only one.
If he will go out there again
And multiply his count by ten
And add ten million for good measure,
We'll read his figures with more pleasure!

POETRY WEEK

BY THE SUBURBANITE

National Thrift Week was a fine idea, but I believe a National Poetry Week would do this country even more good.

The other day I realized that something fine was absent from my life. A primrose by the river's brim, a yellow primrose was to me, and nothing more. A starry sky was only a starry sky. A commanding hilltop was only a place holding out opportunities for real estate development. My finer enthusiasms all seemed drowsy and indolent. And when I took hold of myself and tried to find out why I concluded it was because I had been so busy lately that poetry had got utterly crowded out of my life.

"The world is too much with us; late and soon, getting and spending, we lay waste our powers." And in such a world we have need of the frequent inspiration of noble poetry. Otherwise we may make more money—but lay waste our powers, and so get far less from life.

Poetry is the most compact and understandable human expression of beauty, and we cannot lose our response to poetry without losing spiritual beauty. Poetry may butter no parsnips, but it not only uplifts the heart, it uplifts the mind. Its appreciation aids in the appreciation of all beauty, all the finer things of life.

So why not a National Poetry Week? Heaven knows I hate to suggest any more "weeks." But since somebody is always doing it, I get this suggestion in before the weeks are all gone.

Thrift Week doubtless effectively reminded millions of people of the direct benefits certain to result from thrift. That was an excellent result. But, after all, thrift and penny-counting lead directly to commercialism. Commerce is the great civilizer—the world could not get along without it. But all commerce and no poetry would make any old world dull.

And just think what a boon it would be to feel again as you felt when, a schoolboy, you read "Marco Bozzaris" or "Arnold Winkelried!" Think how the sweet sorrows of adolescence would troop back to you if you'd get off in a quiet place and reread "Locksley Hall." And are you getting any thrills out of business now worth quite as much to you as was your youthful resolution to "Sail on, sail on, and on," after first reading Joaquin Miller's "Columbus," to my simple mind the greatest American poem?

Where there is no vision the people perish. Where there is no poetic vision beauty perishes. Let's have at least an unofficial Poetry Week.

LETTERS TO The Times

The Homesteaders

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 7.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Having just read the statement of Grace B. Conklin, re the homesteader and his questions, I am moved to relate some of my own experiences through my job of answering questions for Adventure Magazine readers. Before telling the funny things let me say that it is one of the hardest of tasks for a sympathetic man when he gets a letter like one I had to answer three days ago. A woman wrote—"I want a home and we will never be able to save enough to buy the land, with living costs so high." Can you see her in your imagination, work weary and worn, longing for just a little home and despairing of ever getting it?

The letters, mainly from people with odd names that seem like the roster of an old-time steerage load, come from all along the Atlantic seaboard and the coal mining region, with the oddest demands.

"I want a homestead near Los Angeles. It must be within walking distance of the street-car system and have plenty of standing timber, also a stream of good water running across it," one read. Some order!

"I know nothing of California, but I am coming to take up homestead land there. Tell me what kind of people have you there and are they all friendly to the whites?" inquired a man in Newark, N. J.

"I have saved up money and I have read about oranges in California. I want to buy good orange land in the valley east of Los Los Angeles, but I won't pay more than $40 an acre for it," was one ultimatum.

"I am a coal miner. Have worked in West Virginia and Pennsylvania mines, but am tired of underground work. Am coming West to get homestead land and farm it. Do the men in Los Angeles carry Colt's revolvers in the belt now or is some other make better?" came from one wild easterner.

"Twenty-seven years over a book-keeper's desk has ruined my lungs. My doctor says go to Arizona. Is it safe to take my wife there?" from a poor fellow in New Jersey, who was told his wife would be safer in our neighbor State than in Newark.

"Do you know my son George, who is chief clerk for Blank, Dash & Co., Tacoma? And can you locate me on 160 acres of fertile farm land, with all the water it would need? I want such a homestead," to which I responded with unction—"So did his cousins and sisters and his aunts and so do I."

All of which is amusing, but it proves that folks who say that this end of California has advertised itself to death, as I read recently, are decayed in the caput. The East, only about one-tenth of 1 per cent wise to what we really are and have, is "bellerin' for information."

What we have done, and I speak advisedly after forty years of watching, is to stress the real estate feature and the film business far beyond what we have published concerning farm lands, production possibilities and water conservation needs. We have centered on Los Angeles and have boomed it in season and out, when what we needed most was farmers who had the sabe and the grit to make forty acres pay dividends. We have sought a horde to fill our bungalows and were content with a corporal's guard to fill our potato bin. In short, we have stressed the population side of the question beyond the production side.

What we need to concentrate on now with all our force is production from the land and by manufactories and let this booming of residence advantages take care of itself. Our agricultural record is fine. Make it better. Our manufacturing record is fair. Make it extra fine and give every man and woman needing work opportunity to get in and hustle.

A SLIGHT SLIP

ELMER ELLSWORTH HELMS

The other day an eloquent beer Congressman said:

"There is as much argument to prohibit tea as light wine and beer."

Hear ye a parable. In the old days of the tea-saloon a tea-guzzler put away twenty-nine cups. It is safe to say he was then in his cups. With a whoop he lighted in the middle of the street and preceeded to lick the fire department. He went reeling home and seizing the family tea pot, he blackened both eyes of his mother-in-law and drove his wife and six children out into the cold, cold night. It took sixteen policemen to subdue him. And when they had finished he was a tea-total wreck. His friends sent him to a tea-Keeley Cure, where he was fed only on tea biscuit, and forever after he was a tea-totaler. E Pluribus Unum! The theory of the beer proponents is, you can fool American people all the time.

[illegible] T. Kelly, asserted president of an organization known as the Auto Theft Bureau of America, with headquarters in Los Angeles, was arrested as Orosi, Tulare, yesterday by Officers [illegible] and Sears, assigned to do investigation work for the Better Business Bureau of the Advertising Club. The promoter is charged with four counts of grand larceny [illegible] issued by Dep. Dist.-Attorney Horner, it is understood.

Kelly was brought to Los Angeles late yesterday and locked up in the City Jail. Another member of the Kelly organization is being sought by the officers, it is stated, and will be taken into custody when found.

The four counts of grand larceny are said to have been based on assertions made by various persons that Kelly took money from them as a bond for obtaining [illegible] positions which they never received. The specific charges are the asserted receipt by Kelly from Agnes Lubeck on December 4, 1925; of $2500 from [illegible] on December 24, 1925, of the sums of $1000 and $500 from Charles A. Halath respectively.

Kelly is said to be an engineer and expected to be employed in connection with a scheme to furnish information regarding lost automobiles. According to a statement issued by the Better Business Bureau, they found, after a thorough investigation, that Kelly represented the organization he was [illegible] was elaborate and included the installation of fifty-[illegible] broadcasting stations, to be in touch with numerous "prowlers," each provided with [illegible] automobiles and a portable radio. This system was to be used for the recovery of stolen cars, but the Better Business Bureau denies any that the plans or [illegible] apparently never materialized.

A complaint was issued yesterday by the State Labor Bureau [illegible] to appear at 10 a.m. on the 12th inst., with regard to [illegible] claims for nonpayment of wages amounting to about $2000, according to Deputy Lowy. The complaints were filed, it was said, by [illegible] and solicitors of the concern.

Last Thursday, according to the Better Business Bureau, Kelly [illegible] to the office and departed for parts unknown, the furniture in his [illegible] suite of offices being repossessed by a local furniture house.

Texas Girl Writes Here to Obtain Aid in Finding Good Husband

Miss Cook, who informed the judge she was lonely, inclosed a snapshot of herself and requested the judge to show it to any good prospects he might have on his list. The writer said she wanted a man between 25 and 35, home-loving and willing to work.

Judge Keeler, who in Divorce Court, has severed many marital ties that chafe, said he was glad of the opportunity to play the opposite side of the matrimonial record and said he would be glad to exhibit the picture and forward the applications of those who might be interested.

COUNCIL IN CLASH OVER LEVY ISSUE

Votes $25,000 for Overdue Assessments Which City Departments Won't Pay

The Council engaged in another flurry yesterday over assessments which several municipal departments failed to pay, but finished by voting from various funds a total of $25,000 to make good delinquent assessments on school, library and playground property.

The first outburst came when the Council was asked to add $13,000 on the assessment district for the paving of Hoover street between Manchester avenue and One Hundred Fourteenth street to cover the sum that the playground department refused to pay. Later came several reports from the Finance Committee recommending that the city pay from "the permanent improvement fund $12,000 for delinquent assessments for library, playground and school property.

From the $1.25 tax collected on each $100 of property a certain portion is allocated to harbor, playgrounds, library and other purposes. Several of these departments decline to pay assessments, and the City Attorney has ruled that the Council has no means of forcing them to pay.

Councilman Allen opposed the adoption of the Finance Committee report, and was supported by Councilman Hall.

In the vote which followed, Allan and Hall were joined by Councilman Sparks. On the Hoover-street matter Councilman Shaw voted with Hall.

YOUNG HERO TO BE BURIED IN ARIZONA

Funeral Services Conducted Here for Roland Gedda, Who Drowned in Pool

Funeral services for Roland Gedda, 12 years of age, who, with Clarence Carroll, 11, and his brother, Orville, 6, was drowned Sunday while at play in a deep pool of rain water at Avenue Twenty-two and the Arroyo Seco, were conducted last evening from the chapel of Alvarez & Moore, 500 Court street. At the close of the services the body was sent to Duncan, Ariz., for burial in the family plot.

The funeral of the Carroll boys, according to tentative plans, will be conducted tomorrow morning at the chapel of the Lincoln Heights Mortuary, 2029 Pasadena avenue. Burial will be in Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Both mothers are out of the State, Mrs. Carroll being in Detroit and Mrs. Gedda in Phoenix.

The triple tragedy came after an improvised raft the two Carroll boys had been piloting about the pool capsized. Roland Gedda swam to them in a futile attempt at rescue. All effort at resuscitation failed.

BURGLAR SUSPECT HELD

Prisoner Believed Robber Who Got Fifty Cents

Suspected of burglary in connection with the taking of 50 cents from the home of D. A. Brandstetter, 34 South California street, Baldwin Park, Edwin W. Xandern, 31 years of age, was arrested by Deputy Sheriffs Currier and Miles yesterday.

Xandern is suspected of being the man who, pretending to have a revolver, locked Mrs. Brandstetter in a clothes closet and then searched the house. The burglar, it is said, obtained only half a dollar, being unable to find the place where the money was kept.

The prisoner, according to the Sheriff's office, recently was released from the county road camp and had served three reformatory sentences.

TWO FACE CHARGE OF EXTORTION

Suspects Asserted to Have Posed as Officers Arrested at Rendezvous

William Milligan and Glatras Nicholas were arrested yesterday by Detective Lieutenants Robinson, Moran and O'Connor after they are said to have made an unsuccessful attempt to extort $50 from John K. West on the pretext that they were police officers.

The suspects, detectives believe, are the same men who about a year ago extorted $1000 from Charles Ross, a school principal, in front of police headquarters after they had succeeded in making their victim believe they were police officers. Mr. Ross will be asked to identify the suspects shortly, the detectives said.

West told the detectives that the two men came to his home at 618 Kipp street, Monday night and told him that he was under arrest on a vagrancy charge. Then, he said, they offered to square the case for $50. As he did not have this amount with him, he said, they told him they would meet him at Fourth street and Grand avenue and get the money. West informed the police and when the two men appeared to keep the appointment they were collared and led to the City Jail on an extortion charge.

WRONG PRESCRIPTION HEARING CONTINUED

The case of Leo Wagner and Jack Brotchnier, former General Hospital drug clerks, was adjourned yesterday by Municipal Judge Ambrose to the 19th inst., neither prosecution nor defense being ready. They are charged with filling a prescription wrongly, putting up nine and a half grains of novocaine instead of three to be given to Mrs. Evangeline Lanese and Mrs. Anita Vasquez. Both women died from the overdose.

Sikeston, Mo., has a barber shop owned and operated exclusively by women but excludes women as customers, catering to men only.

FORECASTS ART ERA FOR LOS ANGELES

Film Magazine Publisher Speaks in Optimistic Vein as Guest of Wasps

Eugene V. Brewster, pioneer publisher of motion-picture-fan magazines, speaking before the Wasps, as their guest of honor last night at a dinner at the Writers' Club, declared Los Angeles is unquestionably destined to be the world's greatest art and commercial center within a comparatively short time.

He bases his conclusion on the phenomenal growth in population and on the fact that within a short period Los Angeles is to be the world's distribution center of motion pictures, as it is now the world's greatest producing center.

"It is only logical that the pictures should be distributed from the center where they are made," he declared. And reckoning from the same premise he stated further that he plans to move the publication offices of his various motion-picture magazines from New York to Los Angeles as soon as possible.

Meanwhile he has purchased a bungalow office site on Selma avenue near Vine street and will open headquarters there at once and will make his permanent home here.

Elizabeth Riordan, president of the Wasps, presided and Miss Margaret Kimball was chairman of the evening. The personnel of the Wasps includes women engaged in motion-picture publicity.

Other guests of honor were Miss Louise Fazenda, Miss Fay Wray, David Torrence and members of the drama departments of the local press.

HOLD STUNT FLYER PERIL TO AVIATION

Judges of Pilots' Debate Rule Against Airmen Who Perform Gyrations

Stunt flying and all other unusual gyrations in the air came in for their due at a hotly contested debate conducted by the Professional Pilots' Association last night after a dinner at the Felix Cafe.

That stunt flying, except for military instruction and test purposes, is a detriment to the advance of commercial aviation, was the question. The affirmative won and was upheld by W. D. Waterman, G. G. Budwig and Dr. Fredrick C. Whitney and the negative by Art Goebie, Jimmie Crossan and Lieut. Wayne Alles, the latter three well known as stunt flyers.

Superior Court Judges Stephens, Crail and Reeve, who judged the debate, were unanimous in their decision against stunt flying as were many of the 150 members and guests present when, after the debate, discussion was invited.

Wife Conceals Third Person in Making Charges

When Mrs. Margaret Cable taxed her husband with her suspicions that he had been on a trip with another girl, she took the precaution to have a woman friend hidden in a closet to overhear the conversation, she told Judge Gates yesterday at the hearing of her suit for divorce from Gail C. Cable.

"He said he had been away with this other woman and that he didn't care who knew it," Mrs. Cable said.

Inasmuch as Salinas was said to have been at least one of the places included in the itinerary the Mrs. Cable objected to, Judge Gates continued the hearing to await the deposition of the clerk of a hotel in that city.

Coming back to their old home town for a visit of five or six weeks, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Edward Locke, who for some years have been stationed with the St. Paul area of the Methodist Episcopal Church, are being gladly welcomed by their many friends here. They are visiting with their two daughters, Mrs. John William Fletcher White of Santa Monica and Mrs. William Benbow Thompson of 131 South Hoover street. Dr. Locke was formerly pastor of the First Methodist Church here when the stately edifice was located at Sixth and Hill streets. Dr. and Mrs. Thompson (Ruth Locke) are issuing invitations for an at-home Thursday evening the 25th inst., and Mrs. Thompson is also planning a number of informal affairs in the nature of luncheons, teas and dinners for her parents, while a number of their old friends and former parishioners are planning to entertain for them during their sojourn here.

Locating Here

Mr. and Mrs. Henry K. Peachy (Katherine Torrance) who for the past year have been temporarily making their home in Oak Knoll and Pasadena, have recently purchased a home at 336 McCadden Place in Hancock Park, and are taking possession this week. Mrs. Peachy, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Curtis Torrance of 1295 Oakland avenue, Oak Knoll, has a host of friends in the Southland, and many friends of her girlhood days here are rejoiced that she and Mr. Peachy are coming back to make Los Angeles their future home. After their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Peachy went to Washington, D. C., and later were abroad for some years, coming directly here to Southern California from Europe.

Luncheon Party

In honor of Marchesa Enrico Cambiaso (Marie Roberts) and Mrs. Walker Kamm of San Francisco (Louise Roberts,) a delightfully planned luncheon and bridge is being given this afternoon by Mrs. Robert Frank Gross at her home in Chester Place. She was accompanied by the Marchesa Cambiaso, who will be here for some months before rejoining the Marchese in Italy. Mrs. Kamm came down from the north to visit with her mother and sister for a week or ten days and the guests this afternoon will number a dozen of the intimate friends of both sisters.

For Recent Bride

Honoring Mrs. Harry Laine, who before her marriage several months ago was Miss Margaret Kellogg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Kellogg of Pasadena, Mrs. Seymour Tally is giving a luncheon this afternoon at the Los Angeles Country Club. Mr. and Mrs. Tally are planning an extensive Mediterranean cruise, leaving in a few weeks, and this will be in the nature of a farewell affair to the hostess. Among the guests will be Mrs. Laine, Mrs. Edgar Fish, Mrs. Thaddeus Up De Graff, Mrs. Paul Louis Corrigan, Mrs. Emerson Spear (Marian Kellogg,) Mrs. Sven Lokrantz, Mrs. Paul Hammond, Mrs. Frank Consigny, Mrs. Richard Tracy St. John, Mrs. Chandler Kellogg, Mrs. Shirley Owen, Mrs. Hoyt Leisure, Mrs. Henry Bateman, Mrs. Lois Pope, Mrs. Franklin Lane, Jr., Mrs. David Barry, Jr., Miss Florence Marsh, Miss Ellen Andrews, Miss Katherine Thomas, Miss Cecelia Botiller, Miss Gwendolyn Longyear, Miss Mary McAllister and Miss Mary Gray.

Among the delightful affairs planned for the week-end will be the dinner dance with which Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Montgomery of Van Ness avenue are entertaining at the Los Angeles Country Club Saturday evening, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thomas Burge, who are leaving shortly for South Africa and Abyssinia, and Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Burlingame. Seventy-five guests have been bidden.

Birthday Anniversary

Celebrating the birthday anniversary of her husband, Mrs. Erwin H. Furman of Sycamore avenue, Hollywood, is giving a costume dancing party at their home Saturday evening, the 20th inst.

Felicitations

Congratulations are being extended Mr. and Mrs. Judson E. Roberts (as well as the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ulysses Grant Orendorff of Fremont Place) over the arrival yesterday morning of a tiny son, who will be christened Jud Orendorff Roberts. Mrs. Roberts was, before her marriage in September, 1924, Miss Helen Orendorff.

Farewell Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Kruce of Lucerne Boulevard entertained Thursday evening with a charmingly appointed dinner in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Francis E. Bacon of Berkeley Square, who are now en route to New Orleans to attend the Mardi Gras festivities and later are planning to go on to Florida for some weeks' visit. The dinner table was centered with yellow rose buds, lavender sweet peas and sprays of heather, those included being Mr. and Mrs. Charles Swaine, Mr. and Mrs. John Durand, Mr. and Mrs. George Manierre, Col. and Mrs. John B. Keeping Your Schoolgirl Complexion

By IRENE CASTLE

Copyrighted 1926 by P. O. Beauty Features

Take Care What Kind of soap touches your face

The kind beauty experts use themselves—how to use

TO endanger a good complexion with an unproved soap is a folly. The only kind of soap to use on your face is a true complexion soap. Some soaps that are excellent in many ways are too harsh for the skin.

Launder, scrub, with any soap you wish. But if guarding a good complexion is your aim, take care. Use a soap made to protect it.

Thus Palmolive is so widely urged . . . a soap made solely for one purpose: to protect the complexion. A soap made by experts in beauty to be used freely and lavishly on the skin.

The accepted beauty method today is the simple rule that follows—Nature's formula to "Keep That Schoolgirl Complexion." Leading skin experts urge. Thousands of beautiful complexions prove its results.

Follow this rule one week—Note the improvement that comes

Wash your face gently with Palmolive Soap, massaging it softly into the skin. Rinse thoroughly, first with warm water, then with cold. If your skin is inclined to be dry, apply a touch of good cold cream—that is all.

Do this regularly, and particularly in the evening. Use powder and rouge, if you wish. But never leave them on over night. They clog the pores, often enlarge them. Blackheads and disfigurements often follow. They must be washed away.

Get real Palmolive

Do not use ordinary soaps in the treatment given above. Do not think any green soap, or represented as of palm and olive oils, is the same as Palmolive.

It costs but 10c the cake!—so little that millions let it do for their bodies what it does for their faces. Obtain Palmolive today. Then note what an amazing difference one week makes. The Palmolive Company (Del. Corp.), Chicago, Illinois. 2180

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

Mrs. H.: Certainly you are not "crazy!" You are suffering a little mental illness which I am positive will clear up under the right psychotherapeutic (mental) treatment.

I suggest that you not say anything to your husband (who apparently is not normal himself, or he would not treat you the way he does,) and get a list of reputable neurologists or psychotherapists and have a talk with one of them, telling him everything you have told me.

(We have a list of books on minor nerve and mental troubles. You may have this by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request. Will you send for this, please?)

I am quite sure from the tone of your letter that your trouble is something that you can overcome.

DRIED MILK

Mr. G.: Dried milk approximates more closely to fresh cow's milk in the vitamin content than does the evaporated milk, according to experiments on feeding animals.

YEAST

J.: Yeast is very high in the vitamin B, the antineuritic vitamin. In protein (the meat element in food) is of good value. Yeast also acts as a laxative, with some. It is forty calories to the ounce; one ordinary sized cake weighs approximately one-half of an ounce, so you can count it twenty calories.

Undoubtedly those who are benefitted by taking yeast have been on a diet that was too low in the antineuritic vitamin B. Ordinarily it is best to get the vitamins in the bulky green vegetables and fresh fruits, which will also furnish more valuable mineral salts and roughage, but there is no doubt that some people are benefited by this vitamin B in concentrated form in yeast.

(We have an article on balanced diet which you may have. Send self-addressed, stamped envelope with request.)

"OLIVE OIL TREATMENT" FOR GALL STONES

Mrs. W.: I have no olive oil treatment for gall stones! I stated in the recent article on gallstones that a surgeon had told me the treatment is not a cure for stones; that the stones that were passed were lumps formed in the intestines, with the object to prove this by making an ordinary stool with no stone. If you have gallstones you must see a surgeon.

The prevention of gallstones is in the normal bowel movement. The prevention of overweight is in exercise, trunk exercises which automatically massage the liver. I thought that most people had formed around a nucleus of infectious germs that had gone into the gall bladder from some source in the body. The most common things that do this are infections of the teeth, such as decayed teeth, abscessed roots, diseased tonsils, etc., should be removed.

EYE TROUBLE

L.: We have no specific for common eye troubles. The best for the treatment of eyes is one that contains the fewest germs. Use an eye wash from the drug store. So many of our readers have had good results. Send for a self-addressed envelope with your request.

Mrs. M.: Be sure that you don't have a physician in your home. Consult the County Medical Society and ask for a list. Inquire of them for the article on the subject. See answer to L. above.

Anniversary of Woolf Wedding Celebrated Today

Mr. and Mrs. Billie Woolf, who live at 2943 Raymond avenue, celebrate today their thirty-fifth wedding anniversary. Though married in Minneapolis, Mr. and Mrs. Woolf have resided in Los Angeles for twenty-one years. Mr. Woolf, known as "Billie, the Dress Suit Man," recalls hearing from the lips of his mother-in-law the story of escaping massacre by the Indians during the early days of New Orleans. The mother and father of Mrs. Woolf, newly arrived from Sweden with their first-born, a girl of 5 years of age, ran to a nearby school house to escape an Indian raid. They were saved from massacre because their hiding place—the basement of the school—was not discovered, related Mr. Woolf.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Just a Little Water

Add one teaspoonful of salt to the water when poaching eggs; it will prevent the white from spreading and separating.

Report the Case

If you know what causes grease spots on the dress you want cleaner it is well to know how firm, so they will know how to go about removing them without experimenting.

Keeps Them White

When making lemonade or other beverages before putting in the sugar, mix it with the juice; you will find the sugar will not change color if mixed with the juice and will dissolve as soon as cut into cubes.

Quicker Baking

In cold weather if you will keep on hand a few of the dry ingredients all mixed, such as flour, baking powder, salt, etc., when you are ready to bake you have only to add the necessary wet ingredients and bake at once.

Use the Oil Also

When sewing on a garment use up all of the ends of sewing silk for basting threads; never throw them away. Cotton thread is not to be used for basting, as it will not come out, leaving no trace behind it.

What Women are Doing

A woman 300 women, well dressed, well clothed, lunching at the Alexandria yesterday, of being women in their rent might seem a matter of insanity and boldness. Dr. Mariana Bertola, president of the California Federation of Women's Clubs, did without fear and she included herself in the remarks she made before the Soroptimist Club. Mrs. Gertrude Maynard, who presides over the club, said:

"The reason we do is the rent we pay for the space we occupy," Dr. Bertola, quoting from the president of the general federation, Mrs. Sherman, and Dr. Bergstrom herself, said:

"It is quite simply true that all of us should pay a rent as well as paying past dues for the space we occupy."

Dr. Bertola's further plea was for greater tolerance among women and when appealed to by Dr. Maynard to answer the charges other made against Soroptimists that they had no place in the general federation, she replied:

"The only way you have a place, and the General Federation; most of all the federations, of the district and the general you. You have a specialization to make. Combine that type than any other get in touch with the civic affairs, the federation is formed of clubwomen."

Mrs. Bertola introduced Dr. Bergstrom, who said: "We are proud to have you present for this day, our sister, and Mrs. James Scott, Los Angeles district, the board of the executive of Long Beach Soroptimists. We shall learn as never about the work of women and for service to the world."

BERGSTROM AGAIN HEADS ARCHITECTS

President of Association in Report Tells Achievements of Past Year

Edwin Bergstrom has been re-elected president of the Allied Architects' Association, it was announced yesterday. He already has served four years in that post. Other officers named are Myron Hunt and William Richards, vice presidents; Sumner P. Hunt and Pierpont Davis, directors; H. M. Patterson, treasurer, and A. M. Edelman, secretary. The latter succeeds Harwood Hewitt, who died recently.

In his annual report President Bergstrom said that the organization had concluded a successful year. The Hall of Justice, the exterior, lobbies and courtrooms of which were planned by the association, was finished, as was the first unit of the new museum at Exposition Park. Patriotic Hall is nearing completion. Drawings for the new $5,000,000 addition to the General Hospital are well under way, he said, and the specifications are nearly complete so construction can start soon. The plans for the improvements at Hollywood Bowl are being rushed.

Good progress is being made also, he said, in the new school for architects at University of Southern California, suggested and supervised by the association.

INTEREST IN CONTEST ON TREES GAINS

Reforestation Association Gets Hundreds of Essays From School Children

Gratifying results are being obtained in the educational word contest being conducted through the schools of Southern California by the American Reforestation Association to stimulate the interest of students in preserving and adding to the nation's greatest asset—trees.

George H. Barnes, president of the association, declared yesterday that hundreds of answers are being received in the contest and that widespread interest is being manifested in the work of the association not only by students but by their parents.

"The results have been extremely gratifying," Mr. Barnes said, "and rightfully so for it is a work that belongs to all of us and should receive the support and active help of every loyal citizen."

The contest consists of making as many words as possible from the word "reforestation." The list of words compiled must be accompanied by an essay not exceeding 200 words on the subject of "What I Know About Trees." Any school child may enter by merely compiling as many words as possible from the one key word, writing an essay and submitting the whole to the association at 423 Bradbury Building, contest department.

The judges of the contest will be Florence Collins Porter, Julia Ellen Rogers, Harry Chandler, George H. Cecil and Mayor Cryer. A total of 101 cash prizes, aggregating a sum of $500, will be distributed among the winners of the contest.

Library Leader of Illinois Dies in Los Angeles

Mrs. Alice Evans, 77 years of age, for a half century librarian of the public library at Decatur, Ill., and known throughout the nation in library circles, died here yesterday after an illness of but a few days. A centennial celebration in honor of Mrs. Evans's long period of service was conducted by her friends and admirers in Decatur, last August.

Granted a year's leave of absence, Mrs. Evans came to Los Angeles in November, 1925, to visit her nieces, Mrs. Nellie Moore and Miss Edith Hill. She was accompanied by her sister, Miss Ella Glore and a third niece, Mrs. A. R. Montgomery, both of the Illinois city.

Funeral services will be conducted at 11 a.m. today at Pierce Brothers' Undertaking Parlors, 720 West Washington street, after which the body temporarily will be committed to the Hollywood Mausoleum. Final rites will be conducted at Decatur in the spring when Miss Glore and Mrs. Montgomery will accompany the body back east.

Reinstatement Hearings Await Trial Outcome

Pending the outcome of a Superior Court trial on the indictment of Police Captain Hagenbaugh and Officers Ross and Hache for asserted extortion and implication in the violation of liquor laws, the Police Commission will not hear the officers' plea for reinstatement, it was decided yesterday.

Both Capt. Hagenbaugh and Officer Ross asked for trial and an investigation of their suspension by Chief Heath January 29, last, on grounds that they had been implicated by the grand jury in an asserted illicit liquor transaction. Hache made no appeal. The board voted to file their communications and decided to withhold action pending the outcome of the Superior Court trial. A trial before the commission with all of the suspended officers present then will be conducted.

Recommendations of Chief Heath that he be given $10,000 from the general funds for the purchase of ammunition to train all members of the force as marksmen was granted.

STEEL JOISTS NECESSARY

The Council yesterday voted that steel joists must be used in the construction of all Class A buildings. The City Attorney was instructed to draft this in the form of an ordinance.

Association on Eisteddfod to Meet Saturday

Members and friends of the California Eisteddfod Association will meet on Saturday at Pomona College, Claremont, for their eleventh regional conference. Delegates will be present from all of the nine Eisteddfod districts, which reach from Ventura county on the north to Orange county on the south.

Conferences will be held in the afternoon under the direction of the general chairman of the art, dance, drama and music departments, followed by a dinner meeting at 6 p.m., at the Claremont Inn, James G. Warren, president of the association, presiding. Charles Wakefield Cadman will be the honor guest.

The dinner will be followed by an evening of musical entertainment at Bridges Hall, Pomona College, under the auspices of the music department of the college, in which the college glee clubs will participate.

Plans are moving rapidly for the district contests of the association, including that of Los Angeles, during the month of April, followed by the final contests in which the winners of the various districts will compete for honors.

New Telephone Station Opened With Reception

As a result of a constant increase in demands for telephone service, the Southern California Telephone Company opened another new switching plant in a new building at 1207 North Avenue 56 last night. To acquaint telephone users in the district with this latest operating center to be added to Los Angeles exchange, the company held a public reception during the evening and demonstrated the operation of the equipment.

Known as "Albany" office, the plant represents an expenditure of more than $700,000, according to H. C. Lauderback, general commercial manager of the company. It was necessary to use 6373 miles of wire in cables to connect the office to the thirty-eight other central offices in Los Angeles exchange and prepare for expansion in the northeastern district the new plant serves, the telephone executive said.

RIN TIN TIN'S MASTER BREAKS LEG IN JUMP

Lee Duncan, owner and director of Rin Tin Tin, canine actor, broke his leg yesterday in jumping from a cliff in Elysian Park, and stopped the production of "The Hero of the Big Shows," a Warner Brothers picture, until he is able to be about again. Rin Tin Tin and another dog were having what was supposed to be a fake fight, and Duncan decided the animals were at it in earnest and leaped to separate them. Duncan said he will, if possible, go on location in a wheel chair, as Rin Tin Tin will not perform without him.

FOODS OF SUPREME QUALITY

Cost Him Ten Cents a Year for a Waterman's

"Gentlemen:

"Not long ago I read an ad of one of your competitors, in which they spoke of their '25-year pen point.' That got me to figuring. I looked up an old day book I used when a student in a business college at Salina, Kansas, and found an entry in July, 1900, of the purchase of a fountain pen for $2.50. This pen is one of your make, with the name plainly to be seen. I used it during my student work and then for several years' experience as a steno, using it in preference to a pencil. During all these 25 years and over it has been with me nearly all the time, and has seen lots of service. It has never needed a new point, cap or barrel, or anything else but ink and exercise, and it is still writing good. This letter will be signed with it."

Among the thousands of letters of commendation received, many Waterman's are mentioned that have given service for forty years. It is because Waterman's pens seem immortal that we can safely guarantee them without time limit.

Waterman's pens may still be bought for $2.50 but larger pens with special decorations, clip-cap and lip-guard cost more.

We specially recommend style illustrated for everyday use. If you will call upon a nearby dealer he will fully explain the advantages of a Waterman's pen.

PUGILIST AGAIN HELD IN KILLING

Murder Charge Faced by "Knockout" Kelly

Suspects Freed Before, Due to Lack of Evidence

Other Sought in Texas for Beating Motorist

Donald Kortanger, known also as Donald (Knockout) Kelly, again was arrested by detectives yesterday on a murder charge growing out of the death of C. L. Blackmore after a street battle on October 27, 1925.

The prize fighter was arrested by Detective Lieutenants Hickey and Condaffer on a new complaint issued by the District Attorney's office. The complaint also names Isador Shaman, alias Izzie Shannon, but he is believed to have gone to Texas, and authorities there have been requested to place him in custody.

Both men were arrested shortly after Blackmore's death as the assailants who set upon him after a traffic argument and beat him so severely as to result in his death. They were released, however, a few days later because of lack of evidence. Detectives continued to work on the case and obtained the complaints on new evidence which they are said to have uncovered.

Blackmore was attacked at Grand avenue and Jefferson street. The fight followed a minor difference as to right of way between the victim, who was riding in a machine driven by another, and his attackers.

At the time of Blackmore's death his wife had just given birth to a baby at the hospital. She was unable to attend the funeral.

Runs Race With Police Auto and Finishes Loser

William F. Beyerle of 442 North Bonnie Brae street, had the bad judgment to race on Hollywood Boulevard with a police car, it was asserted yesterday before Municipal Justice Chambers.

The police car fell behind at forty-five miles an hour but caught up when Beyerle was stopped by traffic.

Beyerle was fined $50 and his driver's license was suspended ninety days, while a suspended sentence of thirty days in jail was added to the other penalties.

Help of Clubs for Huge July 4 Pageant Sought

Representatives of forty leading clubs and patriotic organizations of Los Angeles and Hollywood will meet tomorrow evening at the Masonic Temple in Hollywood to discuss plans for a huge Fourth of July pageant and celebration recently launched by members of the Two-Thirty-Three Club.

At a luncheon at the Biltmore a week ago ideas for a pageant to be staged by the various stars and their studios were discussed and enthusiastically approved by Mayor Cryer and newspaper publishers.

Tomorrow night's meeting will be for the purpose of interesting various clubs in the project, to outline the proposed pageant and attendant celebration, to discuss methods of financing preparations outside of the motion-picture industry's participation and to appoint committees.

FORMER WINNER IN IDEA CONTEST

H. J. Bradt Submits Theme to De Mille

Producer Gratified by New Public Attitude

Letters Offer Co-operation Instead of Knocks

BY CECIL B. DE MILLE

Producer of "The Ten Commandments," "The Volga Boatman;" Donor of the $2100 De Mille-Times Idea Contest Prizes.

The same urge and inspiration which prompted Mr. H. J. Bradt of 916 Fedora street, Los Angeles, to enter the previous idea contest in 1922 with his prize-winning suggestion of "The Ten Commandments," again has taken hold of him.

Mr. Bradt, it will be remembered, used his prize award of $1000 to endow a "Ten Commandments" bed at the Children's Hospital. At the end of one of five letters from him in this contest, was the following neatly typed footnote:

"I can use this $1000 redeeming a few at the Soldiers' Home, the Orthopaedic School and the Tuberculosis Society."

The suggestions he submitted again show the inspired forethought which made it possible for him to win the capital prize in 1922.

A perusal of the thousands of letters swarming in in an ever-increasing flow shows that many of those who were entrants four years ago are again trying their hands with ideas. Most of the writers have profited by their experience and are writing letters which more clearly follow the things I have in mind.

OFFER CO-OPERATION

The letters so far received have been surprisingly comprehensive and to the point. They show that the public has a definite concept of what it wants in its pictures and what it would like and that it is earnestly setting itself the task of making its feelings known.

Instead of the numerous complaints one should ordinarily expect out of a contest of this sort, the majority of letters received are concerned simply with ideas and suggestions of a very constructive and comprehensive character.

For example: I have received few missives criticising the present trend of motion pictures. Instead of "why don't you do this or that?" or "pictures are no good anyway," —all negative and meaningless knocks—the replies run something after this fashion:

I am particularly happy at this new attitude on the part of the public. It demonstrates conclusively that it is in a co-operative, constructive mood and that it has some degree of confidence in the future of films and the efforts of producers to give the best and most entertaining pictures possible of production.

AIM TO HELP OTHERS

Mr. Bradt's eagerness to again try his hand in the present $2100 contest is more in the spirit of wanting to help pictures, I sincerely believe, than in the thought that he again might win the coveted first prize. His aim is to help others, as he shows in his expressed willingness to again give his prize to charity if he succeeds.

The same thing is true of the thousands that have replied. Their thoughts and ideas are based on a desire to build up the world's greatest source of healthy entertainment—the pictures.

The contest, I feel certain, is going to furnish me with a simple, beautiful theme for a picture that will be as great in all respects as the outstanding success of my career so far—"The Ten Commandments."

SUSPECT IN KIRBY CASE HELD HERE

James Donovan, sought by Federal authorities on a jury-tampering charge since the conviction in Cleveland of Josiah Kirby, former president of the defunct Cleveland Discount Company and at one time a resident of Beverly Hills, was arrested yesterday at Southgate Gardens by Department of Justice agents.

The suspect is charged specifically with attempting to bribe a juror at the trial of Kirby. He was arraigned before United States Commissioner Head shortly after his arrest and waived examination. It is expected that he will be taken back to Cleveland shortly to face trial on the charge there.

Kirby operated on a large scale and became one of the remarkable figures in finance. Starting in Cleveland shortly after the outbreak of the World War, he built up in a few years a gigantic business housed in a skyscraper erected by himself. He started a branch of the company here about three years ago, but ran afoul of the State Corporation Commissioner and ceased to function here.

He was convicted in Cleveland of using the mails to defraud.

FILM BALL ARRANGED

Cinematographers to Hold Annual Dance on 20th Inst.

The American Society of Cinematographers will give its fifth annual ball and entertainment at the Biltmore, the 20th inst. A host of motion-picture and society celebrities are expected for the function.

Arthur Edeson, chairman of the entertainment committee, is in charge of the arrangements. A number of surprise features are promised by him. Reservations for boxes are coming in rapidly, he said, from leaders of the film colony. Proceeds of the affair will go into the funds of the society to carry on its work of experimenting and development of the technical side of the film industry.

RULES FOR "IDEA" CONTEST

Prizes aggregating $2100 are offered by Cecil B. De Mille, picture producer, for the letters which best present ideas considered as available for big photoplays. The first prize is $1000.

Mr. De Mille, it will be remembered, sponsored the De Mille-Times Idea Contest of 1922, from which came the idea of "The Ten Commandments."

Read the rules—and write a letter worth $1000. Here are the rulings governing the Los Angeles Times-De Mille Photoplay Letter Contest:

(1.) Cecil B. De Mille Picture Corporation will award a prize of $1000 to the person sending in not over TWO HUNDRED (200) words the letter which best presents a theme considered as most suitable for a big motion picture.

(2.) The corporation will award a second prize of $300; third prize of $200; fourth prize of $100 and ten prizes of $50 each.

(3.) Finished stories, plays or synopses of stories or plays will not be accepted. No entry of over two hundred words will be read.

(4.) Contest opens Sunday, January 31, 1926. Closes midnight Saturday, Feruary 27, 1926. No letters opened postmarked after that date.

(5.) In the event of a tie for any prize the full amount of each prize so tied for will be awarded to each tieing contestant.

(6) Address all letters to the DE MILLE CONTEST EDITOR, Los Angeles Times, Los Angeles, Cal., who will act as agent for the writers in receiving the letters and submitting them to the Cecil De Mille Pictures Corporation. Outlines otherwise addressed will be returned unopened and unread.

(7.) Cecil De Mille, acting for the Cecil De Mille Pictures Corporation, will be the sole judge of the merits of the letters.

(8.) A committee of five, three appointed by The Times, two by the De Mille Corporation, will act in an advisory capacity to the management of the contest.

(9.) No suggestions made in the De Mille Idea Contest, October 7 to October 31, 1922, sponsored by the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, will be considered in the contest unless resubmitted as in Rule One. The prize-winning ideas of the contest of October 7 to October 31, 1922, will be ineligible.

(10.) There is no limit to the number of letetrs any individual may submit.

(11.) All are eligible except employees of the Cecil B. De Mille Pictures Corporation, the Los Angeles Times and the Producers' Distributing Corporation, or any members of their immediate families.

(12.) Because of the great volume of manuscripts none will be returned.

(13.) The Cecil De Mille Pictures Corporation shall be vested with all rights to each manuscript which is awarded a prize, and shall have the right at any time to use any manuscript and the contents thereof to which a prize is not awarded and in the event of so doing shall pay to the author for any manuscript actually used the value thereof, but not in excess of Fifty ($50) dollars.

(14.) Anyone sending in a letter as previously provided agrees to the foregoing rules by so doing.

CAFE NOTES

The Montmartre Cafe in Hollywood will celebrate "That Royle Girl" night this evening in honor of D. W. Griffith's film of the same name now being shown in the Rialto Theater.

Laura La Plante of Universal pictures will be the guest of honor and will award the Gables Club cup to the winners of the dancing contest. The winners of the grand prize in the finals will receive as a prize a life membership in the Gables Club.

Through special arrangements with the Rialto Theater, Eddie Brandstatter, owner of the Montmartre, has procured Luella Lee, the skilled dancer from the prologue in the Rialto for a series of exhibitions in dancing.

In addition, Prof Moore, leader of the Montmartre orchestra, who also acts as master of ceremonies, will present an impromptu program of vaudeville entertainment in which a number of film celebrities will participate.

Indications are that the film colony will be well represented with celebrities on the night of the 12th inst. In Miller's Cafe Lafayette, when the first anniversary of the establishment of the restaurant is to be celebrated with special festivities.

Miss June Pursell, star of Radioland, is arranging a special repertoire of jazz ballads to be featured on the occasion, including selections from her microphone engagements and new numbers not before presented.

Screenland favorites who have made reservations for the evening will be invited by Harry M. Miller, the proprietor, to give impromptu numbers of the program. Harry Owens, composer-conductor, is rehearsing with his orchestra a program of dance novelties with solo numbers arranged specially for the jubilation.

The regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Santa Ana Lions' Club is scheduled to be held tomorrow in the St. Ann's Inn in Santa Ana, with a snappy program and the usual excellent attendance promised.

R. L. Bisby, manager of the inn, reports that the Santa Ana Farm Bureau recently held a luncheon meeting in the dining-room of the inn, at which several matters of importance were discussed.

Chilean Seaman Injured in Fight With Policeman

S. Sisima, a Chilean seaman, is in the hospital at the new Hall of Justice and Jose Roja, a Peruvian fireman, is held at the San Pedro Jail as a result, according to police, of their attempt to raid a clothing store yesterday at 532 Pacific avenue.

The two men, according to San Pedro police, were surprized by a squad of officers in the act of ransacking the store. In response to their command to surrender, Roja gave himself up. Sisima, however, the officers said, crept behind a couch and informed the officers he would shoot to kill if they approached.

Patrolman Jackson fired at him, the bullet ricocheting from a wall and lodging in the suspect's eye. He will probably lose the sight of the eye as a result. He crept out after being wounded and surrendered.

COUNCIL URGES THAT RIVER POOL BE DRAINED

The Council discussed yesterday the removal of the dangerous pool in the Los Angeles River bed where on Sunday three boys were drowned. The Council had before it the plea of Grace W. Turner, principal of the Avenue Twenty-one school, who said the pool, which is about thirty feet deep, had been the scene of other accidents. The letter was referred to the Board of Public Works with the recommendation that the pool be drained. The accident occurred on property belonging to a private corporation, Councilman Allan said.

TO AID ONLY NEEDY ONES

Pasadena to Pay Victims of Street-Stand Crash

City Attorney Gives Official Opinion

City Can Help Only Those Who Are Destitute

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Feb. 9.—Only those persons injured in the New Year's Day street-stand accident who are in immediate financial need can receive aid from the city's $100,000 bond issue, in the opinion of City Attorney James H. Howard, who addressed the Board of City Directors on the subject today, after the committee in charge of the funds had made a report of proposed procedure to the Directors.

The committee, headed by George E. Emmons, proposes to divide the injured into three classes: First, those who are absolutely destitute; second, those forced to draw heavily on meager savings during the period of their incapacity, and third, those in a better financial condition who have been subjected to unusual expense on account of the accident.

The committee proposes to care for all those in the first class immediately and to provide for the others, in ratio to their respective needs, as long as possible. The City Attorney's opinion, however, restricts this program considerably.

He pointed out that the city is acting merely as trustee for the public funds and that the law prohibits the expenditure of money for charitable purposes when the beneficiary can be cared for by members of his immediate family, even though the care may entail considerable hardship. The first class, he said, can be cared for by the city, and certain individuals in the second class, but probably none of the third class outlined by the committee.

MAY COMPROMISE

Pasadena and County May Agree On Dam Question

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Feb. 9.—Hope that this city and the county flood-control district may still agree on a solution of the San Gabriel Canyon dam and water-storage problem were expressed by the Board of City Directors in a communication sent to the County Board of Supervisors today, in which the Directors asked for more time to consider the county's latest proposal.

The majority of the Directors appear to continue in their previously expressed belief that Pasadena will accept the county's proposal to abandon the municipal dam plan and join with the county project if the city can maintain control of its own water.

The vote on today's communication carried by a margin of four to two, Directors A. N. Cole and Easterbrook declaring themselves in favor of immediate acceptance of the county's offer, and Director Newcomer refusing to vote. Directors F. B. Cole, Wadsworth, Loomis and Thomas voted in favor of the request for more time, which will give the county a chance to reply to alternate proposals made by Pasadena in the conference held here last Friday.

BELIEVED TO BE VICTIM OF POISON

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Feb. 9. — Believed to be Isaac Johnson of New Jersey, a youth collapsed on the first floor of the City Hall today and died within an hour after being rushed to Bakersfield Emergency Hospital. Poisoning may have been the cause of his death, it is believed, for when Johnson was found by William Whitaker, caretaker of the City Hall Park, he was moaning and writhing on the floor near a driking faucet he had tried to reach.

J. Allen, janitor in the City Hall, was called and he and Whitaker assisted the sick man to the drinking fountain after he had gasped that he wanted water. Having drunk, Johnson is said to have told the caretaker and janitor that he felt much better.

Police Officer Charles Meyers was sent to the scene by Desk Sergeant William Harris of City Hall police headquarters and assisted in taking the man to the hospital.

BURGLAR CONTINUES TO WORK AT VENTURA

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VENTURA, Feb. 9.—A burglar with a penchant for the theft of women's apparel operated again last night, entering a house occupied by F. J. Karten near the center of the business district, from which he removed several dresses, a small quantity of silk underwear and two beaded bags. The burglary is one of a series which have recently been committed here and in which the same general line of practice has been carried on. Entrance is invariably gained by forcing a window or cutting a screen. Police and deputy sheriffs are baffled by the burglar, who leaves no clew wherever he goes.

MAKE STRONG PROTEST

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Feb. 9.—Strenuous protest against the use of a building in Tournament Park as an isolation hospital for four cases of smallpox in the city was made to the Board of City Directors today in a letter from John H. Poole, vice-president of the Polytechnic elementary school, which adjoins the park.

The communication declared that the hospital constitutes a menace to the health of the school's 300 pupils, and urged that the directors take action to remedy the situation. The letter was filed for future action.

CITIZENS ARE AROUSED

Killing of Policeman Causes San Gabriel Men to Talk Vigilance Committee

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SAN GABRIEL, Feb. 9.—With local police officers aiding deputy sheriffs in a renewed effort to run down the slayers of Elmer H. Griffin, San Gabriel motorcycle officer, there was a movement on foot today on the part of influential citizens to form a vigilance committee to help the police in ridding the community of booze runners and other lawless elements. Feeling was running high as the brutal killing of Griffin and the wounding of Officer Robert D. Bence were discussed on the streets.

The young motorcycle officer was extremely popular here and had made a host of friends during his service for the city. City Marshal A. E. Manser received a threatening telephone message this morning as a result of the activity of the local police in their warfare against bootleggers.

A voice over the phone told Manzer that "we'll get you if your officers don't lay off the booze runners."

An effort to trace the call has so far been fruitless, but the marshall and his men are more determined than ever to capture the four fugitives.

Telephone calls of another kind are pouring into the police station hourly, Manzer said today. They are from citizens offering to do whatever they can to assist in the search. Business men have offered to devote their entire time to the manhunt if necessary. The quartet taken prisoners by Griffin and Bence Sunday night and who opened fire on the officers while being taken to the station are not believed to be San Gabriel men though they are thought to have been well acquainted in the section.

Police are working on the theory that the booze car came from Los Angeles and was being used to distribute whisky to bootleggers in San Gabriel or vicinity. The theory was advanced today that the shot that killed Griffin was fired by the American, who sat in the rear seat of the car, and who is believed to have been the leader of the gang. The other three were Mexicans.

The authorities are inclined to believe that he preferred to shoot his way to liberty after the arrest, not oecause he feared conviction on the booze charge, but because he was wanted elsewhere for some more serious offense.

CONDUCTOR WINS CASE IN COURT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA ANA, Feb. 9.—Joel Ogle, Pacific Electric conductor, on a run between Santa Ana and Los Angeles, went into court to contest his wife's divorce suit, acted as his own lawyer, and won his case, getting a divorce decree himself. Superior Judge R. Y. Williams granted the divorce to Ogle, following the latter's dramatic story on the witness stand, where he told the entire story of his married life with Helen Ogle, youthful plaintiff in the case.

Ogle broke down in tears before he finished his story, which dealt with his marital disappointments, when he found, he said, that his girl wife had married him to spite a physician with whom she was in love, that she did not care for her husband and spurned his caresses, refusing to live with him for several months after their marriage.

She would not cook his meals, he told the court. "Only once in a great while would she prepare a meal for me," Ogle said.

"They were wonderful meals. She was a wonderful cook, Judge. But, oh, how few were those meals." Ogle conducted his case with exceptionable ability, despite his unfamiliarity with court procedure and rules, court officials said. He examined his own witnesses, cross-examined those summoned by his wife's attorney, and made objections to testimony that he thought should not be admitted. Few rulings of the court went against him.

COMPLETE REVISION OF BUILDING CODE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Feb. 9. — Shackles that, according to the City Council, prevented the exercise of personal taste in local building construction, are to be torn loose in a complete revision of the city building ordinance. Following a heated discussion of the existing faults of the building laws at a meeting of the City Council last night, Councilman Elmer Martin moved that the building ordinance be repealed.

City Manager James Ogden, however, received the support of the board in recommending that the ordinance be revised instead of being totally repealed. As a result City Building Inspector R. A. Hubbard, City Attorney E. F. Brittan and the City Manager were informally ordered by the board to immediately start the work of eliminating obsolete sections of the code and simplifying the laws.

COMMUNITY PLAYERS TO PRESENT COMEDY

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

WHITTIER, Feb. 9.—The Whittier Community Players are to present Booth Tarkington's "Tweedles" at the Scenic Theater here Thursday evening.

Miss Elberta Pease, who is to take the role of "Mrs. Ricketts," is a prime favorite with Whittier audiences and Bernard Donaghu, who will appear as Adam Tweedles, is happily remembered from his high school days, when he showed marked histrionic ability.

Others in the cast are Mrs. Ralph Groves, Camiola Wolfe, Sara Jane Laughlin and the Messrs. Richard Myers, Floyd Hibbs, Ralph Chase and Harold Southwick. Mrs. Clyde F. Baldwin is coaching the cast.

HE PLACED GARTERS ON WRONG LEGS—DIVORCE

That a husband is also cruel who puts garters on other women's legs in the presence of his wife, Judge Summerfield of the Superior Court held yesterday in awarding a divorce to Mrs. Alice Baugham from Charles Baughan. The garter charge was virtually the only one made by Mrs. Baughan but the court found it sufficient to merit a divorce. In passing, Mrs. Baughan explained that the other woman's limbs were rather well shaped and that her husband held they were shapelier than those supporting her.

CHAMBER OFFICIAL IN KINGS COUNTY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HANFORD, Feb. 9.—Los Angeles needs many things from the San Joaquin Valley for its bread basket, for which it is willing to pay, and in return would like to have the valley look to that city to fill its requirements, stated Frank S. Coats, domestic trade commissioner of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, before the directorate of the Kings county Chamber of Commerce here last night.

Los Angeles and Southern California, which holds 58 per cent of the people of the three extreme Western States, is the valley's best market and much of mutual good can be attained through better understanding and co-operation, said Coats.

A former Fresnan and well known in Hanford, he spent yesterday here, stating his visit was merely to bring about a better understanding between the two communities to work out ideas which would be mutually beneficial.

RETURN INDICTMENT IN SHOOTING CASE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 9.—A county grand jury indictment charging Mrs. Tessie Peno with murder of Mrs. Francis L. Cole at National City January 28 was returned at noon today, rendering useless the habeas corpus proceedings brought by the defense on the ground of insufficiency of testimony in the justice court preliminary hearing to prove homicide.

Argument on the application for a writ of habeas corpus had been set for tomorrow morning in criminal court, but instead of waiting on the chance that the writ might be granted and another preliminary hearing required, the District Attorney's office asked the grand jury for an indictment which supplants the preliminary and is directly returnable in Superior Criminal Court.

SUGGESTS SAFETY LAW

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VENTURA, Feb. 9.—A suggestion that the city adopt an ordinance requiring all automobiles to come to a full stop before crossing a railroad track was made to the City Board of Trustees by W. H. Gaylord, division superintendent of the Southern Pacific Railroad. Gaylord was in Ventura in response to a request from the city, which has been the scene of several fatal and near fatal accidents recently, to confer upon means of safeguarding the motoring public.

STATE TO PROSECUTE

Federal Government Gives Up Claim to Prisoner Held in Long Beach

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Feb. 9.—Dreams of a life of comparative ease in Leavenworth prison were shattered for Phil "Red" Ryan, asserted safe blower, air-mail robber and burglar here today, and the middle-aged gunman instead faced the probability of spending his declining years in Folsom prison, the dread of which has caused him to make two attempts on his own life since his capture in a gun battle here last week.

Although definitely connected by Postal Inspector Christensen and other Federal officers with the robbery of a truck load of air mail in San Francisco on August 8, last, in which Ryan and his gang are said to have secured several thousand dollars in loot, the government will not prosecute Ryan on the mail robbery charge, Inspector Christensen advised local police and deputy sheriffs today.

As a result Deputy Sheriff Heller this afternoon served a warrant on Ryan charging him with robbery in connection with the raid on the Lynwood bank several months ago. Ryan is also being held by Long Beach police on charges of assault with intent to commit murder and first-degree burglary, growing out of his attempt on the night of February 2 to kill Patrolman Claude Reusch, who effected his capture in a running gun battle in the harbor district.

CAME TO STATE IN EARLY DAY

Passing of Visalia Pioneer Recalls Days of Covered-Wagon Trains

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VISALIA, Feb. 9.—Tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock funeral services will be conducted from the family home for Samuel Leroy Burns, 91 years of age, covered-wagon pioneer and resident of Tulare county for the past sixty-six years, who died yesterday at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Burdg, south of here. Interment will be in Exeter Cemetery. A native of Tennessee, the deceased moved to Arkansas with his parents as a small boy. He was a member of the historic emigrant train which started for California in the spring of '57. The band parted at Salt Lake City, Utah, and part of them were massacred at Mountain Meadow.

During the early days of his life in California Mr. Burns was engaged in mining and came to Tulare county in 1860. He was a member of the party who found Mr. and Mrs. Halliday, who had been scalped by Indians near the old town of Fullerton, Fresno county, in 1861 he planted some of the first fruit trees in Tulare county, these having been brought by wagon from San Jose. Later he engaged in sheep raising.

He is survived by his widow and eight children: Mrs. Mary Tabler, Booneville, Cal.; Mrs. Mabel Campbell, Calexico; Mrs. Lucy Service, Albuquerque, N. M.; Samuel J. Burns, Visalia; J. E. Burns, Exeter; Mrs. F. A. Burdg, Visalia; F. W. Burns, Holtwell; Mrs. Ida Sherman, Lindsay, a stepdaughter; D. W. Hildebrandt, Farmersville, a stepson.

URGE PARK SITE

Organizations Ask County to Buy Land for Fair Grounds

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA ANA, Feb. 9.—Purchase of a tract of land near the County Hospital for use as a fair grounds and general recreational center the year 'round, was urged upon the County Supervisors today by a committee representing the Association of Chambers of Commerce Secretaries. The board took their request under advisement.

The secretaries, as they announced, were acting upon a resolution adopted by the Associated Chambers of Commerce at its last meeting. The resolution favored such purchase. It was supplemented by further argument on the part of the committee today.

Secretary V. D. Johnson of Orange, Secretary J. A. Armitage of Huntington Beach, and Secretary Pickering of Placentia, called attention to the advantage of such a feature.

"I would not suggest the purchase of an expensive tract merely for a county fair grounds, that would be locked up the rest of the year," said Johnson.

"But the purchase of a site for an all-year recreation center would be justified." Armitage said the county must, after looking backward over the history of its rapid growth in population, look forward to the steadily increasing population of the future and realize that the county must have a "breathing space" here and there for its people.

WOMAN RESCUES SICK HUSBAND

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FULLERTON, Feb. 9.—So dense was the fog at Buena Park, near here, last night that neighbors of the H. B. Crockett family knew nothing about the fire which destroyed the Crockett home at 1 o'clock this morning, until after 11 o'clock today.

Awakened by the crackling flames, Mrs. Crockett found that escape through the door was cut off and aided her sick husband and 3-year-old son, also ill, to climb out a window. They were forced to stand by and watch their home consumed by flames. The family took refuge in the home of a neighbor, J. Donahue, some distance away.

NOACK WILL DIRECT POSTPONED CONCERT

The second of the series of "dime" symphonies will be given in the Coliseum at 2 p.m. Sunday by the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra, under the direction of Sylvain Noack. The concert was scheduled for January 31, postponement being caused by rain. Sunday's concert will mark the first appearance of Noack, the assistant conductor and concert-master of the orchestra, before a Coliseum audience in the role of conductor. The program will include selections from the Tschaikowsky "Pathetique," the William Tell Overture by Rossini, and pieces by Wagner, Moussorgsky, Nicode and Greig.

TO ENLARGE POSTOFFICE

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Feb. 9.—Progress and growth in Pasadena have made necessary the expansion of the local postoffice, and to this end a representative of the government supervising architect at Washington and a postoffice inspector will arrive in the city within the next few days to lay plans for enlargement of local facilities, Postmaster William F. Knight said today.

HEADS COMMISSION

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

GLENDALE, Feb. 9.—Percy J. Hayselden, who has been acting as secretary of the Glendale Planning Commission, was elected to the presidency of the organization last night, taking the place left vacant by the resignation of Thomas W. Watson. C. B. Boynton, another member of the commission, was elected secretary to succeed Mr. Hayselden.

LANDOWNERS ORGANIZE

Protective Association to Aid Court Battle to Save Water for Delta Farms

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VISALIA, Feb. 9.—The Kaweah Delta Underground Water Protective Association has been organized to secure more complete protection for delta lands of the Kaweah River, comprising some 600,000 acres and stretching far into Kings county.

Just now chief danger seems threatening from the Lindsay-Strathmore Irrigation District. Support of every landowner who depends upon pump water for his irrigation or is otherwise interested in underground water, which it is charged, is being lowered each year by operations of pumps of the Lindsay-Strathmore district, is sought.

Expenses, borne in the past by owners of the ditch stock and riparian landowners in their ten-year litigation with the Lindsay-Strathmore district in California's most famous water suit, are expected to be shared by the new organization.

Plans for the new organization would include its working in harmony with the ditch interests, and perhaps include everyone interested in any way in the underground water. Statements regarding definite programs for furthering the new organization are expected to be made soon.

D. T. Frymire of Tulare has been named chairman, and H. H. Holley of Visalia secretary. This movement has been subject of much interest in the valley.

UNIVERSITY PRESIDENT HAS MUMPS

Head of College at Redlands is Making a Satisfactory Recovery

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

REDLANDS, Feb. 9. — Victor Leroy Duke, president of the University of Redlands, who has been confined to his bed for some time with a case of swelling of the parotid glands, is recovering and will be out this week. The disease is not as serious as it sounds for President Duke admits that when he was a boy he dodged the mumps, but that they caught up with him finally. President Duke announced today through the medium of a communique from the sickroom that the trustees of the university have granted a year's leave of absence to Professors C. H. Marsh and H. C. Tilton.

The board also has authorized the employment of two new professors for the coming academic year. These two will be in the religious education and romance language departments. At present the authorities are confronted with the problem of providing adequate classroom space. By utilizing several small rooms that are now in existence for other purposes it is thought that the problem can be partially solved for next year at least.

The board also voted the sum of $2500 to be used in opening a road into the property owned by the university in Mill Creek Canyon. This road will not be paved but will be merely a wagon road.

OBJECTS TO PRICE

County Official Questions Value of Land

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Feb. 9.—Disregarding the protest of Supervisor J. O. Hart, the Supervisors have agreed to pay $10,000 to the Pacific Oil Company for five acres of land at Taft for a county yard for the fourth road district, the oil company reserving all petroleum rights in the land.

"Ten thousand dollars for five acres of ground seems like a mighty big price to me," objected Supervisor Hart in refusing to vote to sanction the purchase.

The member from the fourth district defended the purchase price by saying: "You should take into consideration that the Pacific Oil Company is one of the biggest taxpayers in the district and would pay a large part of the tax."

Supervisor Hart, however, refused to accept the explanation as being a valid one, and maintained his objection to the purchase on the ground that the price is excessive.

FOSTER MOVEMENT TO AID COUNTY FAIR

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Feb. 9.—Beyond the adoption of a resolution intended to disclose further the attitude of various county organizations toward making a county fair grounds self-supporting, should the Board of Supervisors purchase the North Chester site for $100,000, no further official action was taken today by the county solons in this matter.

Directors of the fair association submitted in a written document a proposal to sell the fair grounds to the county for $100,000, the purchase price to discharge all obligations against the grounds.

Bids for the booster pump and a motor to pump the water up to the reservoir were received from five Los Angeles concerns, but no award of contract has as yet been made.

BURGLARY CHARGES DISMISSED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN BERNARDINO, Feb. 9.—With the second and final charge of burglary against her dismissed today, Mrs. Ruth Howe, the flapper wife, who recently gained fame as "Colton's alleged woman Raffles," was free this afternoon to remain at home with her two children.

The second charge of burglary was heard this morning before Judge McCrary, sitting for Judge Uren in Colton, who dismissed the charges against Mrs. Howe and her asserted accomplice, Dewitt Richardson, on motion of Dep. Dist.-Atty. A. S. Maloney.

Contending that the prosecution had no case because it was necessary to strike the testimony of the prosecution's star witness, Mrs. Violet Becker, from the court records when she did not appear in court and could not be found, Judge McCrary dismissed the charges.

At the first day of the preliminary hearing, Mrs. Becker was present and testified for the prosecution. Today when she was wanted for the defense for cross-examination, she could not be found.

After April 1 the plant will be converted into a community warehouse for members of the Weeks colony and will be used as a co-operative feed house, egg-packing plant and a place for community meetings of members. The purchase of the plant is the result of a decision made not long ago by the Weeks colony members to do all their buying and selling and other business operations on a co-operative basis. All chicken feed from the community plant will be sold to members on the basis of carload prices.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OXNARD, Feb. 9.—The eighth annual walnut institute, under the auspices of the Southern Counties Farm Bureau and the Agricultural Extension Service, will be held in Santa Paula this year, on the 20th inst. Walnut growers from all sections of the Southland are expected to attend. John P. Thille, prominent Ventura county grower, and County Farm Adviser Vincent F. Dr. L. D. Batchelor, leading walnut authority on the Coast, and a member of the citrus experiment station staff at Riverside, will be the main speaker at the affair. Several other notables expert in agriculture and horticulture have been booked to participate in the institute.

VAN NUYS TO ERECT LETTER-BOX SYSTEM

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

VAN NUYS, Feb. 9.—Concrete letter-box posts have arrived at the Van Nuys Postoffice and will be erected throughout Van Nuys town site. Bids for the placing of the twelve posts are now being received by Postmaster Gibson. Last October Van Nuys was granted free city mail delivery service. There has been no collection of mail by the carriers because of the absence of letter boxes. These will be affixed as soon as the posts are put up. The new boxes will be at various corners in the downtown and residential districts of the town.

CONSTABLE TRANSFERRED

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

TUJUNGA, Feb. 9.—Walter N. Perry, who has been a deputy constable at Tujunga for two years, has been transferred to the Crescenta and Canada valleys, and hereafter will cover the section from Highway Highlands to Flintridge, with headquarters at Montrose. His telephone number is Crescenta 16. Perry was transferred following urgent requests for a peace officer for this new district.

FIGHTS EXTRADITION ON WIFE'S CHARGES

ARKANSAS MAN IN LEGAL BATTLE IN ORANGE COUNTY COURT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA ANA, Feb. 9.—Arrested in Santa Ana on a "fugitive" warrant from Hot Springs, Ark., where he is wanted on a charge of assault with intent to murder his wife, Homer Floyd McGowan today fought the attempt of Arkansas authorities to extradite him.

Through his attorney, O. A. Jacobs, McGowan petitioned Superior Judge E. J. Marks for a writ of habeas corpus. The hearing, set for today, was continued when Judge Marks was advised that a Hot Springs officer was on his way here from Sacramento with extradition papers.

McGowan, who says his wife trumped up the charge against him in order to get possession of their young son spirited away by the father, intends to exhaust every means to avoid extradition his attorney says. If the fight is lost in the local courts an appeal will be taken, Jacobs said.

Jacobs argued to Judge Marks today that the proceedings by which McGowan, who was arrested here the 3rd inst., had been held beyond the legal limit of six days without proper papers were irregular. Judge Marks stated, however, that inasmuch as an officer was expected from the East with extradition papers, he did not intend to be too technical and would hold McGowan until the officer's arrival. Jacobs then indicated that he would attack the legality of the extradition papers and the court agreed that he would be given the opportunity to prove them insufficient.

GAMBLING GAME IS PROFITABLE TO COURT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ONTARIO, Feb. 9.—Six of the thirteen men arrested in a raid on the ranch home of J. M. "Arkansas" Holmes, State street and Archibald avenue, by Deputy Sheriffs J. A. Larson and J. D. Orendorf entered pleas of guilty to charges of gambling when they appeared today before Judge W. C. Belden and each was assessed a fine of $30. Holmes, who is charged with conducting a place where gambling was carried on has not yet entered a plea, but is to appear in court Thursday.

Those fined today were W. E. King, Thomas Clubb, John Williams, Tom Webster, Tom Stone and E. Bidwell. When the ranch house was raided a poker game was in progress and $44 in cash on the table was seized by the officers. The remaining six participants in the game will appear later.

BOY SCOUTS HOLD MASS MEETING

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OXNARD, Feb. 9.—In observance of the sixteenth anniversary of the organization of Scouting in America, Boy Scouts of the Oxnard district participated in a mass meeting tonight, when a special anniversary program was presented. District Chairman Irwin Low, Scout Commissioner J. L. Howland and many scoutmasters and troop committeemen were present and addressed the meeting.

The Boy Scout movement has grown rapidly in Oxnard and throughout Ventura county during the past year. There are now on record 417 Boy Scouts, fifteen scoutmasters, eleven assistants and eighty troop committeemen, representing twenty-three troops in all the communities of the county.

BRIDEGROOM GIVEN TERM FOR PERJURY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA ANA, Feb. 9.—Alfredo Garcia of San Bernardino, who pleaded guilty to perjury in connection with his recent marriage to a San Bernardino girl in Santa Ana, was today sentenced by Superior Judge R. Y. Williams to a term at San Quentin.

Sentence was suspended, however, for a period of two years during which time Garcia will be committed to the Preston School of Industry at Ione. Garcia is now 20 years of age and must remain at Ione until he is 22, the court decided. The Mexican youth swore falsely to the age of his bride when securing a marriage license.

Mrs. Price Post (Emily Post), herself a woman of high social standing, is known everywhere as the author of "Etiquette" (the Blue Book of social usage). She is also a novelist of distinction.

EMILY POST

In her book "Etiquette," which is the unquestioned authority on correct table appointments and usages, Mrs. Post says:

"A water glass standing alone at each place makes a meager and untrimmed looking table." As a beverage Mrs. Post suggests ginger ale—either alone or combined with other beverages or fruit juices.

When asked which ginger ale she considered best, Mrs. Post unhesitatingly said Clicquot Club Pale Dry. She said:

"I think Clicquot Club Pale Dry is much the nicest ginger ale I have ever tasted. It is attractive in color, tempting, sparkling, and delicious in flavor. In fact, it seems to complete the hospitable effect of a perfectly appointed table."

DRINK WATER TO HELP WASH OUT KIDNEY POISON

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Begin Taking Salts

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.—[Advertisement.

She Laughed! Thought It Was a Joke

Brooklyn. Mrs. K. Kummer writes:—"Please take notice that I can write again. I have been troubled with what I thought Rheumatism. I laughed when someone suggested that I try Carter's Little Liver Pills, for I never thought that my trouble was constipation. About three months later I found out that I am a new person. I am thankful to you for the help your pills have done for me and my friends."

Carter's Little Liver Pills remove the constipation poison from the system. Not habit forming. Druggists, 25 and 75c red packages.—[Advertisement.

COLDS

"Pape's Cold Compound" Breaks a Cold Right Up

Take two tablets every three hours until three doses are taken. The first dose always gives relief. The second and third doses completely break up the cold. Pleasant and safe to take. Contains no quinine or opiates. Millions use "Pape's Cold Compound." Price, thirty-five cents. Druggists guarantee it.—[Advertisement.

How to stop

BOILS!

There's only one way to stop boils. Stop the cause of boils! That's common sense—isn't it? All right. Boils thrive because the blood gets so weak in healthy, red cells that it can't throw off the impurities that get into the body. There's not enough rich, red blood to purify the system.

Now—S. S. S. builds back the blood to fighting strength. S. S. S. builds red-blood-cells—builds them by the millions! Boils dry up!

S. S. S. is the thing. Impurities that cause boils and other skin eruptions can't stand up against the rich, healthy, red blood that S. S. S. builds. That's all there is to it.

Stop boils with S. S. S. It's the way. Get it at any druggist. The larger bottle is more economical.

Takes the Agony Out of Your Back

When neuritis settles in the small of the back it often causes untold misery. The terrible stiffness and soreness make it difficult for the sufferer to sit down or stand up, if he is not actually confined to bed. At best, he is unfit for work, has no appetite and sleeps poorly. His whole being is shrouded in gloom and he feels that life is utterly hopeless.

Many persons in this condition have obtained lasting relief by applying Tysmol to the sore, aching back, night and morning. Tysmol is a soothing, healing preparation that is absorbed through the pores, helping to drive out pain and inflammation and restore proper circulation in the congested region.

Tysmol contains no dope—no dangerous drugs of any kind. Use it for neuritis pains in any part of the body. Price $1 at The Owl Drug Co., or any other good drug store. Mail orders accepted. Tysmol Company, Mfg. Chemists, 400 Sutter St., San Francisco.—[Advertisement.

LAWYERS HAIL ORATORY IDEAL

"Will Bulwark Constitution Against Attack"

Contest Declared to be Most Worth-While Effort

World-wide Plan of Study Commands Interest

Expressing the same sentiments as those of the resolution adopted by the American Bar Association in 1924 in regard to the value of the National Oratorical Contest on the Constitution as an agency for developing defenders of American governmental principles among young people, John G. Mott, president of the Los Angeles Bar Association, declares the love and reverence for the basic law stimulated by this contest will form a bulwark against attacks on its principles.

Mr. Mott's indorsement follows: "I consider the Oratorical Contest on the Constitution of the United States as an inspirational work and a high form of patriotic activity in that it has already aided and assisted millions of our citizenship, in some instances in becoming first acquainted, then learning to know and to appreciate how this wonderful guardian of our liberties has so well ministered to the well-being of our people.

JOHN G. MOTT

"To instill in the youthful mind a love and reverence of this remarkable institution bulwarks our future citizenship against the inroads of those who would tear down or modify or change it. To carry on this work to other countries and other nations not only confirms the great good that this splendid work is doing, but carries on to other peoples the lessons and great good that will flow from a study and a knowledge of the fundamental principles of freedom and justice and equality in their relations to human rights."

CONSTANT VIGILANCE

Robert M. Clarke, former president of the Los Angeles Bar Association, writes:

"The bench and bar of California are very much interested in oratorical or other contests dealing with the Constitution of the United States. The history of the Constitution, of the great men who wrote and interpreted it, should be constantly brought to the attention of both young and old, to the end that we all may be better Americans and better able to discharge every duty of American citizens."

ROBERT CLARKE

NO GREATER WORK

Says Gurney E. Newlin, member of the executive committee of the American Bar Association:

"There is in my opinion no greater work now being done to assure that our institutions, liberties and form of government shall be safeguarded and rendered permanent than the annual National Oratorical Contest on the Constitution of the United States, sponsored by certain newspapers in the country.

GURNEY NEWLIN

"In connection with the work of the American Bar Association, it has been my privilege and pleasure to be familiar with the results of the previous contests, and the tremendous number of people whose attention was, through these contests, forcibly brought to our Constitution and the principles of our government. So long as the people know and appreciate the history of our Constitution, its meaning, what it attempts to give, and the principles of government which it sets forth, there is no danger of any successful encroachment on our government. This knowledge and appreciation is being given in a more definite, forceful and permanent way through these contests than could be given in any other way."

NOBLEST EMOTION

Superior Judge Crail:

SUPERIOR JUDGE CRAIL

"Patriotism is best taught by a father as he takes his child upon his knees—that is the way my father taught it to his twin boys, one on each knee. In this regard Harry Chandler has become the father of tens of thousands of our boys and girls through the Constitutional Contest. He is teaching them to love our country and its Constitution. In this field of endeavor, he is our most useful citizen.

"Our country will live so long as it enjoys the love and affection of its children. Harry Chandler is endowing our Constitution with an immortality of love and devotion.

"I am intensely interested in The Times' Constitutional Contest. I am encouraging my 16-year-old boy to enter it. I would be extremely proud and extremely happy if he should win. But whether he wins or not, the contest will do him and me and each member of the family a world of good.

"I advise every father and mother to get his boy or girl interested in this contest.

"My experience and observation in the courts is such that I say with assurance that if a boy really loves our country and its Constitution, he will make a future citizen of whom his parents will be forever proud. He will cause them no grief or worry."

Superior Judge McLucas:

"I wish to express my unqualified indorsement of the National Oratorical Contest on the Constitution of the United States.

SUPERIOR JUDGE McLUCAS

"This movement will result in a more universal study of our government, and its Constitution than can be engendered in any other manner. It is of the highest importance that every citizen should have a thorough understanding of the fundamental principles on which our government is founded. This work should be supported by every one."

LASTING BENEFIT

Superior Judge Hardy:

"No true American can fail to take pride in what has been achieved since the school and college oratorical contests were first suggested by The Times and set in motion under its fostering.

"In my humble judgment no single thing connected with our social, political or educational development has taken place which is likely to produce so great and lasting benefits to mankind through the blessing of liberty under constitutional and just restraints of democratic government, as this true youth movement inaugurated and fostered by The Times, and which has been carried on all over our America and into Mexico, and is now to be extended to other nations.

"The security of freedom and justice are the great purposes of human government and there can be no surer way of obtaining and maintaining these blessings than through constitutional democratic government. To secure and establish such governments for all peoples is our great aim and hope in America, and so, if our own youth will obtain a true knowledge of these principles and encourage the youth of other lands to do likewise the realization of these ideals becomes possible.

SUPERIOR JUDGE HARDY

"The present plan to extend the oratorical contest on the Constitution to include the public acts and statements of such great patriots as Washington, Marshall, Hamilton, Webster, Madison and Lincoln and to carry the contest to England, France, Germany, Mexico and perhaps other nations, challenges the highest interest and suggests the greatest possibilities for the development of true understandings of the just functions of government and further indicates a real basis for world peace. The plan calls for and receives my warmest interest and fullest support."

HOPE OF THE FUTURE

Superior Judge Stephens:

"Students of Americanization agree that the present adult population are taking our constitutional rights as just natural, forgetting all history and the good old adage 'The price of liberty is eternal vigilance.

SUPERIOR JUDGE STEPHENS

"It is, of course, a human trait to decry the present as compared with the past, but allowing for this, it is a perfectly safe conclusion that 99 per cent of us have gone on about our business for the last quarter century believing the Constitution of the United States to be an eternal thing, fixed and self-operating. The other 1 per cent of us have divided perhaps about equally between constitutional students and constitutional destructionists. The destructionists have been gaining through the general ignorance and self-complacency.

"Federal Judge Wade of Iowa, who has made a life study of the Constitution and the people's knowledge of it, told me not long ago that the only hope of preventing destructive amendments is in the education of the youth.

"Therein lies the inestimable worth of the National Oratorical Contest on the Constitution of the United States.

"Fortunately the Constitution admirably fits and adopts itself to a progressive people. It has been amended, and who can say that future amendments may never be needed?

"When they are proposed, let them be met by a generation appreciative of the history and the fundamentals of this greatest governmental document of all recorded time.

"This contest will prepare thousands to that end."

"We need the money, too," they explained.

As Miss De Feo did not appear to defend the suit, the court allowed Miss Layne's claim for $15 and Miss Miller's for $6.67.

Sheriff Traeger Leaves East With J. K. Fronk

Inspector of Detectives Finlinson, who recently lost a battle with Sheriff Traeger over who should return J. K. Fronk, asserted bank swindler, from Chicago, where Fronk was captured, was sought, but could not be found last night in two cities.

Authorities looked for him in Chicago, where Judge Borelli wanted him to show cause why he should not be held in contempt of court for what the judge thought was an illegal attempt on the part of Finlinson to get possession of Fronk before Traeger, who had been named California State agent by Gov. Richardson, arrived in Chicago.

He also was sought in Los Angeles after Chief of Police Heath declared he had arrived in Los Angeles yesterday, but efforts to locate him failed. At his house his wife declared, after some hesitation, that she did not know where he was. He was not seen at Central Police Station during the day.

Finlinson secretly slipped out of Los Angeles more than a week ago, several days ahead of Traeger, in the attempt to be the first officer to get Fronk. He carried with him $1000 reward posted by Los Angeles banks to be paid to the men who captured Fronk. According to dispatches from Chicago last night, the Chicago police detective bureau yesterday received a telegram from H. B. Reed, Los Angeles banker, addressed to Finlinson, directing the latter to turn over the reward to Anton Cremak, chairman of the Cook County Board of Commissioners.

Other dispatches from Chicago stated that Sheriff Traeger and J. N. Pyles, head of the Pyles National Detective Agency of this city, had taken Fronk from the Bridewell Hospital and left Chicago at 8:30 o'clock last night for Los Angeles. They are scheduled to arrive here Friday.

Pacific Electric to Place Heavier Rail on Stretch

The Pacific Electric will shortly begin replacement with heavier rail of 14.7 miles of inbound track between Valley Junction and Vineland, near El Monte. The work entails an expenditure of $296,000.

General Manager Pontius yesterday stated that ninety-pound rail will replace the seventy-pound previously used on this section, which is a part of the main line to San Bernardino.

Garfield avenue and San Gabriel Boulevard crossings are to be repaved with asphalt macadam and grooved girder rail used at the intersections. All other intersections en route are also to be improved and about 25 per cent of all ties replaced.

ROBBER SUSPECT ON STAND

Teschiona Denies Every Charge Linking Him With $523,000 Mail Truck Robbery

Frank Teschiona took the stand in his own defense in United States Judge James's Court yesterday and point by point denied every charge linking him with the $523,000 mail-truck robbery here last October.

The government made repeated attempts to break down his testimony, but with little success.

However, the prosecution scored an important point during the day when Judge James ruled that Dorothy Lee Teschiona, his wife, who also is on trial on a conspiracy charge growing out of the robbery, might testify against her husband.

Judge James also ruled that Teschiona could testify against his wife. The ruling, Judge James said, is made to enable them to defend themselves, since both are on trial. Either Teschiona or his wife may make disclosures regarding the other, Judge James said.

Under cross-examination, Teschiona admitted that he obtained two shotguns which were later used in the robbery. He said he gave the shotguns to Charles Wagner, who pleaded guilty some time ago and was sentenced to twenty-five years in the penitentiary.

But he declared that he did not know the purpose for which the shotguns were to be used.

He declared that on the night of the robbery he was at Inglewood, where he had gone to take his wife back to Los Angeles. She was employed at that time as a telephone operator in Inglewood, he said.

Teschiona will be cross-examined further today.

LAWYERS CLASH AT HEARING

Charges Hurled During Session on Bank of Italy's Petition for Branch Permit

Charges and counter charges were hurled yesterday at a hearing before State Supreme Court Clerk Taylor, acting as a special commissioner on a petition for a writ of mandate sought by the Bank of Italy to compel State Bank Superintendent Johnson to issue charters for two new branch banks.

During one of the many heated discussions which arose while the hearing was in progress, former Judge William E. Bowen, attorney for one of the banks, hurled the charge that Garret W. McEnerney, attorney for the Bank of Italy, was seeking to learn the trade secrets of the banks involved in the litigation "solely for the benefit of the bank he represented."

Attorney Bowen made the charge when Mr. McEnerney sought to question Charles F. Stern, executive vice-president of the First National Bank and president of the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings Bank, relative to the number of depositors at each of the branches controlled by the banks he represented. Mr. Stern declined to answer the questions on the advice of his attorney.

CONTEMPT THREAT

Stern and four other prominent Los Angeles bankers were again threatened by Mr. McEnerney with being cited for contempt of court for refusing to answer questions pertaining to correspondence with the State Banking Superintendent in regard to applications made for 116 branch banks which were refused by Johnson.

The bankers, besides Mr. Stern, included Marco H. Hellman, chairman of the board of directors of the Hellman Trust and Savings Bank; A. M. Chaffey, president of the California Bank; C. Sumner James, vice-president of the Citizens' Trust and Savings Bank, and J. F. Sartori, president of the Security Trust and Savings Bank.

They refused to answer questions asked by Mr. McEnerney on the ground that the correspondence was confidential and privileged and that its publication might tend to injure business and was against public policy.

While the bankers refused to disclose the number of depositors at each of their respective branch banks they did testify as to the total number.

POLITICS CHARGED

The morning session of the hearing was featured by a clash between Mr. McEnerney and James Oliver, attorney for Johnson which was precipitated when Oliver objected to him referring to a number of local banks as "the big five." Mr. McEnerney retaliated with an accusation that the State Banking Department is playing politics and that politics are influencing the granting of branch-bank charters.

"I'll get into politics myself if necessary," Mr. McEnerney stated.

Walter K. Tuller, attorney for Mr. Sartori, was present at the hearing yesterday and said he was there following reports that Mr. Sartori was to be cited for asserted contempt. He declared Mr. Sartori's refusal to answer the questions was in accordance with the law and that he had no intention of being in contempt.

One of the important witnesses expected to take the stand today when the hearing is resumed is Miss Grace S. Stoermer, manager of the woman's department of the Bank of Italy, who made application for one of the charters for a branch at 523 South Flower street.

Johnson refused to issue the charters sought by the Bank of Italy on the ground that public convenience and necessity do not require it. Inasmuch as the State Supreme Court does not hear formal testimony, Clerk Taylor was appointed as a special commissioner by the court to hear the evidence.
